PREFACE AND EXPLANATIONS.

A FEW words, both apologetic and explanatory, are here premised, inasmuch as this book of genealogies is believed to contain some features peculiar to itself, — at least, in the extent to which they are carried out; while, from previously observing the difficulty which persons of no more than ordinary intelligence have found in tracing the records of books of this kind, so familiar to the genealogist, the author has been convinced that explanations and directions for using cannot well be made too minute or explicit.

The first design of this collection was simply to furnish a register of all the children, both of sons and daughters, of those who, being descended from the three ancestors assumed in the respective "Parts," originally bore their surname, in some one of the various styles of its orthography. This register is now very nearly complete. A few supposable omissions among the earlier generations it is now impossible to supply, — and for the very few among later generations, it is not advisable longer to wait.

Entire uniformity and impartiality have also been observed in the registry of these descendants. The well-approved plan of the "Slafter" and "Spalding Memorials" has been substantially followed. Consecutive numbers are used on the left margins of the pages all through the book, no two individuals ordinarily appearing with the same number, and many being entered twice, or with two numbers, both as members and as heads of families. All descendants, bearing the original patronymic, can therefore be readily traced by observing the following simple directions. For finding any name of a Runnels or Reynolds, consult Index No. 1, where all the Christian names, only, are alphabetically arranged, to which each person may append the surname with whichever mode of spelling he may choose! Where several of the same Christian name are given in the Index, the year of birth, when known, preceding each name, will assist in determining which person of the common Christian name is meant. The number after each name is the consecutive number at which, in the main body of the book, the person is first entered as a child, in all cases except of the original ancestors themselves. When the individual was not married, or being married was not known at the time of reporting to have had children, as also in case the personal record is comparatively short; everything respecting that individual is stated at this only place of entry, as a child. Otherwise a higher, bracketed [——] number, directly after the name, refers to the place farther on in the book, where that same individual is entered as the head of a family, the smaller bracketed number there following the name, referring back again to the first number, as found in the Index. Here, too, after name and bracketed number, the pedigree of the individual is briefly indicated in parenthesis by the use of small exponential figures, the first over the name in question, thus, "Samuel^{5}," showing the generation to which the individual belongs, the next being the father with exponent one less, then the grandfather with exponent one less, etc., back to the first ancestor whose name appears with the exponent ^{1}, thus, Samuel^{1}. All other information, besides the birth of the individual, is given at this point, in larger type, with sketches of history, in some cases, more or less extended, the whole preceding the list of children entered with the first consecutive numbers found in the Index, as before stated. Any line can thus be traced backward by following the smaller bracketed numbers after parents' names, and forward by following the larger bracketed numbers after children's names.

While collecting material for the male lines, as above, it was found that a large amount of valuable genealogical information was being obtained respecting families of other names in the various female lines. The author has thought that by arranging these records in groups under their respective mothers, or ancestresses who first bore the Runnels or Reynolds name, a greater variety and enhanced value would be given to the work, as a whole. Of course it was absolutely impossible to trace out all these side lines, for no single book could contain them. Nor has such fulness or completeness been aimed at, as in the main lines just alluded to. The writer has, therefore, restricted himself to those families with which he was previously acquainted, whose records could be incidentally obtained without delaying or embarrassing the main purpose in view, and whose members have furnished their records, of their own accord, with desires that they be inserted. If any are disposed to complain because these female lines are not better filled and more fully carried out, they must bear in mind that it was impossible to bestow exhaustive pains upon this part of the work without "giving heed to endless genealogies," contrary to the apostle's direction; also, that everything which was furnished, has been scrupulously published; and where much was not given, much cannot reasonably be required.

All descendants of the original ancestors, however, in these female lines, and the names of all persons who intermarried with the various families noticed in the book, are catalogued in Index No. 2. The surnames are alphabetically entered, and under each the Christian names also in alphabetical order, followed by the consecutive number belonging to each name, or that under which it may be found, with the added cardinals 1, 2, 3, etc., as in the book, for children of the third generation from the original Runnels or Reynolds daughter whose line is traced; with added cardinals in parentheses (1), (2), (3), etc., for children of the fourth generation; with added Roman figures I, II, III, etc., for children of the fifth generation, and with added Romans in parentheses (I), (II), (III), etc., in a few instances, for children of the sixth generation. (See these directions more fully illustrated in the "Addenda.")

Many more notices of individuals and other biographical sketches perhaps equally worthy of insertion might have been secured; but the author has confined himself to such as were previously known, or came providentially to hand without special or direct efforts to obtain them. These are inserted chiefly to relieve the monotony of bare genealogical tables. A greater number would have swelled the book to an inordinate size. The sketches are more full in several cases where material previously published, in some form, was found pertaining to the individuals in question; and where, especially, different phases of life, in different periods or localities, could be illustrated; as, for example, of Revolutionary life in [82], [136], [215], and [2208]; of pioneer life in [123], [458], [1924], and [2434]. Here, too, as in respect to the fulness of the female lines, must the principle obtain, that only where much is given can much be required. In every case the substance, at least, of all information sent has been incorporated.

A few epitaphs, anecdotes, and scraps of poetry are introduced, not as a matter of literary pretension, but for variety's sake, and to gratify, in some cases, the desires of those whose buried treasures may thus more vividly be kept in memory.

In accordance with the wise saying ascribed to John Quincy Adams, that "Posterity delights in details," more full and minute citations from old registries of deeds, probate records, and other public documents, are here given, than are customary in most similar works, for the reason that the proof of many genealogical points, established, is thus presented; while all the information which can be gathered respecting one's earlier ancestors is naturally gratifying, and barren facts or dates thus grouped together, though of no general interest except to immediate descendants, frequently suggest far more than can be expressed in words.

No effort has been made to trace our ancestry to the old country, as such attempts are rarely attended with sufficient satisfaction to warrant the requisite outlay of time and money. Our family history in America is all we need, while the "Roll of Honor" is a silent but eloquent reminder of what sacrifices our fathers and their sons have made in the several national struggles.

A few minor explanations are here appended. If two different dates were found, — as of births on town conflicting with private records, — or if a similar uncertainty existed as to names, etc., the more probable is given first, and the other directly after, in parenthesis. Sometimes, however, a word in parenthesis is only explanatory of what precedes, and such cases are to be determined by the sense alone.

In the female lines, the children of Runnels or Reynolds daughters (as well as sons), though marrying into other families, and thus changing the name, are yet entered with consecutive numbers; but the surname is designed invariably to follow the oldest child of the given family, in parenthesis, and likewise to be supplied with all the other children (consecutive numbers) of that family, unless repeated. Other family names, introduced by marriage, also appear in parentheses after each oldest child of that name in the next generation; and on returning to the previous generation, the previous surname is usually repeated, in parenthesis, after the Christian name of the next child. Several deviations from this rule will indeed be observed, through an oversight in preparing copy, the most important of which will be corrected, in "Errata," at the close of the volume.

All Christian names, appearing in the direct line of descent from common ancestors, are printed in small capitals, except by mistake in a few instances; they were also designed to be given in full, though we still have only the initials of middle names from some families.

The term "unmarried" is never, or rarely, employed. The fact may be inferred, if nowhere stated to the contrary, except in those families of which the records are evidently not filled, and mere names are given. Where one place of settlement or residence is stated in immediate connection with the head of a family, it may be left as a matter of inference that the children were all born in that place, unless otherwise stated. On the other hand, places of parents' residence are sometimes to be inferred from the given places of children's births.

Consecutive numbers are always referred to in brackets.

The usual abbreviations for the names of States are employed, and usually but once each after each family name, when the place of residence is first given. Every town afterwards mentioned is supposed to be in the same State, if without special designation.

Other abbreviations are those in common use, as "b." for "born," "m." for "married," "d." for "died," etc.

A mark of interrogation (?) after a name or date implies uncertainty.

Previously to 1752, the year, in England, commenced on the 25th of March; hence, for many years afterwards, writers and transcribers of dates occurring between Jan. 1 and March 25, were accustomed to signify both years, thus: "Mar. 5, 1744–5," i. e. "1744" according to the "Old Style" of reckoning, "1745" according to the "New Style."

The estates and moneyed transactions of our fathers were often much larger than they seem to us, judging from the figures; the value of money in former times — except during the Revolutionary war — being much greater than at present.

A blank "Family Record" is inserted at the end of each book, thus enabling different families to supply deficiencies in their records, or continue them in future years.

Some patrons of this work, especially among the female lines, may be liable to a lack of general interest and a feeling of disappointment in the same, because their personal acquaintance is confined to a very limited circle of the numerous families and individuals here recorded. But such must bear in mind that the book could never have been printed except by thus collecting the greatest possible number of families, all of whom could claim a direct connection with some common ancestor. They must also content themselves with the charitable conclusion that all other parts of the work, though uninteresting to them, may yet prove gratifying to other persons in other family groups.

The labor of compiling and arranging these records has been great, but to the compiler himself exceedingly pleasant. No less than eight hundred letters have been written, and at least an equal number of circulars sent out. Much time has also been spent in the inspection of public documents in town and county archives, and many pleasant visits have been enjoyed at the homes of numerous "cousins," all of which are thankfully remembered.

To all those who have kindly aided him in the supply of material, the author would here express heartfelt gratitude, — next to Him who only hath "made him to prosper." To the printers, also, for their kindness and courtesy during the eight months occupied in going through the press, with continuous additions and emenda tions; for the remarkable fewness of errors and mistakes, consid ering the character of the work; and for the highly satisfactory mechanical execution of the book itself, — the thanks of all interested are justly due.

GENERAL INTRODUCTION,

WITH

REMARKS UPON THE ORIGIN AND ORTHOGRAPHY OF THE NAME.

The true genealogist is not solely or chiefly influenced by a feeling of family pride. He distinguishes, as a late writer in the "Boston Journal" has happily done, "between a pride of ancestry and a taste for pedigree." "The former is senseless; but the latter, he claims, is at least harmless." Adopting the noble sentiment of Burke, that "those who do not treasure up the memory of their ancestors, do not deserve to be remembered by posterity," he would yet by no means expose himself to the quaint sarcasm of Sir Thomas Overbury, that "those who rest their claim to consideration on the merit of their ancestry, and not their own individual worth, resemble a hill of potatoes, — the best portion is under ground!"

It, therefore, matters not that his ancestors or their descendants are unknown to fame. He desires to glorify the God of his fathers by rescuing their names, however humble, from oblivion, by commending their Christian virtues, and by transmitting their history, whatever it was, to those who shall come after. He is thus enlarging the field of actual knowledge to the "rising generations" of the several families represented, and his inquiries, as another has said, are "fraught with instruction in affording us an insight into the habits of life and social ways of periods long past, and in fixing in the memory historical epochs and events," by enabling different persons to associate at least the chronology of such events with their own forefathers or relatives who may have been incidentally connected with them. He (the genealogist) would also afford to each family circle of the more recent generations a permanent, though brief, memorial of the loved who have passed from their embrace, — "not lost, but gone before," — feeling assured that the treasured name, even of the youngest child in a family record, is, to some hearts, no unmeaning expletive.

Actuated by such motives, the author's original design in preparing the present work was to collect and present a complete list, with brief biographical sketches, of all persons, arranged by families, who bore or still bear the cognate surnames of Runnels, Runnals, or Reynolds, and are proved to have been descended from the common ancestor whose name stands at the head of each Part.

On commencing his investigations, however, he was soon confronted by the troublesome fact that his own and his ancestors' name is one of the most difficult to trace and connect in the way proposed. Assuming that those records which contain actual signatures, like wills, deeds, etc., and the records of towns where the individuals lived, were to be regarded as most reliable for the orthography of the name, he found such records unanimous in giving it "Runels" or "Runnels" in the earlier generations of Part I; though clerks, or transcribers of other records, had spelled the name variously, either by confounding it with the several ancient methods of spelling the English "Reynolds," by using the vowels indiscriminately in either of the two syllables; or, by doubling the consonants n and l. Hence he found, for the varied orthographies of Part I, nineteen in all: "Runels, Runnels, Runeles, Runells, Runnells, Runiles, Runils, Runnils, Runills, Runiels, Runniels, Runails, Runnals, Runnalls, Rennals, Rennalls, Renolls, Rennolds, and Reynolds."

Only one branch of this family (Part I) is now known to retain the more ancient "Runels"; several branches, or rather individuals, in later times have adopted "Runnells," while several other branches, mostly in the later generations and in the family of Stephen [10], have taken refuge from all confusion in the more common and less ambiguous "Reynolds." As, however, "Runels" was found to be the only well authenticated name of the common ancestor Samuel [1], and as "Runnels" is the orthography more generally used by his descendants, the author felt obliged to regard this as the standard, though leaving each family at liberty to retain its own method of spelling, whether traditional or assumed.

Similar remarks would apply to the other Parts of the book. Among the records consulted for Parts II and III (mostly in New Hampshire), were the following sixteen varied orthographies, besides a greater part of those already given: "Runals, Runnalds, Ranals, Ranells, Renels, Renells, Renals, Reneles, Rennels, Renolds, Rennalds, Ronals, Roneles, Ronels, Roniels," and the evident contraction "R'nls."

The Reynolds and Runnels families of the "Appendix" also afforded fourteen additional variations, as follows: "Raynolds, Roynalds, Reinolds, Renold, Ranalls, Renes, Renls, Rennell, Renalls, Reanols, Ronalls, Runolds, Runnall, and Runalls." Thus there are furnished no less than forty-nine different ways of spelling the names under consideration, while a glance at the last citations (or the "Appendix" at the close of this volume) will show that even the "Reynolds" orthography is not of undeviating usage. This latter name, indeed, is generally admitted to have been derived from the old German "Reginald"; and it cannot certainly be determined whether Runnels (or Runels), as above, is a corruption of this English Reynolds, as is claimed by some, or whether it has an independent Scotch derivation. Probability favors the latter supposition. The word "Runnel" is a Scotch term, meaning a small brook, or rivulet. It is found in the poetry of Sir Walter Scott; see "Introduction" to "The Bridal of Triermain": —

> "For here, compell'd to disunite, > Round petty isles the runnels glide."

Also, Canto 2d, of the same poem: —

> "See how the little runnels leap,
> In threads of silver, down the steep,
> To swell the brooklet's moan."

Nor is this an obsolete Scotch word, as claimed by some; for in one of the later works of Hugh Miller, LL. D., "The Cruise of the Betsy, with Rambles of a Geologist; or, Ten Thousand Miles over the Fossiliferous Deposits of Scotland," printed in 1858, are the following allusions: p. 326, "While at the bottom of the hollows, washed by the runnels, which, in the slow lapse of years, have been the architects of the whole, we find cairn-like accumulations of water-rolled stones, the disengaged pebbles and boulders of the deposit" (boulder clay); p. 514, "The sun broke out in great beauty after the showers, glistening on a thousand minute runnels, that came streaming down the precipices, and revealing through their vapory haze the horizontal lines of strata." See, also, pp. 51, 301, 330, 334, and 376.

As confirming the above supposable derivation, Bowditch, in his "Suffolk Surnames," calls "Runnells" "a name taken from the face of nature"; instancing "Rev. Mr. Runnells, teacher" (probably mistaken for trustee, see [2046]) "at the New Hampton Institute, N. H., 1858."

Another possible derivation of the name has been suggested from the old Norwegian "Ronald," as we find the name of "Baron Ronald Urka," who was present at the death of King Haco, the last of the Norwegian invaders, who died at Orkney in the thirteenth century. Hence we have North and South "Ronald sha" among the present names of the islands of the Orkneys; as, also, the unfortunate hero of one of Walter Scott's minor poems, "Lord Ronald." This derivation is, however, less probable; and Runnels might as reasonably originate in Reynolds as in Ronald, except as the latter was afterwards a Scotch rather than an English name.

But the fact that the Runnels families are undoubtedly of Scotch extraction (see Introductions to Parts I and III, and [3936]), would seem to favor an independent Scotch derivation for the name itself, probably from an object in nature, as shown above. Reynolds, to be sure, in pronunciation, often sounds like Runnels, and the latter, on that account, is thought to be a very reasonable corruption of the former; yet we must, evidently, go farther back than any of the dates or records cited for the Runnels families of this work, to prove their identity with the name or race of Reynolds. The conclusion to which the writer has arrived is this, that Runnels is, for the most part, Scotch, while Reynolds is English and Irish. He has found numerous families by the name of Reynolds in Lowell, Lawrence, Salem, Boston, and Hartford, which were of Irish origin, and some of them were evidently of very recent arrival; but no Scotch families have been discovered bearing that name.

The old Reynolds families, noted in the Appendix, are of undoubted English origin; and their descendants have quite generally and tenaciously held to the original spelling of their name, — with slight occasional variations, as before noted, — at least, there is no documentary evidence that any of them have changed the name to Runnels. On the other hand, many branches of the Runnels families, as will be seen in various parts of this book, have changed to Reynolds, on the supposition that this was the original name of which Runnels was only a corruption. Hence the case stands that many of the Reynolds name are found among Runnels families, but none of the Runnels name are found among Reynolds families; and the conclusion is that, aside from the changes just noted, the two names, though sounding alike in rapid pronunciation, are really separate and distinct.

No "coat-of-arms" of Runnels or Reynolds families has come to the author's knowledge, except that noticed under [2003], claimed to have been obtained in England from a book of heraldry in the library of the royal college.

Not being versed in the science of heraldry, the writer confesses that he cannot interpret all the terms employed in this description, of which an exact copy is here given for the gratification of those who are skilled or interested in armorial ensigns, and who also may be better able than himself to judge of its genealogical importance.

"Arms; Argent (white); masoned; sable (black), upon a chief indented of the last (black). A plate charged with a rose, gules (red), barbed and seeded, etc.; between two fleurs d lys. Or (gold). — Crest; a fox passant, gold, holding in its mouth a rose, as in the arms, slipped and leaved, vert (green). — Motto: "Murus aheneus esto." — (Underneath) "Runnells." — (On the back) "The family of Runnells is originally from the town of Biddeford, in the county of Devon. There are five descents in Sir Wm. Seager's visitation, in 1619."

This latter statement, seeming to point to an English rather than a Scotch origin, might lead one, in view of the foregoing conclusions, to question the historical accuracy of the whole document; unless we fall back on another fanciful derivation of the name which has been suggested, viz., that the first who bore it, and for whose services this coat-of-arms was created, was a courier, or bearer of despatches, of remarkable swiftness and shrewdness, during the wars of the Roses, 1455–1485; that he was enlisted on the side of the house of Lancaster, hence the red rose in the fox's mouth, and that he was accustomed literally to "run ells" — perhaps two English ells — at a stride! But even on the supposition that this is a true derivation, it is far more likely that the first "Runnells," or "Runner of Ells," was a tall, gaunt Scotchman, rather than a stout and burly Englishman! though he may have afterwards settled in Devonshire, and his descendants have been multiplied there, against the time of "Sir William Seager's visitation"!

The compiler of the following records has never known, or been at all anxious to prove, that —

"The boast of heraldry, the pomp of power," could be claimed by any of his name in lands and generations far removed.

PART I.

BEING A

GENEALOGICAL MEMOIR

OF

SAMUEL RUNELS,

OF BRADFORD, MASS.,

1703—1745.

INTRODUCTION.

No connection can be established, either by records or tradition, between Samuel Runels, of Bradford, Mass., 1703–1745, and any of the numerous Reynolds families which, according to Savage, had previously settled in different parts of New England (see Appendix); nor can a connection be found with any others of the Reynolds or Runnels name in this country, except with the brother, who is said to have accompanied him hither, and with Job and John Runels, or Runals, of Durham, N. H., 1733, who are also presumed, on good traditional authority, to have been his younger brothers. (See Introductions to Parts II and III.)

Among the descendants of Samuel, tradition is uniform in ascribing to him and his family a Scotch descent, and in introducing them to this country by the way of Nova Scotia (New Scotland).

A common legend has been repeated, with varied embellishments, in at least three distinct branches of his family, that he, with an older brother, "between the ages of 16 and 20," escaped from an attack of Indians, or pirates, upon their father's residence "near Halifax," and "came in an open boat" either "to a British ship," or "all the way to Salem." This immediate Nova-Scotian origin of Samuel seems also confirmed by an allusion in his will. The term "Eastern parts" would not then have been applied to the "District of Maine," as that was a part of Massachusetts. No place east of Essex County would naturally be meant, which was itself farther west than Arcadia, or the present provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

His grandfather, too, either as owner or occupant, had evidently gained for him a right to those lands. It is, therefore, reasonable to infer that this "Grandfather Runels" may have been among those Scotch settlers who came to Nova Scotia with La Tour, a French Protestant, in 1628. They landed at Port Royal (now Annapolis), and built the so-called "Scotch Fort" on the east side of the Basin (Granville), the remains of which were visible as late as 1829.

When Sir William Phips of Massachusetts captured Port Royal, May 20, 1690, the English dismantled, but did not garrison, the fort; and we are told by Haliburton (Hist. of Nova Scotia, Vol. I, p. 72), that "In this defenceless state the unfortunate Arcadians in that neighborhood were attacked by two piratical vessels, the crews of which set fire to a number of houses, slaughtered their cattle, hanged some of the inhabitants, and deliberately burned one family, whom they had shut up in their dwelling-house to prevent their escape."

No similar depredations were committed in Nova Scotia, according to history, for several years before or afterwards. If, therefore, the substantial verity of our legend be assumed, the subsequent facts of his history would favor the conclusion that Samuel may have found his way as a refugee from the scene just described, and a homeless adventurer to the shores of Essex, in the year 1690. Subsequent tradition, in a New-England family, would naturally confound the barbarities of pirates with those of Indians, as also the name of the more recent with that of the original key and capital of Nova Scotia.

Of the older brother nothing is known except, traditionally, that he "settled in the South," and that grandsons of both the brothers were associated together, at West Point, as fellow-soldiers in the old French war. He is supposed to have been the ancestor of those more recently bearing the name of Runnels in the Southwest, among whom were Col. Harmon Runnels, of the Revolutionary war; his son, Gov. Runnels, of Mississippi, who died Dec. 15, 1857, in Houston, Texas; and his grandson, the present Ex-Gov. Runnels, of Texas, after whom a county in that State is named.

FIRST GENERATION.

1. SAMUEL[1] was b., as supposed, about the year 1674, near Port Royal, N. S.; m. Abigail Middleton, probably of Haverhill, Mass., 1700–2. The old Haverhill record has "Samuell Renolls and Abigall Middeltine." But this orthography is of no authority in opposition to the earlier and more numerous citations of the name on the Bradford Records, both christian names and the wife's original surname being also incorrect. All their children, except the second, are given on the Bradford Records as "sons and daughters of Samuel and Abigail Runels." It is inferred either that she was at her father's home in Haverhill at the birth of her second child, or that they lived first in Bradford, afterwards in Haverhill, and then in Bradford again, where they were finally settled, as proved by the following abstract of Deed and Will from the Essex Records in Salem, Mass.

"Dec. 26, 1710. John Bointon to Samuel Runels in Bradford, Husbandman, in consideration of £7, part paid and part secured by bill, a certain piece of land lying in the township of Bradford, 20 acres as it is bounded, be it more or less; bounded on the N. E. corner on a little small red oak marked and on the South side of a frog pond; and so running on the East side upon land of Thomas West till it come to Boxford line; and on the South on Boxford line to the stump of an old tree, with stones by it, on Boxford line; and from that stump, on the West side, by land of Richard Kimball, unto a stake and stones on the N. W. corner."

We have no evidence of real estate as possessed in Massachusetts at an earlier date by a member of this family; implying that though married some eight or ten years previously, this ancestor did not have a "home of his own," in Bradford, till 1710–11. It is evident, too, from this deed, and the price paid, that his original twenty-acre lot must have been comparatively wild and less valuable land at the time of purchase. The northern bounds are not given, but its location on Boxford line is made certain. This was afterwards known in Bradford as the "Job Runnels Place," where the "Job Runnels apples," excellent for their keeping qualities the year round, were found growing. J. Warren Chadwick now owns the same site, near Chadwick's or Little Pond. The land was transferred from John Runnels [22] to James Buswell, and by the latter to Jona. Chadwick. The old Runnels house was standing as late as 1840, on a knoll a few rods southwest of Mr. Chadwick's, with the famous apple-tree near it. The stump of the "little small red oak," alluded to as the northeast-corner bound, afterwards a gigantic tree, was dug up in June, 1871, and a piece of the same is now preserved by the writer as a choice relic. Five other deeds show that this original farm in Bradford was nearly doubled by Samuel [1], and that he purchased a tract of land in Newbury of Nathaniel Dole. He was also assessed for taxes in Boxford, 1712–17, one of those years, as per record, £2 6*s*. His descendants in Concord, N. H., have a tradition that he was interested in the early settlement of that town; hence he is mentioned in Dr. Bouton's History as "signing a petition to Gov. Shute for the granting of Penacook, 1721;" "enrolled as a settler, 1725;" "taking a home lot near the present city, 1727," and "having a house erected, 1731." His home lot, "No. 16, 1st Div." was "fenced and improved," — afterwards deeded to William Stickney. His house, built but "not inhabited" by him, stood nearly opposite the old Abbot Fort, Main Street, on the spot now occupied by the house of Woodbridge Odlin, Esq. He also owned five acres on the "Sugar Ball Plain." (Hist. of Concord, p. 126.)

The Church Records say that "Samuel Runnels was admitted to full communion with the Congregational Church in Bradford, Nov. 27, 1709, was baptized, and owned ye Covenant said day." Ever after he brought his children very early to baptism as "children of the Covenant," the names of his five youngest appearing on the same Church Records, as below. His Will was dated "March 5, 1744–5," and "Proved, at Ipswich, Nov. 25, 1745." Abstract as follows: —

"I, Samuel Runels, of Bradford, etc., yeoman, * * bequeath to Abigaill my dearly and well beloved wife one cow, four sheep and my mare for her own use, also household goods and wearing apparel, and the free use and improvement of the East end of my house during her natural life. I give to my sons, Stephen and Job all my lands in Bradford, (they paying the legacies here mentioned) also to Stephen the East end of my house to come in possession after the decease of my wife, and to Job the West end of my house which he now lives in. As to my lands that may fall to me in the Eastern parts, by my Grandfather or Father Runels, I give them to my four sons, Stephen, Samuel, Job and Ebenezer to be equally divided between them for quantity and quantity.

"I give unto my beloved son Samuel Runels 25 shillings lawful money, and that to be his portion in my estate with what I have already given him.

"I give and bequeath unto my son Ebenezer Runels the sum of £35 lawful money (or other payable bills of credit equivalent thereto) or to his lawful heirs, when he comes to the age of 21 years, to be paid by my Executors in equal parts, and that to be his portion out of my estate.

"I give to Sarah Lakeman, or her heirs, £10 in six months after my decease; and to my grand son, William Atwood, or his heirs, £5 lawful money to be paid when he is 21 years of age.

"I constitute my beloved sons, Stephen and Job, sole executors (to whom I give my live stock except what I have given to my wife by will), ordering them to pay my honest debts and funeral charges and legacies above mentioned, and to give their mother, my now present wife, a decent burial at her decease."

The "Enventory" of his estate was taken by Thomas Kimball and two others, Dec. 3, 1745, and is still to be seen among the old papers of Ensign Enos Reynolds [64]: "Amounting, whole, in bills of ye last Tenor, £222 17*s.* 3*d.*" Among the items specified are "About 30 acres of land with buildings thereon, £160." "One pare of oxen £9." "Thirteen barriels of syder, with bariels £3." "Waring apareal £5 7*s.* 6*d.*," and various "Utensiels for husbandry." He d. and was buried in Bradford.

The writer was so happy as to discover his grave, in the old Bradford cemetery, in 1871! The rich satisfaction was also afforded of resetting the prostrated gravestones and re-marking their inscriptions, which read, upon the headstone, "Here lies buried the body of Sergt. Samuel Runels who died the 27th of October, 1745, aged 51st years"; on the footstone, "Samuel Runels." Date of death corresponds with that upon the Town Records; but a mistake of "5" for "7" was undoubtedly made in the age, as well as in the manner of expressing it. He must have been more than 51 years old, as appears from the birth of his oldest son, and the age of his second son's wife, buried at his side. Calling it "71 years," the year of his birth, not otherwise ascertained, is reasonably fixed at 1674. This synchronizes with his supposed arrival from Nova Scotia in 1690. We also learn, only from the above inscription, that he bore the military title of "Sergeant." His widow d. Oct. 11, 1753, in Bradford (Town Records). Their children were all b. in Bradford except the second.

2. Stephen [10], b. May 14, 1703.
3. Samuel [17], b. Dec. 17, 1706, probably in Haverhill, as his birth appears on the Haverhill, and not on the Bradford Records; the only child given on the former under his parents' names.
4. John, b. March 9, 1710; d. within a year and one month.
5. John, b. April 8, 1711; d. July 6, 1713. The baptism of "John, child of Samuel and Abigail Runels," appears on the Ch. Records "Apr. 1, 1711." If this is not a mistake, it belongs, evidently, to the older John, who must therefore have d. between Apr. 1 and 8, 1711. It is probably, however, designed for "Apr. 10 or 11, 1711," and so marks the baptism of this younger child.
6. Job [20], b. June 18, 1712; bap. July 27, 1712.
7. Sarah [30], b. Oct. 31, 1716; bap. Nov. 4, 1716.
8. Abigail [43], b. Nov. 11, 1722; bap. 1722.
9. Ebenezer [45], b. Nov. 20, 1726; bap. the next day.

SECOND GENERATION.

10. STEPHEN[2] [2] (Samuel[1]), m. Esther Hovey, of Rowley, 1728, and was admitted to full communion with the Congregational Church in Bradford, as "Stephen son of Samuel," "Aug. 3, 1729." He lived in B. and there acquired some property as "a cooper," till "Jan. 14, 1735–6," under which date Zechariah Hardy deeded to him, "for £140 a piece of land in Boxford, which was formerly Nathaniel Hardy's." This marks the probable time of his settling in Boxford as a farmer, and about the same time he first appears among the tax-payers of that town. From the Essex Probate Records: "Inventory of Stephen Runnels, late of Boxford, yeoman, deceased, intestate, prized, Apr. 12, 1753, and witnessed by Esther Runnels his widow"; who also "rendered account, as administratrix of her husband's estate, Mar. 24, 1755." His estate, however, seems never to have been fully settled till after his son Stephen's death; as "Sept. 3, 1771, a Committee was appointed, by Nathaniel Ropes, Judge of Probate, to divide and set off, both for quantity and quality, one third part of all the real estate of Stephen Runnels unto his widow, Esther Runnels, now Hovey, as her right of dower in said real estate, to and for her use and improvement during her natural life." According to the Boxford Records, she had m., 2d, Luke Hovey, of Boxford, "published Mar. 16, 1755," thus regaining her maiden name.

He did not come in possession of a part of his father's house in Bradford, as by terms of the will, his own death preceding that of his mother by some months, "Mar. 10, 1753," aged 50. (Boxford Town Records.) Children: —

11. STEPHEN [62], b. 1729, in Bradford; bap. as "son of Stephen, Oct. 19, 1729" (Brad. Ch. R.).
12. MARTHA, b. 1732, in Bradford; bap. as "dau. of Stephen, Dec. 31, 1732," and probably d. young, as her name is not remembered in the family.
13. ESTHER [72], b. 1734, in Bradford; bap. as "dau. of Stephen, Dec. 29, 1734."
14. ASA, b. 1737, in Boxford; d. young.
15. WILLIAM [74], b. June 28, 1740, in Boxford.
16. DANIEL [82], b. Sept. 15, 1742, in Boxford.

17. SAMUEL[2] [3] (Samuel[1]), was admitted to full communion with the Cong. Church in Bradford, as "Samuel son of Samuel,"

"Mar. 3, 1728." He m., 1st, Mrs. Anna Sessions, Feb. 18, 1730. Her crumbling gravestones were accidentally found, 1871, in the old Bradford cemetery, near the grave of Samuel [1]. Inscriptions with difficulty deciphered as follows: Head, "Here lies buried the body of Anna, the wife of Mr. Samuel Runels Iu^{t}" (Jun.), "who died 20th of September, 1746, and in the 56th year of her age." Foot, "Anna Runels." This makes the year of her birth 1690, while the date of her death agrees with the Bradford Recs. He m., 2d, Hannah Emerson, of Haverhill. Nov. 19, 1747. (Haver. Recs.)

He is called a "House Wright," "June 3, 1738," when Maxwell Hazeltine conveyed to him, for £36, "a parcel of marsh or meadow, scituate lying and being in Rowly, on Plumb Island." "May 1, 1747," he bought of Eben Sherwin "for £650, old tenor, two pieces of land in Boxford, 51 acres."

From these and seven other deeds, we infer that within twenty years after his first marriage he added to the small property given him by his father (and probably by his own industry at his trade) some forty acres of land in Bradford and at least eighty acres in Boxford; also, that his estate at first was near that of his father's and the line of the two towns, at Little Pond, where he lived, perhaps at a home furnished by his first wife as the widow Sessions, till between 1747 and 1749. He then became, probably at his second marriage, a resident of Boxford, on the other side of Little Pond, at the homestead still occupied by some of his posterity.

Two deeds are also found of "Apr. 2" and "May 20, 1777," the latter giving him possession of a small "tract of marsh" in Newbury; and the following deed will show to his Concord (N. H.) descendants the origin of their Horse Hill estate: "July 26, 1777; John and Benja. Jones of Beverly to Samuel Runnels of Boxford, Gentleman, for £48 a certain lott of land situated in Concord, in the county of Hillsboro' and State of N. Hamp., being a certain 80 acre lot in said township, lying at or near Horse Hill, so called." Tradition says that he was a lieut. in the old French war of 1756, with his son as a drum-major. He d. Apr. 12, 1783, aged 76; and "Feb. 3, 1784, administration of the Estate of Samuel Runnels, late of Boxford, gent., deceased, was granted to Samuel R, his son." His Inventory was given in, "Apr. 6, 1784." Property amounted to £699 4*s*., including farm, personal property, and one quarter part of a "gondola," rated at £2 5*s*., defined by Coffin (History of Newbury) as a "hay boat," and probably used by Samuel [3] on Merrimack River for visiting his Plum Island and Newbury purchases.

Return of commissioners, appointed for division of his estate, was made "May 8"; and "assignment made by Judge of Probate to Samuel Runnels and Anna Page, his only children, July 6, 1789." Children: —

18. Samuel [93], b. Dec. 19, 1730, in Bradford (1st wife); bap. as "Son of Samuel Jun., Dec. 20, 1730"
19. Anna [102], b. 1748–9, probably in Boxford; but bap. at the Bradford Church, "Feb. 26, 1749," as a "daughter of Samuel and Hannah R."

20. Job[2] [6] (Samuel[1]), had settled as a farmer in Bradford with his father, as noticed in the latter's will, 1745; also, before this, "June 6, 1743," he had purchased of William Eastman for "£219 14*s*., old tener, 15 acres and 34 perches of land in Bradford, adjoining his father's." He doubtless bought out his brother Stephen's share of the original homestead, which ever afterwards, increased as above, was called after his own name. (See under Samuel[1].) He was admitted to full communion with the Cong. Church in Bradford, Oct. 3, 1736. His 1st wife, Abigail, whom he m. 1733, d. Oct. 14, 1753. He m., 2d, Mary Woodman, Oct. 5, 1758. The following is an abstract of his Will, made at Bradford, Mar. 9, 1770, and proved at Salem, June 3, 1776, soon after his death (aged 64), of which we have no nearer date: —

"To my wife Mary the use of one cow and four sheep during her widowhood, — to be kept by my two sons, — and the household goods that she brought with her: the remainder of the goods (household) to be divided equally between my two daughters Marther (Martha) and Sarah, with £6 13*s*. 4*d*. to be paid to each of them by my two sons, within three years after my decease. All my real estate in Bradford or else where to my sons, in equal division. To my three daughters Abigail, Phebe and Elizabeth, five shillings apiece, with what they have already had, to be paid at my decease. Also, to the heirs of my daughter, Mary Bussel, deceased, the sum of five shillings apiece, to be paid at my decease. My two sons, John and Thomas, are appointed Executors" [Clerk of Probate wrote the former "Job," by mistake] and are directed "to give my wife, above named, a comfortable support in sickness and health during her life, and a decent burial at death, in case she dies my widow."

Receipts given by the above legatees, except Sarah, June 4 and 10, 1776, alluding to "the last Will and testament of our honored Father, Mr. Job. Runnels." Children all b. in Bradford, as per Records.

21. Abigail [109], b. Oct. 12; bap. Oct. 13, 1734.
22. John, b. Feb. 27, 1736 (Town Rec. says, by mistake, 1735); bap. Feb. 29, 1736 (Ch. Recs.). He was in both the old French and the Revolutionary wars. Admitted, with Sarah his wife, to full communion with the Bradford Church, Nov. 20, 1774. He m., 1st, Sarah Kimball, June 8, 1758, after his first military service. She d., and he m., 2d, "late in life," Mrs. Rebecca Kimball, of Boxford, 1807. He d. at the old homestead, 1821, aged 85.
23. Mary [115], b. July 22; bap. July 24, 1737.
24. Phebe, b. May 8; bap. May 10, 1739; m. Abraham Kimball (per receipt as above).
25. Thomas [120], b. Feb. 26; bap. Mar. 1, 1741.
26. Elizabeth, b. 1743; bap. June 12, 1743; d. young.
27. Elizabeth, b. July 1, 1748; m. "Mikel Kimball" (as per receipt). "Michael Kimball and his wife owned Covenant but came not to the Lord's Table, Sept. 30, 1764" (Brad. Ch. Recs.).
28. Martha, b. July 3; bap. July 29, 1750.
29. Sarah, b. May 10, 1759 (2d wife); bap. May 13, 1759; m. Nathaniel Griffin, of Bradford, Dec. 31, 1778.

30. Sarah[2] [7] (Samuel[1]), was admitted to full communion with the Cong. Church in Bradford, as "Sarah, dau. of Samuel Runnels, July 2 (4), 1732"; and was m. by the Rev. Joseph Parsons to Nathaniel Lakeman, of Boxford, Jan. 23, 1734. Resided in Bradford, where all their children were b.

31. Elizabeth (Lakeman), b. Nov. 28; bap. Nov. 30, 1735; d. Jan. 20, 1756.
32. Samuel, b. Jan. 7; bap. Aug. 12, 1737.
33. Sarah, b. Oct. 25, 1738.
34. Mary, b. July 9; bap. July 13, 1740; d. before 1758 (see 42, below).
35. Abigail, b. July 21; bap. July 25, 1742.
36. Nathaniel, b. Aug. 11; bap. Aug. 19, 1744.
37. Ebenezer, b. Apr. 12; bap. Apr. 20, 1746.
38. Esther, b. Mar. 16, 1748(7); bap. Mar. 20, 1748.
39. Daniel, b. July 29, 1750.

The three following are not upon the Town Records, but appear among the church baptisms as the "sons and daughter of Nathaniel Lakeman."

40. Amos, b. 1752; bap. Nov. 5, 1752.
41. Job, b. 1755; bap. Feb. 9, 1755.
42. Mary, b. 1758; bap. Sept. 17, 1758.

43. Abigail[2] [8] (Samuel[1]), m. William Atwood, of Bradford, Dec. 24, 1739. She d. prior to the date of her father's will, 1745, leaving the son then mentioned.

44. William (Atwood), b. Jan. 20, 1740, in Bradford.

The circumstances of his early training were unfavorable, as is often the case, his father soon marrying again and having numerous other children. He therefore became a sort of Ishmael in the world, and no descendant of his can ever arise to charge us with disrespect to his memory, if, for variety's sake, we venture a little episode at his expense, as related by Mr. Alfred Poor, genealogist, of Salem, Mass. "He was very fond of 'the ardent,' but, like many others in the same situation, did not abound in means for gratifying his appetite. One ingenious device of his, however, was this: he would go to a country store with two bottles of the same size and shape, one in each side pocket of his slouched overcoat, — one filled with water and the other empty. Lurking in the back store for a while, he would watch his opportunity and slyly fill the empty bottle. On leaving the premises, if detected, he would stoutly deny the theft at first; but when hard pressed, would draw the bottle of water from his pocket and deliver it, with great apparent disgust, to the storekeeper, exclaiming, 'Here, take your miserable rum; I don't want it!' With real satisfaction the trader would turn its contents into his cask, thinking that so much was saved from his thievish customer, while William, with the genuine article, would coolly make his escape!"

45. Ebenezer[2] [9] (Samuel[1]), learned a different trade from either of his older brothers, — that of a blacksmith, — and probably in the neighboring village of Haverhill, where we find him, "Jan. 7, 1748" (by mistake on the county records, "1744," as he was then a minor) receiving, by deed from "agents of the town of Haverhill, for £33 10*s*. (N. T. in hand before), a certain piece of parsonage land, on Merrimack River, and containing about 8 acres"; "Mar. 6, 1748," just after his first marriage, he buys of Edmund Mooers, for "£750, O. T., a lott of land with a dwelling house there on"; "Apr. 7, 1748," with "Abigail his wife," he conveys to "William Greenleaf, for £220, O. T., one half an acre in Haverhill, formerly of the parsonage land so called"; and "Apr. 17, 1749," to Samuel White, for "£75, about ¼ of an acre, at a place commonly known by the name of the River Parsonage Lots." He must have received a dowry by his wife, or else have worked quite successfully at his trade before 1748, since the amount received from his father's estate by will at "twenty-one years of age," could only have helped him to the first or parsonage purchase (above), out of which the two last deeds show that he was making what would be called, in these days, a "handsome speculation," while reserving the second purchase for his own homestead. Eight other deeds are found conveying real estate in Haverhill to him, and eleven others, from him to others, also in Haverhill, and all prior to 1784, showing that his business relations were quite extensive in that place. The following also marks the time of his purchasing the estate, afterwards given to his son Samuel [54] in Hollis: "Feb. 5, 1777," Ebenezer and Thomas Jaquith and wives (their marks), "to Ebenezer Runels, for £666 13*s.* 4*d.* 255 acres of land, partly in Hollis, N. H., and partly in Dunstable, Mass." As a blacksmith in Haverhill, he had, for the times, a large establishment, devoting himself mainly to the oversight of his numerous employés. Was engaged considerably in the ironing of vessels, and was also partner in a ship-building interest at Newburyport, according to tradition among the descendants of his oldest son in Maine. His residence in Haverhill was situated on the present Washington Square; house, where now the Lafayette and Washington Blocks, with garden in rear and extending east to the Little River; shop, opposite the house, in rear of the present Christian Baptist Meeting-house. He m., 1st, Abigail Sollis, of Beverly, 1747. She d. Oct. 3, 1765, and the next year he m., 2d, Hannah Smith, of Haverhill, who was b. May 31, 1742, in H., and there d. Mar. 29, 1814, aged 72. The writer has a copy of his Will, dated Feb. 10, 1795, agreeing with the Essex Prob. Recs.; abstract as follows: —

"I give unto my oldest son, Benjamin, £10 lawful money, to be paid out of my estate in three years. To Stephen, £15, ditto, in two years. To my son, Ebenezer's children, Ebenezer and Abigail, £20 each. To my daughter, Mary Ayer, £5, in one year. To my daughter, Abigail Hagget, one feather bed, one mahogany case of drawers, and £10, in two years. I give to Samuel 40 shillings, and require him to pay to his mother 30 shillings yearly, during her natural life." [This in consideration of the Hollis property which he had previously received.] "To Nathaniel, £50, to be paid in two years. To Daniel and Ebenezer, equally, one half the house and garden I now possess. To Hannah, £30, in one year after my decease. To Thomas, a piece of land in Haverhill, with house thereon, in which he now lives. To Daniel and Thomas, equally, the shop, shop lot and tools, ordering them to pay Stephen 50 shillings each, within two years. Finally, to my wife, Hannah, and my son Thomas, jointly, all other property in Haverhill, making them Executors of my will, and ordering them to raise money as needed, by the sale of my Pepperell farm (so called), dividing the balance equally among all my children."

Account of Executors was rendered "Dec. 14, 1795." Property prized, in all, "at $4,632.73," including his "Pepperell farm at $1,686.67," and his "Mansion house, and land adjoining in Haverhill, at $1,000." The words "Memento Mori" are on his gravestone in the old Haverhill cemetery, which also gives his death, "Aug. 4, 1795," aged 69. Children, b. in Haverhill, — an equal number by each of his two wives.

46. Benjamin [123], b. Mar. 31, 1748.
47. Ebenezer [133], b. Apr. 21, 1750.
48. John, b. Aug. 14, 1752; d. Sept. 14, 1753.
49. Stephen [136], b. July 3, 1754.
50. John, b. June 18, 1756; d. June 16, 1760.
51. Molly (Mary) [146], b. July, 1758.
52. Abigail [158], b. Dec. 7, 1760.
53. Thomas, b. Dec. 14, 1763; d. Nov. 16, 1765.
54. Samuel [163], b. Mar. 15, 1767.
55. Thomas [171], b. Feb. 7, 1769.
56. Nathaniel Stevens [180], b. June 23 (22), 1771.
57. Daniel, b. Oct. 22, 1773; d. Sept. 22, 1774.
58. Daniel [192], b. Dec. 18 (Fam. Rec. says "Sept. 22"), 1775.
59. Ebenezer [198], b. 1778; not found on the Haverhill Recs.
60. Hannah, b. Apr. 22, 1783; d. Feb. 22, 1787.
61. Hannah [201], b. July 12 (4), 1787.

THIRD GENERATION.

62. Stephen[3] [11] (Stephen[2], Samuel[1]), m. Hannah Pearl, of Boxford, April 11, 1754. As appears from the following and one other deed, he inherited and occupied, as a farmer, his father's real estate in Boxford, adding to the same and selling from it: "April 13, 1763, Stephen Runnels of Boxford, yeoman, to James Lendall, for £20 14*s.* 2*d.*, a certain tract or piece of land in B., 4½ acres, more or less, being one half of what I bought of Daniel Wood." He d. probably in the summer of 1771, aged 42, as we have from the Essex Probate Recs. "Administration of the estate of Stephen Runnels, late of Boxford, deceased, granted to Hannah Runnels, who gave bonds with Samuel Runnels and Richard Pearl, this Sept. 23, 1771." Inventory presented Oct. 24, 1771. Real estate, £257 13*s.*; personal property, £122 2*s.* 7½*d.*: Total, £379 15*s.* 7½*d.* His widow did not render her account as administratrix till "Mar. 2. 1779," the troublous times of the Revolution, and the absence of her oldest son no doubt preventing. At this latter date, "£42" are added to the above figures as the "Increase" of his estate, bespeaking her good management. At the same time the guardianships of "Eunice Runnels, a minor, aged 18," of "Billey, 16," and of "Hannah, 14," are granted to John Pearl; also, of the younger children, "Phebe aged 12, Esther aged 10, and Sarah aged 8," granted to their mother. Commissioners appointed to divide the property, Apr. 21, 1779; who made their report June 8, 1779. She probably d. late in the year 1789, as widow Hannah Runnels is among the tax-payers of that and previous years (but not afterwards) on the Boxford Records, where also are found the births of their children.

63. Abigail [205], b. Aug. 21, 1755.
64. Enos [215], b. Feb. 20, 1757.
65. Hannah, b. Nov. 29, 1758; d. young.
66. Eunice [228], b. Jan. 6, 1761.
67. Billey, b. Jan. 24, 1763. Was in the Revolutionary war, having enlisted when a mere youth, winter of 1779–80. He was known to have been taken prisoner by the British, and d., as supposed, in a prison-ship near New York, 1781, aged 18.
68. Hannah [238], b. Dec. 30, 1764.
69. Phebe [243], b. Dec. 8, 1766.
70. Esther, b. Sept. 1768; d. Mar. 2, 1789.
71. Sarah, b. Nov. 1770; d. Aug. 1, 1789, in Salem, N. H.

72. Esther[3] [13] (Stephen[2], Samuel[1]), m. Moses Sargent, of Methuen, Nov. 29, 1767. She was his second wife, and succeeded to the care of his five children by his former wife Elizabeth; to these was added her only child.

73. Asa (Sargent), b. Sept. 25, 1768 (Methuen Records).

74. William[3] [15] (Stephen[2], Samuel[1]); m., 1st, Rebekah Foster, of Andover, Mass., 1771–2, and moved from North Andover to Methuen in 1774. He had previously taken land in Londonderry, N. H., — conveyed to him, in company with Ebenezer Runnels, of Haverhill, in 1769, — of which his part, sixty acres, was deeded away in 1773. (Rockingham Records.)

This shows that he may have contemplated settling in Londonderry, with his brother Daniel [82]. He was in the Revolutionary war, — how long, cannot be ascertained. At Methuen again, "June 14, 1779," as under that date, "William Runnels, of Methuen, yeoman [deeded], to Jesse Tyler for £30 a piece of meadow in M., including some islands of upland lying therein." (Essex Records.)

Tradition in the Messer family informs us that he was exposed to great privations in the army, suffering especially from hunger on a certain march, when "one day he picked up a piece of pork-rind and a pealed onion, supposed to have been dropped by a party of Indians along the road; at first hid away his treasure, for fear his hungry companions might rob him of the scanty provision, and afterwards ate it in a place of seclusion from the rest." This may have been on Col. B. Arnold's disastrous march through the wilderness to Quebec, in the fall of 1775.

After the war, and prior to 1790, — as by six other deeds, — additions were made to his real estate in Methuen, of nearly one hundred acres. His 1st wife d. Nov. 20, 1808, aged 62, at Methuen. He m., 2d, Mrs. Olive Smith (formerly Messer), of Methuen, Dec. 26, 1809; who d. Sept. 8, 1837.

He d. July 10, 1822, at Methuen; is styled "Elder William Runnels" on his gravestone, and this epitaph is added: —

> "Though I have lived to eighty-two,
> God gives long life to very few;
> Let none presume, then, on old age,
> But in religion now engage."

His children — as per Town Records — were all b. in Methuen, except the oldest: —

75. Rebekah [248], b. Apr. 3, 1773, in Andover.
76. Stephen, b. Apr. 2, 1775; m. Abigail Sargent, of Methuen, Sept. 30, 1804. Jesse Webster deeded to him a "farm in Salem, N. H., Dec. 3, 1807" (Roc. Recs.). His gravestone in Methuen gives him the title of "Coln. Stephen Runnels," he there dying "July 21, 1831," aged 56.
77. Daniel [256], b. Apr. 29, 1777.
78. Abigail [259], b. Feb. 16, 1780.

79. Esther, b. Sept. 8, 1782; m. Leonard Carlton, of West Boxford, and there d. Apr. 8, 1868.
80. John [267], b. Oct. 30 (Fam. Rec. "28"), 1786.
81. Sarah [277], b. May 18, 1791.

82. Daniel[3] [16] (Stephen[2], Samuel[1]), had settled in Londonderry, N. H., as early as 1765, since he was said, "June 20, 1765," to be "of Derryfield, now resident in Londonderry, Joyner," and received by deed from James Karr, of Goffstown, "for £553 17*s*., one seventh part of a certain tract of land lying in Hopkinton, on the north side of Contoocook River, 3303 acres." He made two other purchases in Londonderry in October of the same year, — called "Daniel Runnels of L., carpenter"; while two conveyances of land to others, by himself and wife, in 1773 and 1774, are also recorded among the Rockingham deeds, at Exeter, N. H. He m. Hannah Spofford, Apr. 14, 1767, who was b. March 16, 1746, and d. in Derry, Jan. 23, 1829, aged 83. His homestead was one mile north of the centre meeting-house in Derry, not far from the celebrated Beaver Pond, and the spot where the first sermon was preached to the early settlers of Londonderry. It is now (1872) owned by his grandson, William Reynolds [284]. Parker's Hist. of Londonderry, p. 152, states that he was one of the undertakers of the work (with Joseph Morrison) of building the new meeting-house in the east parish, 1769. His military history, during the Revolutionary war, is gathered as follows, chiefly from the "Adj. General's Report of New Hampshire," Vol. II. "Dec. 2, 1775, General Sullivan, at Winter Hill, called for thirty-one companies of New Hampshire men (commonly called the 'six-weeks' men') to take the place of the Connecticut troops who had left. Daniel Runnels, of Londonderry, was the captain of Co. 3" (p. 278).

Same account in the "New Hampshire Provincial Papers," to wit, that the "Committee of Safety, Dec. 2, 1775, ordered Daniel Runnels and fifteen others to enlist a company of sixty-one able-bodied men to serve in the Continental army under General Washington, and to join them immediately to General Sullivan's brigade."

In April, 1776, he signed the "Association Test," with others of his fellow-townsmen. September of the same year, two more regiments were raised to reinforce the Continental army in New York. Col. Thomas Tash commanded the second regiment, and "Daniel Runnels was captain of Co. 7, Sept. 26, 1776." He next appears as "Daniel Runnels, captain of Co. 1 in Col. Nichol's regiment," which went with Gen. Stark to Bennington. He was undoubtedly engaged in that renowned battle, his regiment being "sent by a circuitous route to gain the rear of the left wing of the enemy," Aug. 16, 1777. Parker's History confirms this, informing us that "a company of seventy volunteers" (Co. 1 above) "was enlisted in Londonderry, July 20, 1777"; that it was "commanded by Capt. Daniel Reynolds, and was in the battle of Bennington." Oct. 18, 1777, he was ordered to pay off the roll of his company. General Whipple had command of a New-Hampshire brigade sent to operate against the British under Gen. Sullivan, in Rhode Island, in the summer of 1778. In this brigade, "Daniel Reynolds was captain of Co. 3, Col. Peabody's regiment." Here this spelling of the name appears for the first time in the military history of New Hampshire; though it is afterwards ordered that "Capt. Daniel Runnels be paid as an officer in Col. Stephen Peabody's regiment, raised for the defence of Rhode Island, April 28, 1778."

In the spring of 1779, a regiment was ordered from New Hampshire for service in Rhode Island under Col. Hercules Mooney, of Lee, in which "Daniel Reynolds was captain of Co. 2," at first, "May 29, 1779"; and afterwards "Major" of the same regiment, as under dates of "Sept. 4 and 18, 1779."

One regiment only, and the last, for the Revolutionary struggle, was raised in New Hampshire in 1781, "the prospect of peace relaxing military operations." Of this, "Daniel Reynolds" was "Colonel." A "note" here, in the military history, remarks (Adj. General's Report, Vol. II, p. 364), that "he had served his country on various occasions," as above; that "his name was often written Runnels, and hence there has arisen some doubt as to the offices held by him; but there is now no doubt that Capt. D. Runnels and Col. D. Reynolds are one and the same man, from Londonderry." Whether the change of his patronymic was first made in 1778 by himself, or by the regimental clerk, it seems to have been adopted by him about that time, and to have been followed, generally, by his townsmen and his descendants ever since.

We may add that but few Revolutionary records are more praiseworthy than his. His gradual growth in acknowledged merit and distinction as an officer, and his perseverance to the end, give him a high rank among the revolutionary soldiers of New Hampshire.

Col. Reynolds was honored by his town by being elected first representative to the General Court of New Hampshire, 1780–84 inclusive, also in 1786 and 1788. He was one of the selectmen of Londonderry in 1785, 1787, 1789–92 inclusive, and in 1794. He d. at his home, greatly beloved and respected, Dec. 13, 1795, aged 53. Inventory of his estate taken Dec. 21, 1796. His children were all b. in Londonderry, now Derry.

83. Stephen [282], b. Jan. 10, 1768.
84. Sally [291], b. Oct. 22, 1769.
85. Daniel [303], b. Oct. 7, 1771.
86. Hamilton Davidson [311], } b. July 4, 1773.
87. Polly [314], }
88. Hannah [325], b. March 16, 1776.
89. Joseph, b. Oct. 20, 1778; a farmer in Derry, where he d. May 17, 1849, in his 71st year.
90. Thomas K. [334], b. Oct. 20, 1780.
91. Esther S., b. Jan. 18, 1783; d. at Derry, Apr. 27, 1836, aged 53.
92. Betsy, b. March 30, 1785; d. Mar. 16, 1818 (gravestone says, "Mar. 5, 1817"), aged 33.

93. Samuel[3] [18] (Samuel[2], Samuel[1]), being the only son of his father, was closely connected with him for many years in various other relations. They were fellow-soldiers in the old French war, occupied the same house and homestead in Boxford, and are named as joint purchasers of real estate in six deeds before 1772, "Samuel Runnels and Samuel Runnels, jun., both of Boxford," with "gentleman" attached to the former, and "yeoman" to the latter, or "husbandmen" to both. "Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for" father and son thus "to dwell together in unity!" "Oct. 23, 1764," they bought of Stephen Merrill, for £20, "a certain parcel of flatts and crick grass, laying in Newbury, and known by the name of Dole's Banks," thus adding to the purchase of their father and grandfather in that vicinity; but they seem to have enlarged their estate far more in Bradford than elsewhere, probably near the "old place," making, among other purchases, "June 20, 1769," "a certain measurage or tract of land lying in Bradford, commonly known by the name of Dismal Hole, containing about six acres of woodland, for £63 16*s*.," to which, three years later, four and one half acres were added for £26 7*s*., "near a place known by the name of Dismal Hall."

The following reminiscence of his service in the French war is handed down by tradition from his own lips, substantially. He "was on duty with his fellow-soldiers," probably in the vicinity of Lake George, N. Y. (Gen. Johnson vs. Dieskau, 1755), when "the French made a sudden attack upon the British troops; and the latter, being few in number at that point, fell back behind a breastwork of fallen trees. There they stood their ground under a brisk fire from the enemy, who made desperate and long-continued efforts to dislodge them, but were finally obliged to retire. After the action," as he used to say, "he could cover with his two hands" (spread as to the fingers, no doubt) "no less than forty ball-holes in the log by which his own head had been protected." After this service, he m. Joanna Platts, of Bradford, Mar. 14 (published Feb. 26), 1757. She d. in Boxford, "Dec. 16, 1809, aged 75," and was hence b. in 1734, probably a daughter of "Jonas Platts," a part of whose estate, "ten acres in Bradford," they deeded "to N. Wallingford, for £114 13*s*. 4*d*., Jan. 17, 1773."

"Mar. 12, 1790," he conveyed a lot of land in Concord, N. H., to William Stickney, for £43 7*s*. 6*d*., — the "home lot," doubtless, near Concord Street, on which his grandfather "erected a house in 1731."

Having received a lieutenant's commission, he served in the revolutionary war as a "minute man," the gun which he used in that capacity being still in the possession of his great-grandson, Cyrus Runnels, of Concord, marked "1757," and originally more than six feet in length!

Hence the Boxford Records give his name as Lieut. Samuel Runnels, both in the "tax-lists" from 1784 onwards, and among the "families." His taxes in 1790 were, in the column of "Heads" (two in number), "5-6"; "Real," "9-11"; "Personal," "3-6"; probably shillings and pence; and if so, his taxes were remarkably low. Yet he seems to have become somewhat reduced in pecuniary affairs, as his "Inventory," rendered April 30, 1810, was only

$456.55. He survived his wife but about three months, and d. Mar. 12, 1810, in the eightieth year of his age. "May 8, 1811," receipts for $23.48, as paid by his administrator, are given from each of the four following children: Jonathan Runnels, Jonas Runnels, Benajah Burns and Anna, his wife, and Amasa Peabody and Louisa, his wife, the last acknowledging this amount "out of the estate of our honored father," but "excepting" (as not relinquished) "our share in his pew in Boxford West meeting-house." His children were all b. in Boxford: —

94. Joseph [341], b. Oct. 19, 1758 (though Bouton's Hist. of Concord gives "Nov. 18, 1759").
95. Jonathan, b. Dec. 16, 1760; d. within five years.
96. Rhoda [352], b. Apr. 30, 1763.
97. Jonathan [362], b. Aug. 8, 1765.
98. Lois (Louisa) [364], b. Apr. 18, 1768.
99. Samuel [366], b. July 20 (17), 1770.
100. Hannah (Anna), b. Jan. 6, 1773; m. Benajah Burns, miller, 1808; and d. Dec. 1, 1860, at East Haverhill, Mass., in her 88th year, where also he d. July 27, 1865.
101. Jonas [372], b. Aug. 20, 1775.

102. Anna[3] [19] (Samuel[2], Samuel[1]), is styled "Anna R., spinster, of Boxford," "Aug. 10, 1770," in deed, with others, of a piece of land and a meadow in Methuen, to Jacob Whitcher, of M. Afterwards m. Joshua Page, of Haverhill, son of Joshua, b. May 4, 1746, in H., and there d. May 28, 1806, aged 60. She d. Aug. 1, 1806, aged 58. "They lived in the west part of Haverhill, near the brick-yard," where their children were born: —

103. Hannah (Page).
104. Samuel.
105. Caleb.
106. Joseph; d. young.
107. Sally.
108. Moses.

109. Abigail[3] [21] (Job[2], Samuel[1]), was admitted to the Bradford Congregational church, Jan. 11, 1756, and was m. by the Rev. Joseph Parsons, third minister of Bradford, to Jeremiah Kimball, Jr., of B., Dec. 6, 1757. Children: —

110. Richard (Kimball), b. June 14, 1760.
111. Jeremiah, b. June 26, 1762.
112. Bette, b. Mar. 1, 1764.
113. Sarah, b. Aug. 7, 1769.
114. Amos, b. Sept. 3, 1774.

115. Mary[3] [23] (Job[2], Samuel[1]), m. Daniel Buswell ("Buzzil"), Jan. 25, 1759, and d. Dec. 9, 1765, aged 28 (Brad. cemetery). He was b. in Bradford; bap. Aug. 24, 1735; d. Aug. 12, 1813. Children: —

116. Betsey (Buswell), b. Jan. 31, bap. Mar. 2, 1760; m. Ezra Trask, mason, of Bradford, Nov. 22, 1787. They lived in Bradford (house now occupied by their youngest child), where she d. Dec. 14, 1835, in her seventy-sixth year. Children: —

1. Sophia (Trask), b. Dec. 29, 1788; m. Thomas Morrison, of Derry, N. H.; 2 children.
2. Mary (Polly), b. Nov. 18, 1790.
3. Matilda, b. Jan. 25, 1793; d. July 16, 1804, aged 11½ years.
4. Eliza, b. Mar. 13, 1795; m. David Burpee; 1 child.
5. Sarah, b. May 4, 1797; m. Joseph Page, of Newburyport; 1 child.
6. Ann, b. Mar. 1, 1799.
7. Irena, b. July 16, 1804; m. William Elliot, of Beverly; now resides in Bradford; 1 child.

117. Sarah, b. 1761; bap. as dau. of Daniel Buswell, Mar. 8, 1761; d. before June, 1776, not being mentioned with the other three children in receipt of their guardian appended to the will of Job Runnels [20].

118. Daniel, b. April 3, 1763; bap. same day; a soldier in the revolutionary war, — last three years; m. Ede Bodwell, of Haverhill, Apr. 1, 1789. She was b. Feb. 18, 1772, in Methuen. They first settled in Bradford; but after birth of their second child, moved to Antrim, N. H., where he d. Sept. 3, 1859, aged 96, and she d. Mar. 12, 1870, aged 98. Children: —

1. Abigail (Buswell), b. Aug. 22, 1789; a tailoress for many years in Haverhill, Mass., where still residing (1871).
2. Sally, b. May 31, 1791; m. Sewall Spalding; 11 children, "two daughters, seven sons, and lastly, two daughters more."
3. Charlotte, b. Mar. 17, 1794, in Antrim; m. and settled in Iowa; 4 children.
4. Thomas, b. Feb. 1796; d. Oct. 1825, aged 29.
5. Joshua, b. 1798; d. aged 1 year and 3 months.
6. Priscilla, b. Oct. 1799; m. Aaron Parker, of Boxford; 6 children.
7. Zelinda, b. 1801; d. Dec. 1821, aged 20.
8. Ann Seaton, b. Aug. 1803; m. John Robinson; d. 1851 (7), at Concord, N. H.
9. William Alfred, } b. Aug. 1807; William A. settled on his
10. Eliza Elma, } father's place in Antrim; m. Betsy Ann McMasters, and d. 1850, aged 43. Two of his sons, (1) Thomas Alfred and (2) Isaac, were in the late war, and both d. in service, the latter being a musician with his uncle, Isaac J. Eliza E., d. May, 1808, aged 9 mos.
11. Eliza Messer, b. Aug. 1809; m. Thomas Thompson; resides in Antrim; 2 children.
12. Isaac James, b. July, 1811. Enlisted as leader of a band in one of the New York regiments for the late war of the rebellion, and d. of yellow fever in Florida.

119. James, b. Nov. 25, 1765. Left an infant at the death of his mother; he was adopted by his uncle, John Runnels [22], and inherited from him the ancestral farm, on which he lived till 1815. He then moved to Andover, and there d. 1856, aged 91. He m. Sarah Pearl, of Boxford, 1793. Children: —

1. Sally (Buswell), b. 1794; d. 1820, aged 26.
2. Eliza, b. 1796; d. 1819, aged 23.
3. Ascenath, b. 1798; d. 1832, aged 34.
4. John Runnels, b. Dec. 18, 1800; now residing in Bradford, having m. Harriet H. Payson, of Pembroke, N. H., July, 1827, who was b. June 17, 1807. Children: (1.) Charles Elliot, b. May 20, 1830, in Bradford, and there d. Mar. 1, 1851, aged 21. (2.) James Eustace, b. Jan. 17, 1834, in Pembroke, N. H.; was a shoe merchant in Martha's Vineyard; enlisted in the 3d Mass. Regiment, 1861; served six months in North Carolina, was sick of consumption, and d. at Bradford, Sept. 16, 1865, aged 31. He m. Julia A. M. Gibbs, of Middleboro', 1861(2), who was b. Aug. 15, 1839, and d. Nov. 28, 1867, aged 28.

5. Benjamin Pearl, b. Jan. 1803; a shoe manufacturer; residing in Haverhill; 3 sons and 1 daughter.
6. Charles Spofford, b. 1805; a Congregational clergyman, formerly settled in West Fairlee, Vt.; removed to Chicago, Ill., about 1856, and there d. soon after; m. Caroline Martin; 4 daughters.
7. Fidelia, b. 1807; residing in Boston.
8. Marianne, b. 1809; m. Stephen Drew, of New Haven, Ct.; 1 son and 1 daughter.
9. James Otis, b. 1811; a broker in Boston; resides in Wakefield; 1 daughter.
10. Emily, b. 1813; m. James Callaham, stone-cutter, of Andover; 5 children.

120. Thomas[3] [25] (Job[2], Samuel[1]), m. "his wife Phebe," in Bradford, about 1763. "Thomas Runnels owned covenant, but came not to the Lord's table, Nov. 18, 1764." This seems to have been in order to have his first child baptized. As the birth of his second daughter is taken from the Methuen Records, we infer that he had moved to that town prior to 1771. He there lived till after "March 3, 1777," as under that date we have (Rockingham deeds), "I. Young, conveying land in Salem, N. H., to Thomas Runnels, of Methuen." He had removed to Salem, "Mar. 21, 1781," as we then find "Edward Patee" deeding "land to Thomas R. of Salem"; and that he was living and still owning land in Methuen as late as 1785, is implied in one of the deeds of William [74].

Nothing further can be ascertained respecting him or his daughters. It is presumed that they left no families; hence, in the want of sons, his branch, as well as his father's, in the Runnels name, becomes extinct. Children: —

121. "Mehiteball," b. Oct. 28, 1764, in Bradford; bap. "Nov. 18, 1764" (Ch. Recs.).
122. Phebe, b. Feb. 26, 1771, in Methuen, called "a dau. of Thomas and Phebe," like her sister.

123. Benjamin[3] [46] (Ebenezer[2], Samuel[1]), having learned the blacksmith's trade of his father, and m. Hephzibah (or "Hipsey") Bradley, of Haverhill, in 1768, he emigrated the next year to the "District of Maine," and first settled at Pondleborough, on the Kennebec. Removing up the river two or three years later, he was among the first settlers of what is now Augusta, then a wilderness, and is said to have owned one hundred acres on the site of the present city, which he afterwards sold for two dollars per acre! While there he was drafted into the revolutionary army about 1776, and remained "not more than two years." Served as a blacksmith with the army in New York, and was employed in forging the chain which was thrown across the Hudson to keep British ships from going up the river. Meanwhile his family remained at Augusta (the Indian Cushnoe), greatly annoyed by their savage neighbors. On one occasion, seven Indians came to their house, ransacked it, and spent the night, to the terror of his wife and children. She always said her life was spared only by the resolute intervention of a squaw, who was one of the company, in her behalf. Preferring the country about Ticonic Falls, farther up the river, he moved thither for his final settlement, 1778. Added to his trade the business of a lumberman and speculator. Erected the first framed house on the site of Waterville village, and about the year 1793, built a small vessel, — claimed to be the first launched on the upper Kennebec, — and run it to Augusta, twenty miles, before being rigged. He also built the first mill in Waterville, and, subsequently, the first at Pittsfield, up the Sebasticook. Was the first representative from the combined towns of Waterville and Winslow to Boston, and became the possessor of so much land in Winslow, where he lived, as to obtain the sobriquet of "King Runnels." But he was afterwards much reduced in property by the failure of one Shepard, an English contractor, — after whom Shepard's wharf, in Hallowell, is named, — and by other misfortunes, especially by losing a contract of his own for furnishing masts to be sent to England. The timbers were cut too short, in attempting to lade them upon the short vessels sent to transport them. With his affairs in a very unsettled state, he d. suddenly, of apoplexy, in Winslow, June 22, 1802, aged 54. His wife had d. Dec. 25, 1798. The beautiful spot selected by her for a family burial-place, on the east bank of the Kennebec, a mile or two above Waterville, is now neglected and almost forgotten; the gravestones are crumbling to dust, and a thrifty young cedar is drawing its nourishment from the ashes of the departed; while the majestic river, still flowing near at hand, and roaring from the distance, as of old, serves only to intensify the reflection, so readily suggested, that of all human works and devices upon earth, "there is none abiding." Children:

124. James [376], b. Jan. 1769, in Haverhill, Mass.
125. Mary [380], b. May, 1770, in Pondleborough, Me.
126. John [388], b. Nov. 19, 1771 (gravestone), in Pondleborough.
127. Benjamin [395], b. Apr. 1773, in Augusta, Me. (as since named).
128. Stephen [401], b. Feb. 1775, in Augusta.
129. Ruth [404], b. Dec. 1776, in Augusta.
130. Abigail [414], b. March 4, 1778, in Winslow.
131. Rachel [423], b. March 24, 1782, in Winslow.
132. David [433], b. Oct. 5, 1783, in Winslow.

133. Ebenezer[3] [47] (Ebenezer[2], Samuel[1]). He "followed the sea and d. in the West Indies, July, 1774," aged 24. Had m. and "left two children in this country," who were living, according to their grandfather's will, in Feb. 1795, but are supposed soon after to have died without issue.

134. Ebenezer, b. about 1771.
135. Abigail, b. about 1773; is said to have m. and lived in Chester, N. H.

136. Stephen[3] [49] (Ebenezer[2], Samuel[1]), was enrolled, according to the "History of Haverhill, Mass.," p. 382, among the "Minit men, trained in Capt. Jas. Sawyer's Co., by voat of the town, Mar. and April, 1775"; also in the "List of eight months' service men, raised immediately after the battle of Lexington, 1st Co.," ninety-four in all, thus early commencing his Revolutionary career. Afterwards, his name appears, p. 391, among "those who lost guns at the battle of Bunker Hill, from Haverhill," twenty-one in number, — an evidence of hard fighting. Also, "Drafted for the Continental service, in 1775–6," p. 393. His brother, Nathaniel S. [56], used to say he was "six years in the revolutionary war, a sergeant, and present at the surrender of Burgoyne." Others make his time as a soldier but three or four years. In the New-Hampshire Provincial Records we have "Corporal Stephen Runnels, belonging to the Continental army," to whom the "Treasurer is ordered to pay 40 shillings discount out of the taxes to be accounted for, out of his depreciation, Feb. 13, 1783." Hardly intelligible; but the date favors the longer term of service. He was a blacksmith, like his father, and by reason of the latter's investment in Hollis, N. H., he changed his residence to that place in 1777, where also he became affianced to Chloe, dau. of Moses Thurston. Afterwards, when absent as a New-Hampshire soldier, he was accustomed to send to her his wages, which she faithfully kept in her possession, intending to purchase her marriage outfit with the money. As the currency was depreciating, and likely soon to be worthless, she was advised by a friend, at one time, to lay it out in rye; but she listened to no such suggestion, and when at last she came to "buy her furniture," was obliged to pay "$7 for a white cream pitcher," and for other things in like proportion! Having m., as proposed, in 1782, they followed their brother-in-law — the Rev. Stephen Fuller, who m. Phebe Thurston — to Vershire, Vt. (1789), where he d. suddenly, July 22, 1798, aged 44. 153. Sarah, b. Nov. 25, 1791, in Hillsborough; m., 1st, Enoch Howlitt, of Hillsboro'; m., 2d, Zabina Colburn. Child: —

1. Zerah (Colburn), b. Jan. 13, 1832, in Saratoga, N. Y. He was named after his uncle, the celebrated arithmetician. His father d. a few years after his birth, and his mother returned to Hillsborough, N. H., where, during his boyhood, he earned his living on a farm, proving himself an insatiable reader, but enjoying no means for an early education besides a few months' attendance at a district school, and a short clerkship in a factory. He first entered a machine shop in Lowell, Mass., April, 1846; but "his professional career commenced on the Concord railroad, under the late Charles Minot, then its manager, who was attracted by the brightness and practical ideas of this singular youth. In a few months he had mastered the anatomy and physiology of the locomotive engine, tabulated the dimensions and proportions of those under his observation, and published a small, but excellent and still useful, treatise on the subject." The locomotive was ever after his chief study. Was superintendent of the works of Mr. Souther, in Boston, — for a few months of the Tredegar Works, at Richmond, Va., and for a year, or more, of the New Jersey locomotive works at Paterson, N. J., "during which engagement he made some improvements, still standard, in the machinery of freight engines." But he "early found that the literature of engineering was his true calling." His writings were various in scope, and vigorous in practical treatment. "On the locomotive, the steam-engine and boiler at large, steam navigation, bridges, railway works and mechanical engineering in general, he became a first-rate authority. His thoroughly practical education in the workshop, his extended observation of engineering works, his intimate acquaintance with professional literature, his remarkable quickness of comprehension, his more remarkable memory, and his mechanical talent and inborn engineering ideas, combined to give him a distinction that no engineer in the world will deny him, — the best general writer in his profession." In 1854, he started in New York the "Railroad Advocate," which he afterwards enlarged and entitled the "American Engineer." He was commissioned, with his associate, Mr. A. L. Holley, by several railroad presidents, in the autumn of 1857, to visit Europe, and report upon the systems of railway management in use there. In 1858, he returned to London, began to write for the "Engineer," and soon became its editor. In addition to his editorial labors, he wrote several pamphlets on boiler explosions, heat, etc., the originality of which attracted great attention. He received two medals for papers before the "Institution of Civil Engineers," one on "Iron Bridges," the other on "American Locomotives and Rolling Stock." He also served one year as president of the "Society of Civil Engineers." But the high tension which he always maintained upon his mental powers too early destroyed the balance of his over-wrought brain, and he d. soon after his last arrival in this country, April 20, 1870, aged 38, under a cloud of temporary insanity, having accomplished more than most men in thrice as many years of active life. Had he early received the advantages of a systematic and liberal education, it might have proved difficult to prescribe the limits to his usefulness or his fame. Extraordinary instances of his powers of memory are related. He could state exactly the height of the summit of every railway of which reports had ever reached his eye, together with their leading gradients and other material features. He was highly esteemed for his social traits, his amiability and kindness. While residing in London, he delighted to bestow valuable attention upon American engineers visiting England, by whom his memory is cherished with affection. He was m. and left one child, (1.) SARAH, now living with her mother in New York. (The above is an abstract of two published sketches of his life; one of which, from the pen of Mr. Holley, appeared in the "New York Times" of May 2, and the "Scientific American" of May 14, 1870.)

FOURTH GENERATION.

205. Abigail[4] [63] (Stephen[3], Stephen[2], Samuel[1]); m. Abel Gage, of Pelham, N. H., Jan. 13, 1780; d. Aug. 2, 1825, aged 70. She was truly a mother, rightly guiding her household, and wisely training her children. Her advice and assistance were much sought for in her neighborhood, in cases of sickness and difficulty. Her husband was b. in Pelham, Nov. 18, 1755, — the day of the great earthquake, — and d. Sept. 3, 1846, in his 91st year. He served as a soldier in the Revolutionary war, during the year 1776, for which service he received a pension the last twenty-eight years of his life. Kept school several seasons in different parts of the town, in private houses, before school-houses were built, and when "reading, writing, and ciphering" were the only branches taught. He was active in all his employments, and possessed the confidence of his fellow-townsmen in so large a degree that he was elected as selectman more than half the years between thirty and sixty of his own age. Was also a devoted member of the church to which he belonged, and held the office of deacon about forty-five years, till the infirmities of age admonished him to resign. Having heard that granite ledges had been riven in pieces with wedges, in some distant locality, he resolved to try the experiment on his own farm, which abounded in granite, and was surprised at his success. His tools were of a primeval pattern, like the material on which he wrought; but it is claimed that he was the first in this part of the country to attempt stone quarrying, and to start that important business, which has reached such a height in Concord, N. H., Quincy, Mass., and other places. The centre meeting-house in Dracut, built about 1782, and the present town-house in Pelham, as it was originally, afford specimens of his earliest work. A tendency to mechanical pursuits, a taste for vocal and instrumental music, and a marked religious character, are noticed in this family. through their several generations. The parents, all the children, who lived to mature age, and a large majority of the grandchildren, have professed their faith in Christ. Children, all b. in Pelham: —

215. Enos[4] [64] (Stephen[3], Stephen[2], Samuel[1]), enlisted for the war of the Revolution at the age of eighteen, and, like other volunteers from northern Massachusetts, was at first enrolled with New Hampshire regiments. Hence his name appears on the military records of New Hampshire, first under the head of "Losses at the Battle of Charlestown, June 17, 1775," — "Enos Runnels, Capt. Moore's Co., Stark's regiment, £1 17*s*. 6*d*.," — which losses were made up to the soldiers out of the State treasury. Again, on the "Pay roll of Capt. Henry Dearborn's Co., Col. B. Arnold's Detachment," we have the signed receipt of "Enos Runnels, of Boxford, Joiner," to "Two months' pay, £4, Sept. 18, 1775." This proves that his enlistment, under Arnold, must have occurred in July, or immediately after his release from the Charlestown campaign (see below). Two deeds of his, "Apr. 20, 1779," forcibly suggest that sacrifice of home and property, — a portion, at least, of his paternal acres, — which he felt obliged to make, in order that he might serve his country faithfully to the last; while his reception at home, on a furlough, — probably just before this date, — afforded an incident of tender interest, as an absence of nearly four years, his hardships and exposure, and the terrible disease, small-pox, from which he suffered at Quebec, had left him in disguise, so that his mother at first supposed he was a stranger, while drinking at the family well in the door-yard! His final term of service expired not long before his marriage to Sarah Simmons, of Boxford, "published Feb. 2, 1782." He appears to have settled first, in Andover, where the birth dates of his two oldest children are found, as below; the others upon the Boxford records, on which "Enos Runnels" is found for the first time among the "Tax payers," in "1785." Later in life he changed the spelling of his name to "Reynolds," and this is retained by all his descendants. He held two commissions as "Ensign," the first signed by John Hancock, governor, June 17, 1786; the second, for a special service of four months, in 1787, "suppressing the rebellion in the western counties," of which he used to speak as his "Shay hunting"! He d. Aug. 11, 1845, in his 89th year. His excellent wife survived him nearly ten years, and d. June 25, 1855.

The following is extracted from the "Boston Atlas" of Aug. 16, the "Boston Post" of Aug. 21, and the "Christian Register" of Aug. 30, 1845: —

"The life of this Revolutionary soldier was more than commonly eventful. His first engagement was at Bunker Hill. He was in Stark's regiment, and that portion of it that started from Medford early in the morning and reached Bunker Hill 'along in the forenoon.' It marched to the redoubt, which was then full. Orders were given for it to take post on the left when the rail fence was commenced, and Mr. Reynolds aided in making it. Here he fought during the battle." . . . "His next service was as a volunteer in the expedition of Arnold to Quebec. He encountered the full hardships of that perilous enterprise. The night of his keenest sufferings on an island in the river was bitterly remembered. For thirty-three days on this march he did not sleep in dry clothes." "In December (1775), he was taken prisoner at the fall of Montgomery, and remained in the hands of the British till the succeeding October, though he always spoke with touching gratitude of Gen. Carleton for his humanity towards himself and fellow-prisoners. Afterwards enlisting for three years, he served in the northern army of Gen. Schuyler. Again taken prisoner by the Indians, and delivered to the British, he was lodged at Ticonderoga, but soon executed a daring plan of escape, with one or two others, swam the lake, rejoined the army under Gates, and saw Burgoyne surrender at Saratoga At the time of Arnold's treachery he was stationed at West Point, and performed guard duty in the same room with Maj. Andre on the last night of his life." "The war being over, Mr. Reynolds devoted himself to the labors of peace. He struggled manfully through all the trials that awaited the brave men of the Revolution." "He was first vice-president of the whig State convention in Faneuil Hall, Sept. 1842." "He was emphatically a good man and a practical Christian. Even the spirit of detraction never dared to utter an insinuation against his integrity of character or purity of purpose. It was his constant aim to make his life conform to the precepts of the gospel. His bodily strength was for several years prostrated by paralysis, but his mind was clear and his faith unshaken to the last. Through the intense sufferings of a six months' illness, he was never heard to utter a word of impatience; and a few hours before his death, he said, with earnestness, 'It is so, it is so!' in response to the lines, —

'Jesus can make a dying bed
Feel soft as downy pillows are.'"

"His decease left a melancholy void in the family, of which he was the head, and the object of love and veneration; in the town, of which he was a valued citizen; in the neighborhood, which he enlivened by his hospitality, and instructed by his wisdom and historic lore; and in the church, of which he was an exemplary member."

His granddaughter [636], in Texas, from amid scenes of peculiar national trial, pays the following tribute, — under date of Dec. 4, 1870, —

"TO THE DEPARTED HERO.

"Peace be to thee, dear honored sire;
Calmly thou sleepest in thy narrow home,
Bright gem in freedom's starry crown.
Thy mission here on earth is done;
Thy children's children speak thy fame,
Wafting thy praise on wings of love,
To freedom's children, ever sung,
And generations yet unborn."

341. Joseph[4] [94] (Samuel[3], Samuel[2], Samuel[1]). As early as "Sept. 21, 1780," he had conveyed to him by his grandfather and father, jointly, "two certain eighty-acre lots of land in Concord, N. H., lying at or near Horse hill;" and "Dec. 15," of the same year, "for £30, an additional six-acre lot in Concord."

Accordingly, having served in the Revolutionary war as a Massachusetts soldier, he m. Joanna Farnum, of Andover, Mass., in 1780 or '81 (1779 says one), and settled on one of the above lots, probably in the spring of 1781, being the second to make a clearing in that part of Concord. It is related that the same season he one day stuck a willow twig into the ground near his rude tenement, which he had used as a riding-stick from near the present village of West Concord. It grew into a wide-spreading tree, affording a delightful shade, till his children found it necessary to cut it down in the fall of 1871; when the stump, after a growth of ninety years, was found to measure, for its greatest diameter, seven feet and four inches! He appears, by the Rockingham records, to have sold one of his eighty-acre lots to Charles Emery, "Dec. 31, 1807." His wife was b. Hence, "May 31, 1797," he is still called "Samuel Runnels, Jr., of Boxford, Mass.," and deeded from "James Walker, of Concord, for $1,100, one hundred and eighteen acres, more or less, being the whole of Lot No. 98." This was the so-called "Walker lot," on which he settled as above, near the Contoocook River. He had been a shoemaker in his younger years, and had also pursued the study of mathematics, fitting himself for a land-surveyor and purchasing instruments, "Mar. 1796," with which he did much of the surveying in the vicinity of his new home for many years. He was a captain in the third company of infantry, eleventh regiment New Hampshire militia. In 1814, a company of "Home Guards" was formed in Concord, of persons exempt from doing military duty, and "Ex-Capt. Samuel Runnels was fourth sergeant." He was selectman of the town of Concord two years, 1816–18, and ever took an active part in the affairs of that part of the town where he resided. Was a famous hunter of pigeons in his time, capturing the birds in nets. United with the first Congregational church in Concord, Mar. 12, 1820, at the same time with his wife, and was a very constant attendant at the old North meeting-house, though living at a distance of seven miles. He is hence mentioned in the "Statesman" of Jan. 14, 1870, as one of the "portraits" in the "Old North Picture Gallery." 458. Stephen[4] [139] (Stephen[3], Ebenezer[2], Samuel[1]), m. Jane Brown, at Cambridge, Vt., Jan. 26, 1806, and located first as a farmer in Topsham, Vt., where his six oldest children were born. In 1818, he migrated to Ohio, and Apr 1, 1819, settled, as a pioneer, in McKean township, Licking Co. Built his log cabin in the woods, and moved into it the third day, without "chinking," flooring, or chimney, small timbers of split bass-wood being afterwards used for a floor. That year he planted two acres of corn among the logs, the product of which must needs be carried thirty miles to a grist-mill. Salt was brought from a distance of forty miles, costing five dollars per bushel, and the clothing of himself and family, taken from New England, when worn out, was in part substituted by buckskin. In 1821 and 1822, money was so scarce that he could realize only twenty-five cents a day for labor, and wheat, hauled to a distance of forty miles, he sold at twenty-five cents per bushel, sometimes for unbleached cotton cloth at fifty cents a yard! Amid such hardships and privations, his farm was successfully cleared up; but the completion of the Ohio canal, in 1832, made his circumstances easier, and he began to accumulate property. He took great interest in the educational enterprises of the new settlement. Having previously experienced religion, in 1827, under the preaching of a Baptist missionary from Connecticut, he became a faithful, devoted Christian, and was afterwards enabled to build a house, entirely with his own means, which was dedicated to the service of God. Benevolent and kind-hearted, he freely ministered to the wants of the poor, and was loved by all his acquaintances. He d. Oct. 30, 1844, aged 59. She d. Mar. 18, 1867. Children: —

472. Moses Thurston[4] [142] (Stephen[3], Ebenezer[2], Samuel[1]), was named after his grandfather, Moses Thurston, of Hollis, N. H., who, "at a religious conference, Apr. 6, 1800, while addressing the throne of grace, being fervently engaged, was called into eternity, and, without struggle or groan, resigned his spirit to God who gave it, in his 80th year" (Hollis Cemetery). Thrown entirely upon his own resources in early life, he had bound himself to a Mr. Melvin, of Cambridge, Vt., till the age of 21, but bought the remainder of his time, the year before, for the purpose of studying with his uncle, Rev. Stephen Fuller, of Vershire. Thus fitting himself to teach school, he engaged in that employment, for several winters, in Cambridge, Vt., Haverhill, Mass., and other places. In 1816, he went into business at Cambridge Borough, with Mr. Trowbridge, and there continued as a successful merchant, under the firms of "Trowbridge & Runnels," "Runnels & Hunt," and "Runnels & Willey," for about ten years. Was the leading business man in the place, and did much for its welfare, especially in his efforts to build the Congregational meeting-house, in 1825.

His secular affairs then took an unfavorable turn. He lost his health and most of his property by a series of misfortunes. He d. of a lingering consumption, Oct. 5, 1831, in his 42d year, "rejoicing in hope," and having united with the Congregational church by a profession of his faith in Christ, in his sick room, but a few weeks before his death. 658. Matilda Barker (Lund), b. Feb. 12, 1832.
659. Mary Isabella, b. Jan. 27, 1834; d May 19, 1865, aged 31. Her poetical effusions, as well as the testimony of her friends, give proof that she was both amiable and gifted, with rare qualities of mind and heart. We extract from a little volume entitled "Stray Leaves," published in 1867 (pp. 31–2), this beautiful "Birth-Day" tribute to her aunt, Matilda Barker [218], in 1864. Its allusions, as verified by the foregoing records, make it most an appropriate close to this generation of her grandfather's family: —

"A greeting from the homestead
Is sent to you this day,
To remind you that we're near in thought,
Though we seem so far away.

. . . .

"But not to these few hours alone
Are all our thoughts confined,
For they are flying far through air,
For thoughts are free as wind.

. . . .

"At seventeen hundred eighty-seven,
We see them pause with care;
For there they find a date is given
That marks a day most fair.

"For at that time one precious gem
To a golden chain was given,
That, when completed, numbered twelve,
But soon its links were riven.

"And still this glittering gem shines on,
In sunshine and in shade;
And many a heart, by its bright light,
Is warm and happy made.

"But He who gave its lustre rare,
And keeps it still undimmed,
Will place it in a brighter chain,
And take it back to him."

660. Mary Harris[5] [270] (John[4], William[3], Stephen[2], Samuel[1]), m. William Runnels Cole, of Boxford [266], Jan. 17, 1855. He was a farmer; served the town of Boxford as selectman, clerk, treasurer, and school committee, and d. Nov. 18, 1865, in his 49th year, at West Boxford, where she still resides (1869). Children: —

674. William George (Poor), b. June 13, 1858.
675. Minnie White, b. May 9, 1863.
676. Lincoln, b. Apr. 18, 1865, the Tuesday after President Lincoln's assassination.

677. Prudence Lavinia[5] [275] (John[4], William[3], Stephen[2], Samuel[1]), m. W. G. Richardson (second wife), see [671], Jan. 4, 1857, at West Boxford. He d., by a railroad accident, in Ohio, July 1, 1857. Child: —

678. Lizzie William (Richardson), b. Dec. 17, 1857, in North Andover; d. of diphtheria, at her uncle's [273], in Derry, N. H., Feb. 1, 1870, aged 12. The following lines, composed by "M. H. C.," of West Boxford, soon after her death, will touch a tender chord in many hearts. The writer was probably her aunt [660]; and the person addressed in the third line, the aunt at whose house she died: —

"'Kiss me, mother, I am going
Where the sick and weary rest;
Kiss me, Katie, raise me higher,
Lay my head upon thy breast.

"'No, I fear not the dark river, —
Jesus passed its gloom before;
Now I leave you: He will take me
O'er to yonder shining shore.'

"And thus sweetly, gently passed she
From our weeping gaze away;
Can we doubt her loving welcome
To the realms of endless day?

"O, be trustful! Do not question
Why, of all, the dearest go;
When we reach those blessed mansions
All these mysteries we shall know.

. . . . .

"Only through His grace to strengthen,
Can we ever hope to win;
Only cleansed in that dear fountain,
Can we hope to 'enter in.'"

679. Alfred[5] [283] (Stephen[4], Daniel[3], Stephen[2], Samuel[1]), was a graduate of Dartmouth College, in 1844, and had nearly finished his course at the Theological Seminary, Andover, Mass., when loss of health, and especially of sight, by a severe affection of the eyes, compelled him to abandon his studies and all hopes of laboring for Christ in the profession of his choice. Retiring to Derry, he took possession of the old homestead, and m. Maria Louisa Cushing, of Scituate, Mass., Nov. 26, 1854 (Dec. 15, 1852). She d. Oct. 15, 1857, aged 33. On her gravestone: "I shall be satisfied when I awake with thy likeness." He d. of consumption, Mar. 25, 1861, aged 49. His disappointment in not being permitted to serve his Master in the gospel ministry, seems largely to have influenced him in the making of his Will, which is found, for substance, as follows, in the Rockingham Probate Records, dated "Feb. 4, 1861": —

"He bequeaths to his brother Stephen Reynolds certain portions of real estate and $200; to Mary A. Taylor, wife of Robert Taylor, of South Boston, $100; to Sarah Moore, wife of George Moore, 2d, $25; to his sister Ellen Kent, wife of Richard Kent, Jr., $25; to his nephew Edward P. Reynolds, $100, against he is twenty-five years of age, or, in case he dies, to the American Board C. F. M.; to the last named Board, for Foreign Missions, $300; to the American Home Missionary Society, $300; to the American Education Society, $200; to the American and Foreign Christian Union, $100. He wills his pew in Derry meeting-house, No. 34, to his brother Stephen; a good set of gravestones to his mother's grave, and the residue of his property, after all payments and just debts discharged, to the above societies in proportion to bequests."

He seems thus earnestly to have desired that promotion of the cause of Christian truth by means of his property, after death, which he could not secure by personal labor and sacrifice, according to his intentions, during his earthly life.

680. William[5] [284] (Stephen[4], Daniel[3], Stephen[2], Samuel[1]); a farmer in Derry, having bought back the old homestead, — sold after his brother Alfred's death, — and there residing (1871). 979. Edwin[5] [459] (Stephen[4], Stephen[3], Ebenezer[2], Samuel[1]). After moving with his parents to Ohio, at the age of 12, his schooling was obtained in log school-houses, of the rudest construction, to which he was accustomed to walk three and four miles by marked trees. The seats and benches in those "nurseries of learning" were made of split timber, and oiled paper was used instead of glass for the intromission of light. To the kindness and thorough instruction of one Samuel Shaw, from Maine, who first taught him mathematics, he ever felt greatly indebted. Under the stimulus afforded by that teacher, he used to cipher by torch-light on pieces of hickory bark, and often till midnight. He afterwards attended school at the Granville academy, and began himself the occupation of teaching, in 1825, before he was eighteen years of age. Was almost constantly in the school-room, in his own and surrounding towns, till 1833; and, having gained notoriety as a teacher, he was afterwards, until 1846, frequently called to the most difficult schools, far and near, from which previous teachers had been ejected. Over three thousand different pupils, during these twenty years, were under his instruction, among whom were Samuel B. Curtis, William S. Rosecranz (both generals in the late war), Royal T. Wheeler, for many years a judge in Texas, and others who have since proved men of eminence. He was licensed to preach in 1836, and has exercised that vocation as opportunities occurred, though never as a settled pastor. Having chiefly resided as a farmer, near his father's original homestead, in Licking County, he has now become an extensive landholder, both in Ohio and Iowa. He m. 1055. Moses Thurston, b. June 13, 1870; d. suddenly, of brain disease, Oct. 24, 1871, aged 1 year 4 months. This darling child was taken at nearly the same age at which his father was left an orphan; and at the same age at which his grandfather was taken, his father was again left. The first and last of three successive generations, bearing the same venerated name, are thus joined in the spirit world. See [472]. As another striking coincidence, he died the same day on which his father, more than one hundred miles from home, in Jericho, Vt., was exhuming and removing, from a private to a public cemetery, the mortal remains of his grandfather, buried forty years before. His parents can only add, in the beautiful lines of Bryant: —

> "Oh! we shall mourn him long, and miss
> His ready smile, his ready kiss;
> The patter of his little feet,
> Sweet frowns, and stammered phrases sweet;
> And graver looks, serene and high,
> A light of heaven in that young eye;
> All these will haunt us, till the heart
> Shall ache and ache — and tears shall start.
> . . . . . .
> But he who now, from sight of men,
> We hide in earth, shall live again;
> Shall break these clouds, a form of light,
> With nobler mien and clearer sight;
> And in the eternal glory stand,
> With those who wait at God's right hand."

Mrs. Taber was assistant editor of the "Waverley Magazine" (published in Boston) at the time of her death, and for some years previously. Mr. Dow, in his tribute to her memory, in the "Waverley" for Aug. 27, 1870, says: "Her education and her natural talents fitted her especially for this position. Her fine poetic taste, her love of order, and her knowledge and appreciation of the beauties of the best authors, rendered her a valuable acquisition to our editorial circle." The Rev. James B. Miles, of Charlestown, at her funeral, ascribed to her "three traits which constitute a lovely woman": "a beauty and grace of exterior which is seldom seen;" "intellectual endowments which were far above mediocrity," and "a moral deportment and religious turn of mind which gave a finish to all." She was the secretary of the "Parker Fraternity Association," in Boston, and composed an ode which was sung at the anniversary of that society in 1870; the two last stanzas as follows: —

"But for all true and earnest souls
Life wears a fadeless glow;
For those who seek, with patient hearts,
Some fragrant blossoms grow;
The trust that faints and falters not
Will find the blessed way —
The golden rain of peace will fall
On all who work and pray.

"Then let our hearts be glad to night;
Bright Pleasure, linger nigh;
May happy meetings still be ours,
As years come gliding by;
Let Hope its smiling promise give,
Be Faith our guiding star,
Whose light shall lead us through the mists
That veil the 'gates ajar.'"

As illustrating the controlling sentiment of her own life, we add another stanza from a poem written by her for a previous anniversary of the same association: —

"Though we meet some 'tangled crossings'
In the mystic web of life,
And our years, though few or many,
May not all with joy be rife;
Let the seasons, hast'ning o'er us,
Find our hearts still warm and true,
Strong of faith and bravely earnest
In the work we have to do!"

PART II.

BEING A

OF

JOB RUNELS, OR RUNALS,

OF DURHAM, N. H.,

1713–1762.

INTRODUCTION.

TRADITION in Durham, N. H., and vicinity has been uniform that the earliest Runels or Runals ancestors in that town, by the names of Job and John, were brothers. This is also confirmed by the impressions of their oldest descendants, elsewhere met in later years, though not the slightest connection can be established, in this way, between these brothers and any other families of kindred name in Maine or New Hampshire, as noticed in the Appendix. There are, however, these three points of presumptive evidence that the brothers Job and John were also the brothers of Samuel, of Bradford, Mass., whose genealogy has been given in Part I.

1st. The existence of similar tradition or impressions, in both these Durham families, that their ancestors had "an older brother, Samuel, in Bradford, Mass.," with concurrent tradition in some branches of the family of Samuel, from individuals now passed away, that their ancestor had "two younger brothers who afterwards followed him from Nova Scotia to this country," and finally "settled in the New Hampshire colony."

2d. The similarity of Christian names; the names Job and John being favorite ones with the ancestor Samuel, as three of his children were thus called; and Samuel, on the other hand, being frequently found in the families of Job and John.

3d. The striking family resemblance which is found between many of the descendants of Samuel on the one hand, and of Job and John on the other.

For these reasons, though our relationship could not be substantiated in a court of law, yet we, the Runnelses and Reynoldses of Part I would hereby extend a cordial greeting to those of Parts II and III, as "Kinsmen and cousins, all."

FIRST GENERATION.

1606. JOB[1] is first mentioned in the Rockingham Deeds, "Nov. 13, 1713," when he is said to be "of Dover," and had conveyed to him from "Joseph Davice, for £28, 3 score acres of land lying on the West side of Wensday's brook."

This is probably the time of his settling, as a young man, in the then "Oyster river Parish" of Dover, afterwards Durham, now Lee, N. H. His residence was on the now beautiful slope of land, near the above-mentioned brook, a little south of the "Mast road," and between that and the present house of Thomas Chesley, where a solitary barn was standing in 1870.

About the same time (1713), he m. his wife "Hannah," who is said to have joined the church at Durham, under the Rev. Hugh Adams, "May 5, 1723" (see Hist. and Gen. Register, July, 1869).

She was living as late as "June 28, 1731," as under that date we have "Jobe Runels and Hannah," deeding "to John Bradford of Portsmouth, one third share of land in Rochester." She was also, more probably, the "Hannah Runnels," of Durham, mentioned "Feb. 3, 1748–9," as deeding "to Joseph Smith, all her right to the estate of her grandfather, Robert Burnam"; and if so, her maiden name may have been Hannah Burnam.

"May 29, 1719," his original sixty acres seems to have been increased by "30 acres more or less, in Oyster river, in ye township of Dover, in ye Province of New Hampshire," bought of "Naphalie Kincaid"; and "Jan. 31, 1726–7," by "a parcel of land scituate lying and being on ye south side of ye Mast path, against turtel pond, being the half of 60 acres," etc.

On the earliest town records of Durham, soon after its incorporation, "Mar. 18, 1733–4," we find a "Committee of freeholders" granting "to him his heirs and assigns forever, 25 acres of land"; and at a meeting in the meeting-house at Durham Falls, same date, another (?) "Committee of fifteen" is mentioned, "which was then chosen to divide the common and undivided lands as the maior part of them shall grant." "The names of the Committee are as followeth, Job Runals" heading the list. He was also the owner of landed property in other towns, as "Nov. 13, 1753," he deeded to Samuel Moore, of Canterbury, for £55, one home lot in the town of C., where we elsewhere learn he possessed an "original right."

He was living "Dec. 2, 1758," as he then conveyed to "Job Runels Jun. husbandman, my son," "100 acres of land, being all my homestead estate, whereon I now dwell." "Job Runalls Jun." is also mentioned in deeds of "July 6, 1754," and "Mar. 21, 1755"; but "Oct. 22, 1762," "Job Runells of Durham" bought of "Waldo Emerson of Wells, Me., for £60 lawful money of the Massachusetts Bay, a tract of land in Nottingham," and four days later, "Oct. 26," "Job Runels" sold the same "to Aaron Hays, for £66!" The nature of these two last transactions might lead us to ascribe them to the younger Job, in which case his father must have died before Oct. 22, 1762, so that the "Jun." had disappeared from his (the son's) name. If, however, they are ascribed to Job Runels, Sen., he was evidently still alive and active in Oct. 1762, but must have d. between that time and "May 1, 1763," when "Jonathan Runels yeoman of Durham" deeded "to Joseph Sias for £100, 5 acres of land, being Lott No. 25, which was proportioned unto my father, Job Runels, late of Durham deceased, in that division called the North River Lotts." The probable year of his birth was 1685, in Nova Scotia (?) (see Introductions to Parts I and II); and his corresponding age at death would be from 74 to 77, according to the times assumed above. No probate allusions to this ancestor are found, except the inventory of his estate, taken "Apr. 25, 1765."

His children, by his wife Hannah, were born in Durham; and, as nearly as can now be ascertained, in the years and order here assigned to their names: —

1607. Job [1615], b. 1714.
1608. Abigail (Nabby) [1620], b. 1717.
1609. Susan [1627], b. 1719.
1610. Enoch [1636], b. 1721.
1611. Mary [1639], b. May 15, 1724; from an old Bible at North Conway, N. H.
1612. Jonathan [1646], b. 1726.
1613. Hannah [1657], b. June 4, 1728.
1614. Samuel [1661], b. 1730.

SECOND GENERATION.

1615. Job[2] [1607] (Job[1]), inherited his father's home estate, as appears above, and is otherwise known to have occupied parts, at least, of the farms now owned in Lee, N. H. (1870), by Thomas Chesley and the widow of the late Hon. Jeremiah Smith. He afterwards divided his land between his two sons, Job and Miles, giving to the latter what is now occupied by Mrs. Smith, south of the road, as appears below. Quite early on the town records of Durham, we find him chosen one of five "Searvars of High Way"; and again "surveyor, 1762–3"; "fence viewer, 1758;" "tithing man, 1764." No later, on Durham records, than 1765, the Lee Parish being incorporated as a town, Jan. 16, 1766; after which, on the Lee records, we have "Lef. Job Runnals, Sessor," 1768 and 1769. His wife's name was Sarah; as "Apr. 29, 1771," "Job and Sarah R. of Lee," — his son Job not yet being married to Sarah Ellison, — deeded thirty-four acres of land to Jeremiah Burnam, of Durham; also "July 4, 1774," "to Simeon Taylor for £15, one half of a hundred acre lot," — probably in Canterbury, — "of which Job Runels deceased was the original grantee." "July 5, 1781," "Job Runals of Lee," to "John Colomy of New Durham," "all right to one hundred acres, in N. D." He probably died Apr. or May, 1785, aged 71, certainly between the two dates next given; for, among the deeds, we find that "Job Runals of Lee," — then living, — conveyed "to Job R. Jun. certain tracts of tillage land on the Mast road, and one half his pasture," "Mar. 26, 1785;" and, same date, "to his son Miles, a tract of land called the upper field," — on the present Smith farm, as above, — "and half his pasture;" while, also, from the Strafford Probate records we learn that "Sarah Runels widow of the late Job Runels" relinquished "all right in his estate to her two sons Job and Miles," "June 8, 1785," to whom the administration of his estate was granted at the same time. His widow m. John Hill, of Nottingham, for her second husband. Proof of this appears a few years later (1790, or 1793), when J. Hill conveys to Job Runnels "his right to dower of his wife Sarah, who was mother of the said Job and former wife of Job Runels late of Lee;" whose children, there born, were: —

1636. Enoch[2] [1610] (Job[1]). Very little has been learned of him or his family, after the most persistent inquiries, except by way of inference from seven different registries of deeds in the county records, and from two or three allusions in the State military papers, Adj. General's office, at Concord, N. H. He is said to have been a resident "of Lee," "Oct. 23, 1766," when he bought of "Henry J. Brown, for £38, 100 acres in the town of Canterbury, westerly side of Suncook river." He had settled in Canterbury, "Loudon Parish," "May 14, 1779;" was still in Canterbury, "Sept. 9, 1785," when he deeded to Samuel Morrill "a certain tract of land in the parish of Loudon, belonging to the original right of Job Runnels"; is called "husbandman of Canterbury," "Nov. 22," same year, receiving from Job Runnels, his nephew, of Lee, "for £100, 100 acres, Lot No. 39, 2d division," of which, fifty acres ("East half of one hundred acre lot No. 39") is conveyed to Samuel Weeks by "Enoch R. of Canterbury and Frances his wife," "Jan. 10, 1786," — thus only we ascertain his wife's first name; — and finally, "Mar. 1, 1788," "to Obadiah Clough, for £37, 53 acres, in the parish of Northfield," — now the town of that name, — giving us the probable location of his father's "2d division lot," above mentioned. He is known to have left Canterbury, probably soon after the last date, and to have settled and died in Canada; whence his only daughter returned and paid a visit to some of her distant relatives in New Hampshire many years ago. Tradition, in Lee and vicinity, reports him to have been a very large man, physically. His children were: —

1637. Enoch, b. 1754; said to have been "a husbandman of Lee," "21 years of age," in "List of Capt. Winborn Adams' Co.,"

"May 26, to Aug. 1, 1775;" "Miles travel 60, $^{5}|.$"; is afterwards mentioned as "Corporal, Capt. Smith Emerson's company, at Seavey's Island;" and finally, "in Capt. Emerson's Co. for 2d regiment, to join the continental army in New York, Sept. 16, 1776." (New Hampshire Military Papers.)

7. Hannah, b. 1793; m. William Hart, of Conway; d. 1831, aged 40; three children.

1646. Jonathan[2] [1612] (Job[1]), appears among the minor town officers of Durham in 1765, and again after Lee was set off, a fence-viewer in that town, 1779. He obtained by deed from Stephen Wille "33 acres of land in Nottingham," N. H., "Jan. 30, 1783." Had m Keziah Carter, 1754, who was b. Feb. 22, 1732, — "same day with George Washington," — and d. Nov. 1831, in her 100th year, having lived with her daughter, Mrs. Hines, in Nottingham, where she was lame and confined to her bed for many years. He d. prior to 1807, or early that year, aged about 81; as "Keziah Runels, widow of the late Jonathan R., of Lee, received right of dower April 14, 1808" (Strafford Probate Records); and "Widow Jonathan Runnels" first appears on the town records of Lee, as residing in the "Centre District, 1807"; also among the "Inventories," 1812 and 1815. The house where he lived and d. in Lee was on the spot occupied by Joseph A. Knights in 1871. Children: —

1660. Susannah (Langley), b. May 22, 1766; m. a Woodman.

1661. Samuel[2] [1614] (Job[1]). Less can be ascertained of him than of his older brothers, from public records or the verbal testimony of descendants, though there remains but little doubt that he was a soldier in the old French war. He was probably the "Samuel Runnells, sentinel," "entered Apr. 30; discharged Oct. 27, 1755," and belonging to Co. 6, in the regiment of six hundred men furnished that year by New Hampshire for service against Crown Point (see Vol. II. "Military History of N. H.," p. 137). He is known to have resided chiefly in Lee, and it is the common impression of at least two aged people in that town (visited in 1871), that he moved thence to Peeling (now Woodstock), N. H., in its early settlement, and there d. soon after, about the year 1774, aged 54; also, that he was twice married, having "two or three children by his first wife, who d. soon after the birth of the youngest"; and that he "m., 2d, Love Tibbetts, just before moving to Peeling, by whom he had no children." "She was many years younger than he," b. about 1750; and having returned to Lee, there lived to an advanced age, "bearing the name of Love Runnels as his widow." The names of his two youngest children, and the meagre facts respecting them, are wholly on the authority of the venerable Miss Joanna Farnham, formerly of Acton, Maine, and for many years a resident at the "American House," Boston. All attempts to obtain information respecting the Drew family, if a family, from other sources, have proved abortive. Children: —

1662. Samuel [1753], b. 1754, in Lee.
1663. Hannah, b. about 1756; m. a Drew, who settled "back in the country," probably in Albany, N. H., and is remembered by our informant (see above) from the circumstance of his "having no palate!"
1664. Lovey, b. about 1759; d. early in life. Her name favors the supposition that she might have been a child of his second wife, but this is emphatically denied by our informants in Lee, as above.

THIRD GENERATION.

"Five years have passed, since, full of hope,
I left this home to me so dear;
My body, but a wreck, is brought,
Now, to those friends that still are here,
Sorrows begun.

"Deep in the bowels of the earth
I 've sought the precious, glittering ore;
But God saw fit to change the scene,
And I shall never wander more,
Misfortune's son.

"Crippled! Yes, for the rest of life,
A helpless cripple I must be;
O God, lift up my sinking heart,
And give me power to say to thee,
'Thy will be done.'"

3. George Mason, b. 1849; m. Carrie Wilson, of Marblehead, Mass.; was the esteemed superintendent of the North Conway Congregational Sabbath School, and died, leaving a mournful void in many hearts, Mar. 1870, aged 21. His widow still residing at North Conway, 1871.

1741. Jonathan[3] [1654] (Jonathan[2], Job[1]), came to North Conway in 1790 to visit his two sisters, and there finally settled, receiving, jointly, with his cousin, Hezekiah Randall [1640], from "Joseph Whipple, of Portsmouth," "the intervale lot, No. 2, westerly side of Saco river, Nov. 17, 1792." The same year he m. Betsy Randall [1640, 2], the daughter of his cousin and partner. "Mar. 11, 1796," the said Hezekiah deeded to his children, "Jonathan Runnels and Betsy his wife, for $150, the whole of said lot No. 2, with house lot included." This was the farm afterwards occupied by himself and family, now owned by Isaac F. Davis. "Oct. 11, 1798," he deeded "to Samuel Bradley all his share of the original right of Nathaniel Eastman." He d. Apr. 27, 1825, aged 55; she d. Apr. 1830, aged 55, both at Conway, where were born: —

1742. JONATHAN [1823], b. July 4, 1793.
1743. LEVI [1829], b. May 20, 1795.
1744. BETSY [1836], b. Oct. 30, 1799.

1745. LEVI[3] [1656] (Jonathan[2], Job[1]), was a farmer at Lee, N. H., living in a house adjoining his father's, "Centre district, 1807"; m. Mary Watson, of Nottingham, 1796, who was b. July 14, 1774. He d. at Lee, Mar. 15, 1808, aged 34, and his widow received her right of dower "Apr. 14, 1808," same date with her husband's mother, see [1646], so that the two widows, of father and son, must have visited the Probate office for the same purpose at the same time! She rendered her account as administratrix, "Nov. 28, 1808," and "license to sell real estate of Levi Runnels" was granted "to Polly his wife, Jan. 24, 1809." Her name is among the Lee "Inventories" as the "widow of Levi," 1812 and 1815; and again, 1827, as "Widow Mary Runels." She d. Aug. 23 (24), 1864, at Lee, aged 90. Their children's names are given on the Lee records, with surname changed to "Reynolds," as follows: —

1746. ASA [1845], b. July 27, 1797.

1752. JANE, b. Nov. 15, 1808; d. at Lee, Oct. 2 (9), 1853, in her 45th year.

1753. SAMUEL[3] [1662] (Samuel[2], Job[1]). One of his descendants says that he was "probably the youngest" of his father's children; but this is on the mistaken supposition that he was the "brother of Job and Miles" [1617 and 1619]. By others of his descendants, and by the few aged people, still surviving, who knew him, his pedigree is now well established, as here given. It is further remembered that he "migrated from Lee to Shapleigh, now Acton, Me.," that at first he "located on Acton Ridge," and "worked for Daniel Fox, who had married his cousin," see [1633], "and had previously moved from Lee;" and that he afterwards "settled near Cesar's (Lovewell's?) pond, in the north part of the town." He m. Olive Farnham, of Acton, — sister of Ralph Farnham, "the last survivor of the battle of Bunker Hill," — in 1783; and d. of dropsy, Dec. 19, 1797, aged 43, in Milton, N. 1771. Thomas[4] [1677] (Job[3], Job[2], Job[1]), at the age of 18, was apprenticed by his father to a tailor "in a neighboring village," probably Dover. Being the youngest apprentice, he was kept by his master at outside drudgery, and was not permitted to "learn the trade" according to agreement. He therefore left the place, after a few months, and returned home. His father approved his course, and soon after accepted his proposition to give him his time, with two hundred dollars, and allow him to "paddle his own canoe." Thus, at nineteen years of age, he located in Portland, Me. (then a part of Massachusetts), rented a shop, hired a first-class foreman, took his seat on the bench, — still as master of the establishment, — and was soon found driving a popular trade, with several hands in his employ, at what would be called, in modern parlance, "a clothing emporium." He continued in this business, with increasing success, till after the war of 1812, near the close of which the tide of his affairs turned, and he became bankrupt by losses on sea and land, though chiefly by "being surety" for some of his friends. He next resided in Durham, Me., a little more than three years ; but, in 1818, joined a colony for the "Far West," consisting of about ten families, with whom he settled in Manchester, Dearborn Co., Ind. Here he lived as a farmer, and working at his trade winters, till his death, May 7, 1843, aged 68, "in great peace, and in the blissful hope of a happy immortality." He had m. Sally True, daughter of William and Mary True, of Durham, Me., Nov. 27, 1800. She was b. May 31, 1782, and survived her husband, on the old homestead in Indiana, though in feeble health, till Nov. 28, 1847 ; when, in her 65th year, she, too, as surviving friends have every reason to believe, "exchanged her earthly home for the home of angels and the palace of her God." Children : —

1772. William [1924], b. May 1, 1802, in Durham, Me.

FIFTH GENERATION.

1924. William[5] [1772] (Thomas[4], Job[3], Job[2], Job[1]), united with the Methodist Episcopal Church when a child, in Maine, and felt, after moving to Indiana, an often-recurring impression to consecrate himself to the gospel ministry. Resisting this positive call to duty for several years, he was at last "thrust into the Lord's vineyard" by the Rev. John Strange, in the spring of 1824, and placed, as third preacher, on the Madison circuit, Indiana. The next fall, he was admitted on trial in the old Ohio conference, then embracing nearly the whole State of Ohio, Michigan Territory, and portions of other States. Over much of this territory he travelled, as an itinerant minister, for nearly thirty consecutive years. In 1828, when on the Delaware circuit in Michigan, he had thirty-three standing appointments each month. The two following years were spent at a station on the Sandusky bay. The glorious revival, "beginning in the old cooper's shop," and the building of the first meeting-house in what is now the beautiful city of Sandusky, — with lumber brought in schooner from Detroit through a terrific gale, — afford some of the most pleasant personal reminiscences of his itinerant life. Appointed to the Tiffin station in 1837–8, he was presiding elder of that district for the four following years; was delegate from the North Ohio conference to the most memorable of all the general conferences, at New York in 1844; but in the fall of this year, being thrown from his horse, and badly breaking his right limb, the idea of "location" was first suggested, though not finally realized, till 1851. From this time, for fifteen years, continuing his residence in Wellington, O., he preached to that one people over twelve hundred times, and saw the log-cabin meeting-house exchanged for one of the most tasty and substantial brick church edifices in Northern Ohio; that, too, in the face of the expressed opinion of another, that "a local preacher of the Methodist church is nothing but a cipher!" (The above is substantially from the "Cincinnati Christian Advocate" of Nov. 4, 1868.)

In 1865, he removed to Cleveland, O., his present residence, 1872, where, at the age of 70, he is still able to work six days in the week for a living, and gladly to preach on the seventh, "without money and without price." He m. Clarissa House, at Perkins, O.,

This distressing accident occurred at half-past nine on Saturday evening, August 15th, at the house of a neighbor; hence the allusions in the following "Lines," being the first of several stanzas, composed on his death by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Nellie A. Reynolds [2121], and afterwards printed : —

"'T was evening, and his work was done, —
His six days' toil was o'er;
A happy boy he left his home, —
Came back, alas, no more!

"He, with his friends, upon the hill
Had often met to sing;
But now ambition led him on
Into the fatal swing."

His brother Joseph F. [2044] also dedicated a few verses to his mother, — in view of this and her previous affliction, — of which are the following : —

"There 's been a shadow in our home, —
A dreary void within my heart, —
Since Anson, dear, went down alone
Into the shadowed valley dark.

. . . . . .

"A sister, too, was called, before
She ever dreamed of earthly care;
But they will meet together now,
And know and love each other there.

"Her gentle tones, — his loving smile, —
Will never, never greet us more,
Till, freed by Christ from earthly guile,
We meet them on that brighter shore."

Baker, of Iowa, formerly governor of New Hampshire), Mar. 31, 1869, at Des Moines, — alluded to in the "Register" of Apr. 1, as a "noted marriage," performed in the Episcopal house of worship. He was soon after appointed U. S. Consul at Tunstall, Staffordshire (near Manchester), Eng.; returned from England, and commenced the practice of law in Iowa, 1872; also noticed in the "Clinton (Iowa) Herald," of June 28, as "a gentleman of literary culture," lately "added to the editorial corps of the 'Des Moines Register.'" Child: —

2125. Mabel, b. July 8, 1870, in Tunstall, Eng.

2126 Jay[6] [2061] (Alvah[5], Samuel[4], Samuel[3], Samuel[2], Job[1]), is a blacksmith, residing, 1870, in Lowell, Mass., at 8 Ray Street; m. Margaret Ewing Jack, of Acton, Me., at Milton, N. H., Jan. 8, 1868; she was b Dec. 31, 1849, in Burlington, Mass. Children: —

2127. Mary Sabery, b. Oct. 12, 1868, in Milton.
2128. Edith, b. June 25, 1870, in Lowell.

PART III.

BEING A

OF

JOHN RUNELS, OR RUNALS,

OF DURHAM, N. H.,

1718–1756.

INTRODUCTION.

It is quite certain, as shown in the former Introductions, that the ancestors Job and John, of Parts II and III, respectively, were brothers. There is also a tradition in one branch of the family of Samuel (Part I), that one of his two younger brothers who followed him to New England, "remained near him for a time" in Bradford, or Boxford, Mass., "before finally settling in New Hampshire;" that he "lived on the other side of the pond" (from his brother's), and that he "spelled his name differently."

It seems probable that Samuel [1] may have had a brother John, from the circumstance of his giving that name to two of his male children, [4] and [5], Part I, and that the two brothers may have been living near each other at the time of those children's births. We only know that John was several years later than his brother Job in settling at the Oyster River Parish, — then of Dover, — since Durham and Lee, N. H., and that he may have halted first in Exeter, on his way from Bradford, as seen by comparing the deeds below.

No traditional connection whatever can be found between his and the Owen Runels family also of Exeter and Stratham, as mentioned in the Appendix. The latter seems to have passed in its migrations from Stratham to Chester, N. H., and John Runals, on the supposition already given, could only be said to have crossed its track, at Exeter, moving in another direction, from Bradford, Mass., to Dover.

Tradition among the descendants of John says that "his family originated in Ayrshire." This substantiates the supposed Scottish origin of John and of his older brother Job; but it must refer to their origin prior to their grandfather's settling in Nova Scotia, on the supposition that they were also the brothers of Samuel.

The broad Scotch orthography, "Runals," and even "Ronals" (as it may have been pronounced), instead of "Runels," prevailed in the family of John more than in that of Job; so that many of his (John's) descendants, who did not change the spelling to "Reynolds," have retained that of "Runals," or "Runnals," even to the present. But, for the sake of uniformity, we make no change in the page headings, especially as "Runnels" is also found in several branches of this family, and even "Renels" appears in the two earliest deeds, as seen below.

FIRST GENERATION.

2129. JOHN[1]. The earliest authentic record of this ancestor is found among "Early Marriages in Durham" (New England Historical and Genealogical Register for 1869), where he is said to have been married at Durham, N. H., "by the Rev. Hugh Adams, to Hannah Clark, Dec. 23, 1718." This was probably his second marriage, as shown below, and he was then a resident of Exeter, if the "John Renels of Exeter," mentioned in deed of "Aug. 26, 1719," were the same as the "John Renels of Dover," recorded "Oct. 20, 1721," as purchasing "from James Bassford, of Dover, for £12, a certain tract of land lying and being in Dover, between Lamperell river and Oyster river, near ye point, it being twenty acres which was originally granted in 1662 unto William Roberts."

On this supposition, he must have moved from Exeter to Oyster River — perhaps, back with his wife to her former home — between 1719 and 1721, and became the possessor of his first real estate in Durham, as above described. He appears, from the following, also to have owned and disposed of land, north of his brother Job's, and not far from the later "Randall place," in Lee; "April 14, 1722, John Runals, of Dover," deeded "to William Rendal, for £30, ten acres, on south side of Mast Path, that goeth to Little River"; and that his land in this part of the parish extended north of the present road towards Wheelwright's pond, is proved from the fact that "Jan. 31, 1727–8," he deeded "to Joseph Jones ten acres, more or less, being in ye township of Dover, on ye north side of ye mast path that leads down to Oyster River Falls, between said path and Wheelwright's pond."

The "Committee of Freeholders" of the new town of Durham granted to him, also, as to his brother Job, "twenty-five acres of the common lands," "Mar. 18, 1733–4" (Town Records); also other lands to himself in company with James Head, which he afterwards increased by buying out Head's share, "six and one fourth acres, for £12, Oct. 28, 1735;" and same amount at same price from "Richard Blanchard, July 12, 1736" (Rockingham Deeds).

His original purchase probably constituted his home in Durham, in the south part of what is now Lee. Perhaps the following indicates the same location: "Oct. 27, 1748, John Runals of Durham" deeded "to Joseph R., tanner, of Dover, his son, for £30, the tract of land called the Hook, in Durham, south side of Lampereel river." His non-resident estate is shown by these two deeds, "Jan. 3, 1726–7, John Rennels, and Hannah R., of Dover," "to John Pray, of Portsmouth, one third part of one full share of the town of Rochester, for £5:" and "Feb. 15, 1754, John Runnals, of Durham, to M. Connor, of Kingston, one whole share in the town of Canterbury."

The following copy and abstract of his will are appended, as the only sure guide to his family record: —

"June 20, 1756, I, John Ronals, of the town of Durham, in the Province of New Hampshire, in New England, being sick and weak in body, but of perfect memory and sound disposing mind (Thanks be given unto God therefore); Calling unto mind the mortality of my body and knowing that it is appointed for all men once to die; do make and ordain this my last will and testament. That is to say, principally and first of all, I give and recommend my soul into the hands of God, That gave it; and then my body to the dust by a decent Christian burial, at the discretion of my executor, nothing doubting but at the general resurrection I shall receive the same again, by the mighty power of God; and after my funeral charges defrayed [and] my just and honest debts paid, I will, devise and dispose of the remainder of my worldly estate, wherewith it hath pleased God to bless me with in this life, as follows.

"To my beloved wife Hannah, two cows, my riding mare, and eight old sheep, and one third of all my other estate. To my son John, £50 old tennor to be paid four years after my decease. To my son Abraham, £60, old tenor, within six months after my decease. To my son William, £50, o. t. in 18 months. To my daughter Elizabeth Snell, £25 in 12 mos. To my son Joseph, all my farm or homestead estate, where I now live in the town of Durham [widow's third excepted], immediately after my decease. To my daughter Sarah Bunker, £25 in two years. To my son Stephen, £50, when he gets to 14 years of age, and to be maintained out of my estate and live with his mother till then. To my son Solomon [same as last] also a gun. To my daughter Deliverance, £25 [on same conditions as two last] and all my household movables forever. To my son Winthrop [same as Stephen]. To Hannah Willee and Elizabeth Willee, £25 each, to be paid 12 months after my decease. Finally, my son Joseph Runals is ordained and constituted my sole executor in trust, to see this my last will and testament performed and fulfilled." (Rockingham Probate Records.)

He must have died between June 20 and "Dec. 28, 1756," and if born, as supposed, in 1689, was about sixty-seven years of age. Under date last quoted, the inventory of his estate is reported, "taken by Hercules Mooney and Benjamin Drew," "as shown unto us by Joseph R., of Dover, administrator," etc. "Homestead place valued at £2000, old tenor; House on said place, at £700; Barn, ditto, £300, and part of saw mill in Durham, £60." His son Joseph rendered his account as administrator of above estate, "Dec. 19, 1758," but did not himself finally settle it, as "administration of John R's estate, with his will annexed, is again granted to Lydia Runnals, widow and administratrix of Joseph, Feb. 25, 1767."

As the date of his son Abraham's birth is well authenticated among the latter's descendants, as given below, and as his son

John was doubtless older than Abraham, it is safe to surmise that he — John, the father — was twice married, having the two first children, named in will, by his first wife. who died soon after, May 23, 1718 ; while he m. Hannah Clark, as his second wife, at the first date given in this record, by whom the eight remaining children.

As the Probate records tell us that " Deliverance, a minor child of John Runals, was upwards of fourteen years of age, Dec. 13, 1758," when " Hannah R. was appointed her guardian and gave bonds," we assign to Deliverance the place of Stephen (in the will) ; otherwise, the order of the will is observed in the following list of his children, their births being assumed from the will itself where not obtained from other sources : —

2130. JOHN [2141], b. 1716 (first wife (?)).
2131. ABRAHAM [2142], b. May 23, 1718.
2132. WILLIAM [2155], b. 1721 (second wife (?)).
2133. ELIZABETH [2163], b. 1724.
2134. JOSEPH [2166], b. June 10, 1727.
2135. SARAH [2175], b. Aug. 4, 1731.
2136. HANNAH [2186], b. 1734.
2137. DELIVERANCE, b. 1743.
2138. STEPHEN, b. 1744.
2139. SOLOMON, b. 1746.
2140. WINTHROP, b. 1749. The unusual coincidence is worthy of notice, that the four oldest children of his son Joseph, see [2166], were named after these four youngest of his own family. From this circumstance, and the fact that no further trace of these four youngest can be obtained, it is presumed that they all died at an early age, and soon after the date of their father's will, being then under fourteen years of age.

SECOND GENERATION.

2141. JOHN[2] [2130] (John[1]), located in Barrington, N. H., about "Oct. 10, 1743," as we then find "John Ranells Jun. of Durham, laborer," purchasing "50 acres in B., from Thomas Snell, one half of 3d lot, 1st range." To this he added by purchase of "land in Barrington" from "George Sherburne of Portsmouth, for £20, Jan. 10, 1757." His first wife's name was Abigail, as seen by deed of conveyance dated "Apr. 20, 1757," in which we have "John Runels and Abigail his wife, of Barronton." She must have d., and he had m. Eleanor, for his second wife, before "Mar. 17, 1763," when we find "John and Ellenor Runels of Barrington" deeding land in B., to John Mow, for £500. From other deeds we learn that he owned one "whole right of land in Loudon," made over by himself and Elenor his wife to "Peter Rawlings, Dec. 22, 1783"; was called "Capt. John Runnals, Aug. 13, 1784"; increased his estate at two different times by some sixty acres, and did not die till after "June 7, 1785." He had, however, willed to his wife Eleanor, "Sept. 2, 1784, the use and improvement of his estate in Barrington until Isaac and Hannah Runnals," see [2199 and 2200], "children of Isaac, late of Barrington, come to lawful age, — his wife to bring up said children, — when one third falls to herself and two thirds to the children." His kindness to the grandchildren of his brother Abraham, and the interest both of himself and wife in those children, as made orphans by the Revolutionary war, are worthy of commendation. His widow, though appointed executrix of his will, must have died in about a year after her husband; as we find on the Probate records, appended to his will, "Aug. 16, 1786, the executrix being deceased, administration on the above is granted to Abraham Runnals next of kin," who afterwards received license from Judge Badger, at Gilmanton, Sept. 21, 1792, to "sell certain tracts of land which belonged to the estate of John Runnals late of Barrington," and accordingly conveyed the same, one to Thomas H. Lewis, of Kittery, Me, "Oct. 19, 1792," and another to Thomas Langley, of Lee, "Nov. 8, 1792."

2142. ABRAHAM[2] [2131] (John[1]), was "tithing man" in Durham, 1764 and 1765; also in Lee (set off from Durham, 1766), 1767 and 1768. His name then disappears from the Lee Records, and reappears on the New Durham Records several times in 1773 and from 1780 to 1797, as "fence viewer," or "tithing man." Having exchanged his land in Lee at £80, for one hundred acres in New Durham at £60, with Gideon Mathes, of Lee, — both deeds bearing date "Apr. 25, 1772," — he soon after moved, with his numerous family, to his New Durham home. His improvements here had scarcely commenced, when he responded to his country's call, — showing his genuine Scotch spirit against the English, — and on July 16, 1775, joined the American army at Winter Hill, when more than fifty-seven years old. "Four of his sons embarked in the same cause, — bearing the motto, 'Victory or death,' — two of whom perished in the conflict" (Rev. E. Place in "Morning Star" of Apr. 28, 1847). Some of his descendants allege that he had "six sons and two sons-in-law in the revolutionary war"; but this lacks confirmation; Mr. Place's is doubtless the true account. It is also stated that during the time of his service, his wife, daughters, and daughters-in-law "carried on the farm themselves, and made clothes or knit socks and mittens for their husbands and brothers, or for general distribution among the soldiers." We next find him (Abraham) in "Capt. John Brewster's company; from Sept. 3 to Dec. 7, 1776; 95 days; 35 miles travel; place of abode New Durham." Again, in "Col. Pierce Long's regiment, Jan. 13, 1777," when he signs a receipt ("Runls") for "£2 advance pay"; and yet once more on the alert, old as he was, the New Hampshire military records giving his name in "Capt. Gilman's company, Stickney's regiment, Stark's brigade, July 20, 1777"; on a "march to reinforce the northern army," from which, however, he was "discharged Sept. 30." This was probably "for disability," as tradition has it in his family; as also that "his son James," being free from prior engagements, "took his place."

The original one hundred acres, in New Durham which was improved at first, as above stated, and was afterwards occupied by him, included nearly the farm owned in 1869 by Baalis B. Tibbets, in the south part of the town. He seems to have been a practical or assistant surveyor, when he first came to New Durham, as a deposition of his is found on the Strafford records, dated "Nov. 28, 1793," that he assisted one Timothy Murray "some time before the civil war between Great Britain and the United States of America began," in running out a lot of land in New Durham; that "a certain beech tree was marked by them at corner of Lot 3, 1st division, and that a certain stone, placed by David Elkins this day, stands where the beech tree stood, or not more than six feet from it"

He m. Hannah Smith, 1744. She was b. June 30, 1718, being a granddaughter of the venerable Rev John Buss, who was settled as second minister and physician of Oyster River parish, in 1674, continued for thirty-three years, lost his house and valuable library in the Indian attack of 1694, and d. in 1736, aged 108. She was blind for twenty years, was an eminently pious and devoted Christian, and d. Feb. 13, 1812, aged 93 years 7 months 13 days.

He had previously d. July 24, 1804, aged 86 years 2 months 1 day. Both were buried in a small and now neglected inclosure on the old homestead above mentioned. The following list of their "eight sons and four daughters," — though in part traditional, and hence uncertain, — is yet believed to be substantially correct: —

2143. ELIZA (Elizabeth) [2189], b. Apr. 1745. Her age at death, as well confirmed among her descendants in Vermont, as also the alleged years of her children's births, induce us to place her birth before her seven oldest brothers', though there is some authority for calling her younger than they.

2144. ABRAHAM, b. 1746; d. young, in Durham, or Lee, as is most probable; though one of the descendants of Jonathan affirms that he grew up, was m., and served and d. of sickness in the Revolutionary army; called also "Benjamin," erroneously.

2145. JOHN, b. 1748; one authority only for the name of "Peter." This was the oldest of the "four brothers" who entered the army, and he may previously have m. He was doubtless the "John Runnels in Henry Dearborn's Co., Stark's regiment," to whom "£3" is assigned among "Losses at the battle of Charlestown, June 17, 1775" (N. H. Military Records); probably also the "John Reynolds" enlisted July 22, 1776, for Canada, in Col. Daniel Moore's (?) regiment, losing his life soon after in that expedition, as one of the "two sons" who is known to have "perished" early "in the conflict."

2146. ISAAC [2198], b. 1749.

2147. JAMES [2201, b. Jan. 25, 1752.

2148. SAMUEL [2208], b. July 16, 1754.

2149. NATHANIEL [2219], b. 1756; neither himself nor his son Abram are now remembered in New Durham, as the son and grandson of Abraham, which makes the relationship, to some extent, a matter of doubt and of supposition merely; but see [2407].

2150. JONATHAN [2222], b. Aug. 16, 1758; is known to have been a "seventh son."

2151. HANNAH, b. 1760; d. young.

2152. ALICE [2230], b. Mar. 2, 1762.

2153. JUDITH (Ruth or Rhoda), b. 1765; d. young.

2154. EBENEZER [2238], b. 1768.

2155. WILLIAM[2] [2132] (John[1]). His name appears upon the Durham records as "Informer," in 1758; "Informer of killing deer," 1760–1761, and "Field Driver," 1764. His wife was Lydia, as mentioned in his will, "May 23, 1773"; "to receive one half the farm as long as she lives." He d. before "Feb. 9, 1774," as his oldest son was at that time appointed administrator of his father's estate. The true definition of an "administrator," as one "who administers upon the estate of an intestate," seems not to be observed in many of the old records. He was a blacksmith, in Lee, and may have occupied the stand, since removed, near the present town-house on Lee Hill, which Nathan Runnels, his son, is remembered to have owned. His children, as named in the will, cannot be traced, except the oldest. They were: —

2156. MOSES [2243], b. 1752.

2157. HANNAH, b. 1754 (?); to receive, by her father's will, "£2—10 shillings and one cow."

2158. ISRAEL, b. Nov. 1757; was "under sixteen" at the time of his father's will; to receive "£5." His name is found among twenty-one "men who went from Lee" to the Revolutionary war; was enrolled in Capt. F. M. Ball's (?) Co., "Apr. 18, 1777," as being then "nineteen years of age"; also among "men that enlisted from the parish of Lee, before the year 1778, that are now in the Continental army, June 30, 1781." On the military accounts, £25, 8s. 4d. is at one time credited to him for service.

2159. STEPHEN, b. 1759; same mention made of him in the will, as of his brother Israel, above, and his military record is the same, except his enrolment in Capt. Ball's company, under date, "Jan. 24, 1777," then said to be "seventeen years of age." He is also noted in "Capt. Goss' Co., Nichols' regiment, Stark's Brigade," as enlisting, "July 20, 1777," and "discharged Sept. 28," with "travel to Stillwater"; also twenty-five days from "Aug. 6, 1778," going in Dan (?) Emerson's Co., Nichols' regiment, to Rhode Island, and finally he is noticed twice ("Stephen Runels, of Lee"), as serving in Capt. A. Perkins's company, at Portsmouth, 2 mos. 18 days at one time, 1 mo. 30 (?) days at another, receiving for the latter £2.

2160. NATHAN, b. 1761 (?); £5 by his father's will; was settled as a blacksmith at Lee Hill, see above; hence, "Oct. 16, 1793," he is called "Nathan Runels of Lee, blacksmith," receiving from Joseph Meeder, "13½ acres near land of Elijah Cartland," which he deeded to James Jenkins, "Feb. 15, 1796." He also deeded to William Runals, of Lee, probably his nephew [2244], his blacksmith's shop and tools, "Nov. 13, 1797." He is reported to have had a son Israel.

2161. DEBORAH, b. 1764 (?); to receive by her father's will "£2—10s." "against she is eighteen."

2162. BETTY, b. 1766 (?); had the same bequest by will.

2163. ELIZABETH[2] [2133] (John[1]), m. Solomon Snell, of Barrington, 1743; hence mentioned accordingly in her father's will, 1756. Children: —

2164. SAMUEL (Snell), b. 1744; is called "a minor upwards of fourteen years of age" in 1758; when his uncle Joseph Runnels was appointed his guardian, his father, "Solomon Snell, late of Barrington, yeoman," having previously "deceased."

2165. EDWARD, b. 1748; was in the Revolutionary war, Dearborn Drew's Co. (?); was "wounded," and probably died; in consideration of which, his brother "Samuel Snell received pay from the Treasurer, 1777." (N. H. Military Records.)

2166. JOSEPH[2] [2134] (John[1]), was a tanner, and settled at first in Durham, "Oyster River," where his three oldest children were born of his wife Lydia, whom he m. 1749. Received land from E. Davis, in Durham, "at a place called the Hook," "July 8, 1751." But "Feb. 11, 1754, Joseph Runels, of Dover," deeded "the Hook in Durham, to Samuel Burley, of New Market, for £500." He is called "Joseph R., tanner, of Dover," in four other real estate transactions, up to "Nov. 2, 1763." He d. in Dover, 1765, aged 38. Administration of his estate granted to Lydia, his widow, "Apr. 3, 1766"; inventory taken "April 30," including "forty-five acres of land in Durham, with orchards and buildings thereon," probably inherited from his father, "at £180," and "five acres of land, with house and barn, bark-house, work-house, tan-yard and orchard," — probably in Dover, — at only "£60"! (perhaps a mistake of the transcriber). License to sell his real estate granted to the said Lydia, "Feb. 12, 1767"; but as she m., 2d, James Libbey, of Dover, Aug. 31, 1768, a similar license was renewed to Libbey, in respect to the sale of fifteen and one half acres of his land in Lee, "May 12, 1779." His estate was not finally settled till more than ten years after. His old account-book, as a tanner, in Dover, is now in the possession of his grandson George [2605], of Bangor, Me.; a choice and truly valuable relic, as in it is found the following complete and well authenticated list of his children, with their birth dates, — the four oldest being evidently named after the four youngest of John[1], as elsewhere shown; see [2137–40]: —

2167. Stephen, b. Feb. 10, 1750, in Durham; supposed to have d. young.
2168. Solomon, b. Nov. 5, 1751; appears from the Lee records to have been living in the "Centre District" of that town as late as 1815; but there is no evidence that he had or left a family. He was in the Revolutionary war the first year, as, among the New Hampshire military papers, we find in "Capt. Winburn Adams's Co., June 2, 1775, Solomon Runals, tanner, of Durham, aged 23." His business is thus identified. John Smith, selectman of Durham, under date "May 1, 1776," certifies to "Solomon Runals," among "the names of non-commissioned officers and soldiers from Durham, who were in the Continental service the summer past, and have engaged for the current year."
2169. Deliverance, b. Mar. 25, 1753; "1752" on the record must be a mistake; is also supposed to have d. early in life.
2170. Winthrop [2247], b. Feb. 28, 1754 (elsewhere 1755), in Durham.
2171. Mary [2261], b. Apr. 27, 1755 (6), in Dover.
2172. Hannah [2264], b. June 8, 1757.
2173. Joseph [2274], b. Aug. 4, 1759, in Dover.
2174. Benjamin [2285], b. July 21, 1765, in Rochester.

2175. Sarah[2] [2135] (John[1]), m. Jonathan Bunker, of Durham (Lee), Dec. 1749, and moved with her husband to Barnstead, N. H., in 1770, when her sixth child was ten years old. He built the first mill on Suncook River, in B., at what is now Barnstead Parade. She was a Quaker by persuasion, and of most estimable character. After settling in Barnstead, she used to go over into Pittsfield, nearly two miles, by spotted trees, to do her baking, till, in the course of three or four years, an oven of rock was built near her own dwelling. At the age of 94, "she spun and reeled one skein of cotton yarn in a single hour," notice of which exploit was given to a newspaper by her neighbor, the Rev. Enos George, much to her annoyance. "I would not have spun it," said she, "if I had known Friend George would put it in the papers." All her sons were soldiers in the Revolutionary war, except Eli, on account of his being a miller, and Obadiah on account of his youth; also two sons-in-law. He d. Sept. 1796, aged 67; she d. Jan. 26, 1826, in her 95th year. Children, all born in Durham except the youngest: — 2176. Isaiah (Bunker), b. Oct. 1750; a soldier in the Revolution; m. Betsy Smith, and settled in Maine.

2177. Bradbury, b. 1752; m. Sarah Tibbetts; a drummer in the Revolutionary war, and d. of fever while in service.

2178. Sobriety, b. 1755; m. Samuel Williams, of Barnstead, Apr. 7, 1777; a Revolutionary soldier, afterwards settled in B.

2179. Sarah, b. 1759; m., 1st, Bradbury Sinkler, June 26, 1777. He d. in the Revolutionary service soon after enlisting. She m., 2d, Henry Tibbetts, of Barnstead, Dec. 15, 1778, and settled in Northfield, N. H.

2180. Joseph, b. 1758; d. as a soldier in the Revolutionary war, 1776, aged 18.

2181. Eli, b. Apr. 22, 1760. At the age of 10, he drove the ox team which carried his mother and the younger children from Durham to Barnstead. He gave the land for Barnstead Parade, on condition that a Congregational meeting-house should always stand upon it, and built the first foundry at Gilmanton Iron Works. The Rev. Mr. George says of him, "He was one of the first settlers in Barnstead, and lived to see a wilderness changed to a fruitful field." He m. Anna Gordon, of New Hampton, N. H., Jan. 30, 1783, and d. 2198. Isaac^{3} [2146] (Abraham^{2}, John^{1}), settled in Barrington, near his uncle John's [2141], and m. Anna Ham, daughter of Joseph Ham, of B., 1770, who was b. 1750. He responded to his country's call soon after the breaking out of the Revolutionary war, see [2142], and is noticed in the New Hampshire military records as "Ensign in Co. Six, Capt. John Hill's Co., on Seavy's Island," for the defence of Portsmouth, "Nov. 5, 1775." Was afterwards "Lieutenant in Capt. Daniel McDuffee's Co., Col. Evans' regiment." "Entered Sept. 8, 1777," and "died Nov. 15, 1777" (aged 28). "Time" of service, "2 months 8 days'; "travel" awarded "to New Windsor and Bennington," showing that he was with the "Northern Army," and "sum due, £18 7s. 2d." Referring to the same service, he is elsewhere mentioned as "2d lieutenant of Co. Four, in Whipple's Brigade," which "marched to Saratoga and assisted in compelling the surrender of Burgoyne, Oct. 17, 1777." He is reported by some of his descendants to have been "killed in battle" on this expedition; but he was only wounded, probably in the "second severe engagement" which preceded the surrender, when the British General Fraser was killed, and he seems to have died of lingering sickness, connected with the wounds thus received, as the New Hampshire military treasurer reported among "sums paid for sick and wounded soldiers, as follows": (. . .) "To Ann Runnels, for Lieut. Isaac R., "Evans's regiment, £14 6s." His wife is said to have "died of grief," probably at Barrington, soon after receiving news of his death; see also the will of John Runnels [2141]. His brother Samuel was administrator of his estate, and presented inventory of "34 acres of land in Barrington, May 8, 1786," the same, doubtless, that he purchased of Jane Larey, of Somersworth, for £50, "Apr. 16, 1773" (Rockingham Deeds). His children, b. in Barrington, were: —

2199. Isaac [2294], b. 1771.
2200. Hannah [2309], b. 1773.

2201. James[3] [2147] (Abraham[2], John[1]), being present at the marriage of his brother Isaac, in Barrington, he there became acquainted with the bride's sister, Tamson Ham, whom he afterwards m., 1774. She was b. 1748. He was chosen "Fence Viewer" and "Tidden man" at New Durham, Mar. 6, 1775, but entered his country's service the following season with his father and brothers, see [2142]. He is thought to have served continuously as a soldier till 1779–80, as he is not mentioned on the town records again till Mar. 1780, when he was chosen one of the "Sevars upon the rodes." No record of that army service is found among the New Hampshire military papers, till "July 20, 1779," when he enlisted in his brother's company, "Co. Six, Col. Hercules Mooney's regiment, continental service, under Gen. Sullivan, for the defence of Rhode Island. A sergeant at first, he was promoted to ensign, in the same company, "Sept. 16, 1779," and so continued till "Jan. 17, 1780," "4 months 2 days." He was the only soldier in that expedition from New Durham, — beside his brother Capt. Samuel, — as we have a "Record for one soldier who served in R. I. for New Durham, six months, and traviling fees, £42," with his name appended, as "James Runnells." It is certain, however, that he served under various enlistments prior to 1779, once for "about six months, taking the place of his father Abraham, who returned on account of disability"; this is according to tradition in the family, the validity of which is not impaired by the mere absence of his name before 1779, from the confessedly confused and imperfect "military papers" in the Adjutant General's office of New Hampshire. He remained in New Durham till after 1783, being "drawn, as grand juror," that year (Town Records); but soon after moved to Ossipee, N. H.; there resided as a farmer, and subsequently at Tuftonborough, where he d. Apr. 9, 1844, aged 92. He was a firm, consistent member of the Free Will Baptist Church for sixty years, having joined the first church of that order ever organized, and being appointed a "Ruling Elder" in the days of Randall. She d. at Tuftonboro', 1847, aged 99. Children: —

2202. John [2320], b. 1774 (5), in New Durham.
2203. Joseph [2323], Jan. 5 (6), 1777.
2204. Mary [2332], b. Dec. 18, 1780.
2205. Samuel [2336], b. Jan. 6, 1783 (2).
2206. Anna [2345], b. Nov. 11, 1785.
2207. Tamson, b. Nov. 24. 1789; d. at her sister's, last named, in Tuftonboro', Oct. 15, 1854, in her 65th year.

2208. Samuel[3] [2148] (Abraham[2], John[1]). The following is, in part, an abstract of the sketch of his life, by Rev. E. Place, in the "Morning Star" of Apr. 28, 1847. "When sixteen years of age, he heard Whitefield preach his last sermon, at Exeter, Sept. 29, 1770, from 2d Cor. xiii. 5. The preacher died the next morning at Newburyport; his young auditor was left under powerful conviction, but afterwards became careless as before. At the age of 21, he joined the American army at Winter Hill," as before stated, [2142]. "In July, 1776, he was with Gen. Sullivan at Crown Point, N. Y., and was left by the General for some time at that place, in charge of all his baggage and papers. Was also with Sullivan at the bloody battle of the Brandywine, Sept. 11, 1777, and at Germantown, Oct. 4. With the same General again in Rhode Island, in 1778; and the next winter was sent to Geneva, N. Y., from which expedition he returned home, bearing (without knowing it) a captain's commission for himself in a letter to Gov. Meshech Weare." Hence his name now first appears in the Adjt. General's (published) Report, — in which names of Revolutionary officers only are given, — as "Captain of a Co. in Col. Hercules Mooney's regiment for the defence of Rhode Island," serving from "June 30, 1779, to Jan. 16, 1780, 6 months, 18 days, (£) 48 | ." Also on the New Hampshire Provincial Records, "July 17, 1780 made out commission for Capt. Samuel Runnels appointed to com mand a company on the western frontiers"; and July 18, the same ordered to proceed to Haverhill on Connecticut River, and take under his command one of the companies [of Rangers] raised for defence of the frontier." One account among different branches of his descendants, makes him to have continued in the service longer, to have acted as aide-de-camp of Gen. Washington, and to have been with him at the surrender of Cornwallis. But, if so, it must have been a special service subsequently entered, for Mr. Place informs us that in November, of 1780, "he resigned his commission, and immediately enlisted as a soldier under the Prince of Peace, with Randall as sub-leader instead of Washington." After finally returning home, he received various tokens of respect from his fellow-townsmen of New Durham, being elected assessor two years, 1784–5; moderator of town meeting two years, 1786–7, and first selectman four years, 1788–91. He received a justice's commission, in 1795, — first noted on the town books, 1797, — and in this capacity he decided, during his life, seven hundred and forty-five cases, only eight of which were ever appealed to a higher court. Being a leading member and ruling elder of the new Free Will Baptist denomination, he obtained an act from the General Court of New Hampshire, Dec. 11, 1812, for a "Charitable Society" for the widows and orphans of deceased ministers, and continued President of that Society for twenty years. From the Dover Registry of Deeds, we learn that he purchased land in Rochester, — perhaps intending to settle there, — at five different times, in all one hundred and thirty-nine acres, between "May 7, 1781," and "Apr. 29, 1786," a portion of which he sold in the meantime. His homestead in New Durham was two or three miles north of his father's, and one mile from the present Downing's Mills. Whether this was the "100 acres, in N. D.," deeded to him by his father, "for £300, Feb. 19, 1787," or a part of two hundred and thirty acres, probably in N. D., received from Paul March, of Portsmouth, Mar. 2, same year, is uncertain; but the time of his first occupying his homestead is thus reasonably fixed. He bid off twenty-five acres for taxes in the "Gore of New Durham" (now Alton), added to his

N. D. estate at three different times, up to 1795, — a portion of which he conveyed to Joseph L. Wille, "Aug. 6, 1793," but was still left an extensive land-holder in New Durham, at a time, however, when land was very cheap. He also came in possession of Lot No. 81, in Barrington, "the original right of Job Runnells," which he sold to John Foss, 4th, of B., Dec. 17, 1789. The final result of these transactions was not to enrich himself, though he also received a pension of three hundred dollars annually, and so late as Oct. 26, 1841, when nearly eighty-eight years of age, he made the following peculiar record of his worldly estate: —

"Accumulated in sixty years		$28,510,
Expenses of family, said time . .	$18,405,
Given to family, on settlement . .	6,515,
Given to the poor and needy, and to various benevolent societies . . .	1,750
Lost in bad debts	1,257
Property on hand, real and personal .	583 !
Total as above	$28,510."

"The general character of this eminent servant of God was worthy of all praise. His success was owing, under God, to his perseverance in whatever he undertook. In all religious exercises he was marked by true devotion, and great humility, with frequent falling tears." His acceptable efforts at religious meetings in his old age, are still remembered in many places, as at Andover, N. H., where he was accustomed to visit his daughter residing in that place. "He was always at public worship on the Sabbath; heard, in later life, more than two thousand sermons, as by record kept, and travelled seventeen thousand miles to monthly, quarterly, and yearly meetings, and to general conference." He was the intimate friend and co-laborer of the Rev. Benjamin Randall, and superintended his funeral, Oct. 26, 1808, which is said to have been "conducted with great quietness, decorum, and simplicity," though "few, if any funerals, in New Hampshire, ever have had so large an attendance" (Dr. Joseph Fullonton in "Morning Star" of July 31, 1872). In stature he stood six feet, of large size, a commanding countenance and dignified deportment. He d. at N. Durham, Mar. 21, 1847, in his 93d year. His funeral was attended by several ministers, — sermon by Rev. E. Place, — and he was buried near his house, his gravestone bearing this appropriate inscription: "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints." He m., 1st, Mary, daughter of Paul March, Esq., of Portsmouth, 1783. She was b. Nov. 16, 1754, and d. Dec. 16, 1843, aged 89; (gravestone): —

"Rest, mother, rest; life's toils are o'er,
Now death has set thee free;
Though thou art seen by friends no more,
With Jesus thou shalt be."

He m., 2d, Mrs. Dorcas Ricker, Nov. 26, 1844, who d. June 8, 1847, aged 78 years 4 months; (gravestone): —

"From mortal cares to seats of love
The sacred spirit flies;
On wings of faith she soars above,
And rests beyond the skies."

Children, all b. in New Durham, as per town records: —

2209. Sarah (Sally) [2350], b. Feb. 1, 1784.
2210. Nathaniel Brackett [2357], b. Nov. 18 (19), 1785.
2211. Polly (Mary) [2364], b. Apr. 19, 1787.
2212. Betsy [2369], b. Sept. 18, 1788.
2213. Paul March [2376], b. June 6, 1790
2214. Hannah [2378], b. June 1, 1792.
2215. John Smith [2382], b. July (Feb.) 27, 1794.
2216. Nancy Burton [2389], b. Mar. 23, 1797.
2217. Deborah, b. Jan. 9, 1799; d. of fever at New Durham, Jan. 27, 1816, aged 17.
2218. Samuel [2394], b. Oct. 15, 1801.

2219. Nathaniel[3] [2149] (Abraham[2], John[1]), was not in the Revolutionary war, but is supposed to have settled in New Durham, as he is known to have had the two following children, born in New Durham: —

2220. Abram [2407], b. Mar. 1797.
2221. Hannah, "who was younger, and lived at least to the age of seventeen." Also "one other son and one other daughter," whether younger or older, does not appear, "who died in infancy."

2222. Jonathan[3] [2150] (Abraham[2], John[1]). There is a tradition among some of his descendants, that he earnestly desired to join his father and brothers in the Revolutionary war, and was only dissuaded by the entreaties of his friends, being but sixteen years of age at the breaking out of hostilities. Afterwards, being still prevented by circumstances from entering the army he seems to have led, through his disappointment, a somewhat restless life, for a few years, and at last found his way to Concord, N. H., where he m. Dorothy Dimond, 1779. She was b. July 27, 1758, the daughter of Ezekiel and Miriam Dimond. He "was once more in readiness to enlist," for the campaigns of 1779 and 1780, and was again prevented by the sickness of his wife, which continued for more than a year. "He used to pray most devoutly to the God of armies, that his dear wife might recover her health, and he thus be permitted to fight the battles of his country." He was a very sympathetic man, and never spoke of his brothers, lost in the war, without tears. "Was never known to speak a harsh or unpleasant word." Being the "seventh son" of his father's family, he was consulted, according to the custom of the times, by hundreds of people, for the cure of scrofula and other diseases. A deed among the Rockingham Records speaks of him as a "Clothier of Concord," receiving "May 1, 1787," from Ezekiel Dimond, "a certain part of the stream called Turkey river, beginning at the mouth of Great Turkey pond, and extending down stream to the head of the lesser pond; also one half of the fulling mill on said premises, — all Dimond's right and title to the same, — together with a dwelling-house near by." He also bought of D. Carter, "Oct. 21, 1799," "a small piece of land in Concord, lying upon Turkey Upper Falls, so called." He soon after moved to Deering, where he d. Apr. 18, 1804, in his 46th year. She d. at Deering, July 10, 1825, aged 67. The following register of their children — born in Concord except the fifth — is mostly from Bouton's History of Concord: —

2223. Samuel [2411], b. July 30, 1781.
2224. Miriam [2423], b. July 3, 1783.
2225. Ezekiel Dimond [2434], b. Jan. 21 (22), 1786.
2226. Abner [2440], b. Mar. 2, 1789.
2227. James [2448], b. Mar. 28, 1791, in Pembroke, N. H.
2228. Israel [2454], b. July 14, 1793.
2229. Jonathan Currier [2463], b. Sept. 29, 1795.

2230. Alice[3] [2152] (Abraham[2], John[1]), m. Daniel Colomy, of New Durham, N. H., Dec. 1, 1780, and d. Feb. 15, 1830, in her 68th year. He d. Mar. 22, 1830. Children: —

2231. John (Colomy), b. May 20, 1782; see [2196].
2232. Abraham, b. Dec. 10, 1784.
2233. Isaac, b. June 28, 1788.
2234. Jacob, b. May 16, 1790; d. Oct. 23, 1834, aged 44, being killed by the caving in of a well.
2235. Daniel, b. Aug. 9, 1792; m. Rebecca Pinkham, July 11, 1819, who was b. May 15, 1799. Children: —
1. John, b. Feb. 29, 1820; see [2794].
2. Charles, b. Feb. 3, 1822; a carpenter at Alton Bay, N. H.; m. Augusta Nute.
3. George Washington, b. Sept. 25, 1824; a shoemaker and farmer in Farmington, N. H.; m. Hattie Richardson; three children.

8. Mary Jane, b. Jan. 30, 1835; see [2809].
9. Sarah Elizabeth, b. May 16, 1837; m. John Plummer, of Sandwich, N. H.; two sons.
10. James Pinkham, b. Feb. 7, 1843; was a soldier in the 4th Co. New Hampshire cavalry, and d. Jan. 7, 1862, in his 19th year.
2236. Peggy, b. Mar. 9, 1795.
2237. Molly, b. May 2, 1797.

2238. Ebenezer[3] [2154] (Abraham[2], John[1]), received by deed from "Amos Place, of Rochester, thirty acres of land in Middleton," N. H., "Nov. 4, 1786." He is called in this deed "Ebenezer Runals, of Barrington," showing that he first lived in that town. The time of his settling in Middleton is thus approximately ascertained, where he m. Betsey Stanton, of M., 1788. He atterwards located in New Durham, and there d. Sept. 1847, aged 79. She d. at N. D. with her youngest daughter, Oct. 1836. Children, born Middleton: —

2239. PATIENCE [2475], b. 1789.
2240. ALICE (Elsey) [2481], b. Mar. 11, 1793.
2241. JAMES [2489], b. Oct. 26, 1794.
2242. ELIZABETH [2495], b. June 13, 1799.

2243. MOSES[3] [2156] (William[2], John[1]), m. Sarah Crosby, the adopted child of Paul Tasker, of Barrington, 1771, and after "administering" upon his father's estate, 1774, see [2155], receiving by will "one half the farm," "a colt, a cow and blacksmith's tools," he entered the Revolutionary service. Is noticed among the "soldiers from Lee" in connection with his brothers [2158] and [2159]; has "£35 15s. 4d." against his name on account; said to be "twenty-five years of age, Apr. 18, 1777," when a member of "Capt. F. M. Bell's Co."; enrolled in "2d Co., 2d regiment, Col. George Reed's, for the years 1777–9"; "amount of depreciation, $171.50"; "amount of wages, 1780–1, $80," and lastly, noted as "now in the Continental army, June 30, 1781" (N. H. military papers). Soon after this latter date, he was discharged, went to procure his pay, and was never heard from afterwards. He is supposed, therefore, to have d., perhaps, by violence, 1781–2, in his 30th year. His wife was b. 1752, and d., his widow, Apr. 18, 1814, aged 62. Their children, b. in Lee, were: —

2244. WILLIAM [2500], b. May 25, 1772.
2245. POLLY [2514], b. 1774.
2246. SARAH [2521], b. 1777.

2247. WINTHROP[3] [2170] (Joseph[2], John[1]), was a joiner by trade, and is said by his descendants to have been early "in the Revolutionary war at Ticonderoga." The military records say he was "mustered at Kingston, by Josiah Bartlett, Aug. 13, 1780," and that he "enlisted for Barrington to recruit the New Hampshire regiments in the Continental service, Dec. 31, 1780." This proves he had settled in B. prior to that date. He lived, finally, in the east part of Barrington, on a small farm given him by his last wife's father, and was there killed by the falling of a tree, Jan. 13 (gravestone), more probably, as by family record, Feb. 15, 1832 (1), aged 78. He was four times m.; 1st, to a daughter of the Rev. Samuel Hutchins, of Lee, 1780, by whom his oldest child. She d. 1781, near the birth of her son. He m., 2d, —— Ricker, of Somersworth, 1782, by whom his second child; m., 3d, Lucy Stone, of Ipswich, Mass., 1783, by whom third and fourth children; m., 4th, Hannah Locke, of Barrington, 1791, who was b. Dec. 16, 1767, in B., and there d. Aug. 21, 1846, in her 79th year. Her will appears on the Strafford Probate records; abstract as follows: To her sons Winthrop ("my oldest"), Jacob K., and Ephraim F., $3.00 each; to George F. and Samuel L., $1.00 each; to Elizabeth L. Weeks, a bed, and other articles of furniture; to Job F., "all my real estate, or in case he is without heirs, the same to Winthrop Reynolds, son of my son Winthrop, now residing in Boston"; also "to Hannah L. Reynolds, of Boston, daughter of Winthrop, my black silk," and other articles of apparel. His children, as here given, are mostly from the Barrington records, on which the name is spelled "Runnels," though "Reynolds" has since been adopted by the family: —

2248. JOHN [2523], b. 1781, in Lee (first wife).
2249. ELEANOR (Lucy) [2527], b. 1782 (second wife).
2250. HANNAH [2529], b. Mar. 2, 1784, in Lee (third wife).
2251. EDWARD T. [2540], b. July 17, 1785, in Durham.
2252. WILLIAM, b. Sept. 23, 1792, in Barrington, and there d. of brain fever, Dec. 1813, aged 21.
2253. WINTHROP [2542], b. Mar. 2, 1794, in Barrington.
2254. SAMUEL LOCKE [2552], b. Sept. 16, 1795.
2255. GEORGE FOOTMAN, b. Jan. 26, 1797; d. 1798, aged 1 year.
2256. GEORGE FOOTMAN [2554], b. Oct. 9, 1799.
2257. JOB FOSS [2559], b. Feb. 19, 1801.
2258. JACOB KITTREDGE [2561], b. Apr. 8, 1803.
2259. EPHRAIM FOSS [2567], b. Dec. 27, 1804.
2260. ELIZABETH LOCKE [2572], b. Mar. 12, 1807.

2261. MARY[3] [2171] (Joseph[2], John[1]), was m. to Jacob Garland, of Durham, Dec. 25, 1774, by the Rev. Jeremy Belknap, D. D., at Dover. They resided in Durham, near New Market, where he d. of spotted fever, about 1820, and she soon after, aged 66. Children: —

2262. FRANCIS (Garland), b. about 1778; resided in Kennebec County, and Portland, Me., and in Boston, Mass.
2263. JACOB, b. about 1780; resided at Great Falls, N. H., and Sanford, Me.

2264. HANNAH[3] [2172] (Joseph[2], John[1]), m. David Ham, of Dover, N. H., July 9, 1776, at D. He was the ninth son and eleventh child of Dea. Daniel Ham; baptized, 1756; was a soldier in the Revolution, "leaving his two oldest as young children at home," hence, probably, not earlier than the year 1780; d. 1811. The following list of their children agrees, mainly, with the published record of the "Ham Family in Dover," by John R. Ham, M. D., "N. E. Genealogical Register," Oct. 1872, p. 392: —

2265. JOSEPH (Ham), b. Jan. 28, 1779; was a boatman on the Cocheco river, and d. at Dover, Jan. 1852, aged 73; eleven children.
2266. HANNAH, b. Mar. 3, 1780, at Dover Neck; m. John Young, of D., and moved to Tuftonboro', N. H, where she was still living, with her son, in 1870. Of her children: —
    1. JOHN H. (Young); resides at Tuftonboro', "Mackerel Corner."
    2. MARK F.; resides in Stratham, N H.
2267. BETSY or ELIZABETH (Ham), b. June 3, 1783; m. Jonathan Gage, of Dover Neck, 1817, and there d. July 11, 1862, aged 79. Her son: —
    1. MOSES (Gage), still occupies the homestead on Dover Neck.
2268. SARAH (Ham), b. 1788 (?); m. Moses Sawyer, of Dover, and d. in Ossipee, where her son, —
    1. DAVID (Sawyer), now resides.

1. Nathaniel J. (Pinkham), b. Oct. 15, 1821.
2. Edward J., b. Apr. 16, 1823; a merchant in Somersworth (Great Falls).

2270. David (Ham), b. 1793; went to sea in 1814, and d. in Liverpool, Eng., soon afterwards, aged 21.

2271. Robert, b. June 8, 1796; lived at Great Falls, and there d. Aug. 1861 (?), aged 65. His widow still living with her daughter: —
1. Rebecca, who m. Charles H. Gilman.

2272. Daniel (Ham), b. 1798 (?); resided in Dover; d. suddenly on his way home from Barrington, 1833, aged 35 (?). Children: —
1. Abigail; m. Stephen Otis, of Springvale, Me.
2. Rufus; resides in Boston, Mass.

2273. Mary (Ham), b. 1805; m. Nicholas Tripe, of Dover; resided in Charlestown, Mass., and d. at Dover, June 21, 1866, aged 61.

2274. Joseph[3] [2173] (Joseph[2], John[1]), appears as a Revolutionary soldier among the "twenty-one men from Lee"; afterwards as "enlisted for three years from New Durham" (at which place he must have been temporarily living), "in Capt. Drew's Co."; also, referring, probably, to the same enlistment, among those "raised for Canada, Col. Evans, 1776"; again, "in the Continental service returned by Capt. Boody," and finally, "Jan. 12, 1781," after his term of service had expired, he is noticed among soldiers entitled to "extra pay" on account of "depreciation" (N. H. Military Papers). He was also enlisted as a privateer's man at one time during the Revolution, on the testimony of his surviving children, who further say of him, — what is verified by his early enlistment at the age of 17, — that "he was of an enterprising nature, and of rather a military turn through life." His business was that of a tanner, like most of his father's family. He m. Abigail Pinkham, at Dover, Dec. 17 (19), 1780; all his own children are said to have been b. in that part of Rochester which is now Farmington, where he first settled. He afterwards lived in Dover, and there d. Mar. 20, 1846, in his 87th year. His family record is found on that choice old "account book" of his father's, see [2166] and [2605], as follows: —

2293. Isaac Randall [2651], b. July 13, 1808, in China.

FOURTH GENERATION.

2294. Isaac[4] [2199] (Isaac[3], Abraham[2], John[1]), was brought up by his Uncle Samuel [2208], after the death of his parents, "till old enough to shift for himself." "Apr. 23, 1799," together with his sister Hannah, he deeded the land in Barrington, — "thirty-four acres, owned by our late honored father," — to Jonathan Glass, of Nottingham, for $204; having previously purchased fifty acres in Gilmanton of David Ames, for $360 ("Mar. 18, 1799"), which he sold to John Mooney, of New Durham, for $400, about two years later. Gilford, N. H., was afterwards his home, from which place he enlisted for one year, "Mar. 26, 1813, in Capt. L. B. Mason's Co."; was at Portsmouth, as a soldier, and drew a pension, accordingly, in after-life. He again lived in Gilmanton after his third marriage. 2391. Samuel Runnals (Philbrick), b. Dec. 22, 1822; studied medicine in South Berwick, Me., with Dr. Charles Trafton; took his medical degree at the University of Pennsylvania, receiving also a diploma from the "Medical Society of Massachusetts," "June 12, 1856." He was first established as an apothecary and manufacturing chemist in Boston, firms of "Colcord & Philbrick," and "Philbrick & Trafton." His attention being early called to the manufacture of coal oil, he became one of a company for that purpose in Waltham, Mass. He was afterwards the leader of a colony which formed a settlement called Merrimack, near the Asphaltum lake on the island of Trinidad, S. A., for manufacturing oil from the contents of the lake; but the enterprise was only partially successful. He m. Almira T. 3227. Joseph Andrew, b. Apr. 23, 1856, in Stowe; d. at Duxbury, July 6, 1864, aged 8. His moral nature was uncommonly developed for one of his age. Much of his conversation with his grandmother, a few hours before his death, is, for sentiment, embodied in the following lines, afterwards addressed to her by a friend, the first being in imitation of Pope, "The Dying Christian's Address to his Soul": —

"What is this that stealeth o'er me?
Drowns my spirit, draws my breath,
Chills my heart with dewy dampness?
Tell me, grandma, is this death?

"Shall I soon pass o'er that river, —
Not dark, but bright with Jesus' love,
As when he blessed the little children,
And gained for them a home above?

"'In my Father's house are many mansions,'
There I shall surely find a home;
Surrounded by the holy angels,
I'll wait there, grandma, till you come.

"I know, when spring again shall open,
And bright flowers are all in bloom,
'T is then you 'll miss your little Andrew,
Sleeping sweetly in the tomb.

"Not there will be the loving spirit, —
No, ah, no! that dwells on high;
Returned again to God who gave it,
No more to sin, no more to die.

"O, glorious hope! do not reject it;
That Christ our sins has washed away;
With his own blood he gave the ransom,
Then from His arms I would not stay."

APPENDIX.

APPENDIX.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE.

The chief object of this Appendix is to preserve in a permanent form, for the aid of future genealogists, such notes and items respecting other Reynolds and Runnels families as came to hand incidentally, while the author was collecting materials for the main body of his work. These families, of course, could not be fully traced without swelling the book to an inordinate size, and delaying its issue far beyond the expectations of those interested in the preceding parts. The records are, therefore, fragmentary, desultory, and imperfect; mere names are given in many cases, and there has been no opportunity to substantiate the doubtful or reconcile the conflicting allusions; but the author flatters himself that the more laborious and competent annalists of the numerous Reynolds families in our land, who may yet appear, will feel grateful for the notes and suggestions herein contained.

The remark has been well made, that any attempt to trace and connect all the Reynolds families, even in this country, would prove almost as fruitless a task as to do the same with the families of Smith or Brown. Still it is to be hoped that different individuals may yet be encouraged to trace out different branches of that truly honorable name.

A.

THE EARLIEST REYNOLDS FAMILIES OF NEW ENGLAND; WITH RECORDS AND NOTICES OF THE DESCENDANTS OF ROBERT REYNOLDS, OF BOSTON, 1632–1659.

SAVAGE'S Genealogical Dictionary mentions the twenty-two following as being heads of families in New England prior to 1690, and as bearing the names, chiefly, of "Reynolds, Renold, or Renolds." Here given in chronological order, and numbered consecutively for reference. The notes in quotations directly after the names are from Savage.

3276. RICHARD, "passenger, 1634"; probably the same mentioned in the "N. E. Gen. Register," Vol. 9, as "Richard Reynolds, passenger to New England, Mar. 24, 1633."

3277. JOHN, "Watertown, 1634; freeman, May 6, 1635; wife's name Sarah (?)." This is probably the John who is known, from other sources, to have been the brother of Robert [3278], to have moved with his brother from Boston to Watertown, and afterwards, in 1636, to Weathersfield, Conn. Savage says he "removed again before 1644 to Stamford," Ct. Bond's Hist. of Watertown spells his name "Reinolds," and says he "went from Weathersfield to Saybrook, and d. as early as 1662."

3278. ROBERT [3298], "Watertown, 1635."

3279. WILLIAM, "Duxbury, 1636; m. Alice Kitson, Aug. 30, 1638."

3280. WILLIAM, "Providence, 1637."

3281. WILLIAM, "Salem, 1640." We elsewhere learn that he was admitted to the church in Salem, 1640, and moved to Providence, perhaps following Roger Williams, in 1641. From these ancestors and others mentioned below, who settled in Providence and vicinity, the very numerous Reynolds families now in Rhode Island are doubtless descended. No less than seventy individuals of this name were found in the Providence city directory in 1871.

3282. HENRY, "Salem, 1642, Lyme, 1647"; perhaps returned to Salem, as Henry Renolds deeded land in Salem to Thomas West, "Apr. 29, 1665," and may have been the "Henry Reinoles, on petition against imposts, Massachusetts, 1668" (N. E. Gen. Reg., Vol. 9). The "Inventory of Henry Renolds, of Salem," was rendered "May 13, 1693, £19- 19s." (Essex Prob. Recs.).

3283. JAMES ("Renell"), "Plymouth, 1643. To Wickford, R. I." The N. E. Gen. Reg., Vol. 4, also says "James Renell, Plymouth, Aug. 1643."

3284. JOHN, "Isle of Shoals, 1647."

3285. NATHANIEL [3299], "son of Robert [3278], Boston, 1657."

3286. JOHN, "Saybrook to Norwich, 1659"; probably the "Raynolds" mentioned in N. E. Gen. Reg., Vol. 2, as found "among the first inhabitants of Saybrook," and afterwards "in Norwich," Ct.

3287. JOHN, "Weymouth, 1660."

3288. THOMAS, "New London, 1664"; may also have been the "Thomas Rennolds, Westerly, R. I., 1669" (N. E. Gen. Reg., Vol. 10).

3289. JOHN, "Weathersfield, 1667"; probably son of [3277].

3290. JONATHAN, "Stamford, 1667"; perhaps the same as "Jonathan Renalds" in list of citizens in Greenwich, Ct., 1672 (N. E. Gen. Reg., Vol. 4), and probably another son of [3277].
3291. ROBERT, "Boston, 1670"; cannot be identical with Robert [3278]; see [3298]; was probably a fisherman, lived at Pulling Point.
3292. JOHN.
3293. JOSIAH and
3294. SAMUEL ("Ronalls"), "perhaps brothers at Wickford, 1674, may have spelled variously."
3295. JOHN, "Providence, 1676."
3296. FRANCIS, "also"
3297. HENRY, "probably a brother, Kingstown (Naraganset country), 1686."

From the above ample storehouse of genealogical material, in the names of ancestors, as afforded by Savage, we are now only able to select, for more particular mention, —

3298. ROBERT[1] [3278]. From well authenticated private "records of long ago," he is known to have been in Boston in 1632, where he is mentioned as a "shoemaker and freeman, Sept. 3, 1634"; shortly after to have moved to Watertown, Mass, — hence Savage's allusion [3278], — and finally to have migrated "with his brother John" to Weathersfield, Conn., — hence "was dismissed by the church, Mar. 29, 1636, to form a church at Weathersfield." He soon returned, however, to Boston, and there lived and d. Apr. 27, 1659. Hence his will is referred to, "N. E Gen. Reg., Vol. 9," "Boston, 1658–9." His wife's first name was Mary. She d. Jan. 18, 1663. Children, all b. in England: —

3299. NATHANIEL [3304].
3300. RUTH; m. John Whitney.
3301. TABITHA; m. Matthew Abdy.
3302. SARAH; m. a Mason.
3303. MARY; m. a Sawyer ("Richard Sanger," according to Savage).

3304. NATHANIEL[2] [3299] (Robert[1]), was designated as "Captain Nathaniel R.," probably for service in Philip's war "at Chelmsford, Feb. 25, 1676"; was also a "shoemaker" and "freeman, 1665"; was m., 1st, by Gov. John Endicott, to Sarah, daughter of John Dwile, or "Dwite" (Savage says "Dwight"), of Dedham, Nov. 30, 1657. She d. July 8, 1663. He m., 2d, Priscilla, daughter of Peter Brackett, "a well-to-do tradesman in Boston," previously to Feb. 21, 1666. He moved to Bristol, R. I., in 1680; was recognized in the first town-meeting at Bristol, "and became one of the principal men of that town," where he d. July 10, 1708. Children: —

3305. SARAH, b. July 26, 1659; m. John Fosdick, — thus named in her father's will.
3306. MARY, b. Nov. 20, 1660; d. Jan 28, 1663, aged 2 years 2 months.
3307. NATHANIEL [3316], b. Mar. 3, 1662–3.
3308. JOHN, b. Aug. 4, 1668 (second wife); d. Jan. 30, 1757, in his 89th year. His will, dated "Mar. 10, 1749," leaves his property to brothers, nephews, and cousins.

3309. Peter [3319], b. Jan 26, 1670.
3310. Philip, b. Sept. 15, 1672; d. previously to 1706.
3311. Joseph, b. Jan. 9, 1677; d. Jan. 16, 1759, aged 82 years 7 days.
3312. Hannah, b Jan. 15, 1682; m. Samuel Rayall.
3313. Mary, b. 1684 (?); m. Nathaniel Woodbury, — thus named in her father's will.
3314. Benjamin [3321], b. May 10, 1686, in Bristol; "sixth son and ninth or tenth child."
3315. Ruth, b. Dec. 9, 1688; m. Josiah Cary.

3316. Nathaniel[3] [3307] (Nathaniel[2], Robert[1]). For a long time we had supposed this Nathaniel to have been the father of the two sons who settled in North Bridgewater; but his birth now being established between twenty and thirty years earlier than our first reckoning, we are constrained to call him their grandfather. If so, he doubtless lived in Bristol, and there d. "Oct. 29, 1719," aged 56. His wife's name is said to have been Ruth, and he is thought to have had seven children, of whom we have the names of only two. "The oldest was," probably, —

3317. Nathaniel [3330], "b. Sept. 11, 1689," thus confirming the statement of one of his descendants that he was b. "about 1690, in Bristol."
3318. John [3333], b. Mar. 29, 1696.

3319. Peter[3] [3309] (Nathaniel[2], Robert[1]), was styled "Capt. Peter Reynolds, of Bristol," d. before May 26, 1732, and may have been the father of —

3320. Peter, b. 1700, in Bristol; called Rev. Peter Raynolds in Sprague's Annals; graduated at Harvard College, 1720; settled as pastor of the church in Enfield, Ct., 1724; m. Elizabeth Taylor, the granddaughter of Rev. Edward Taylor, of Westfield, Mass., 1727, and d. 1768, aged 68.

3321. Benjamin[3] [3314] (Nathaniel[2], Robert[1]), m. Susanna, eldest daughter of the Rev. Grindall Rawson, of Mendon, Mass., 1709. He resided in Bristol, R. I., and d. Aug. 4, 1770, aged 84. Children: —

3322. Priscilla, b. Apr. 13, 1711; m. Edward Ransom.
3323. Ann, } b. July 12, 1715; { d. unmarried.
3324. Mary, } { d., probably, very young.
3325. Mary, b. Nov. 20, 1716.
3326. John [3338], b. Apr. 1, 1718.
3327. Benjamin, b. Nov. 15, 1722; "moved to Ciquecto, N. S., but came back and served in the Revolutionary war."
3328. Grindall [3347] (given also, erroneously, as Wendal), b. July 11, 1726; settled in Putney, Vt.
3329. Sarah; m. Seth Chapin.

3330. Nathaniel[4] [3317] (Nathaniel[3], Nathaniel[2], Robert[1]), m. a Snell, 1712; came from Bristol to Boston, 1735; there owned a store, and d. 1740, aged 51, after which his widow settled in North Bridgewater, Mass., with her two sons: —

3331. Nathaniel [3354], b. 1716–17; though Kingman's Hist. of North Bridgewater gives to Nathaniel the date following.
3332. Thomas [3365], b. Mar. 19, 1718.

3333. JOHN[4] [3318] (Nathaniel[3], Nathaniel[2], Robert[1]), m. Anna Blanch, Oct. 10, 1717, and settled in Marblehead. Two oldest children only are made sure by our informant; but by the Essex Deeds we know positively that he had a son John, as "John Raynolds and Anne, his wife," of Marblehead, conveyed property to "their son John" in 1754. He had d. before "Nov. 6, 1769," when the "Inventory of John Reynolds, late of Marblehead," was presented. Children: —

3334. RUTH, b. Oct. 16, 1719.
3335. ANNA, b. May 17, 1721.
3336. JOHN (see above). He or his son may have been the "John Rennel, of Marblehead," in list of men taken in the "Grand Turk's Prize," and committed to "Old Mill Prison," England, during the war of the Revolution, 1781–2 (N. E. Hist. and Gen. Reg.).
3337. NATHANIEL [3374], b. in Beverly, is also supposed to have been the son of John [3333], or of John [3336]. as a grandson of the said Nathaniel, Jotham G. [3463], of Lubec, Me., says his great-grandfather's name was John, and that he "migrated to Beverly, Mass."

3338. JOHN[4] [3326] (Benjamin[3], Nathaniel[2], Robert[1]), m., 1st, Susanna Giles, Jan. 11, 1743. She d. and he m., 2d, Dorothy Weld, of Roxbury, May 3, 1753. He may have been the "Capt. J. (S.) Reynolds, of Bristol," somewhere noticed; but is known to have moved first to Providence, "and again, Feb. 12, 1765, to Boston." He d. 1801, aged 83. Children: —

3339. PRISCILLA, b. June 3, 1745 (first wife); d. about 1763 or 1765, aged 19 (?).
3340. SAMUEL, b. Apr. 3, 1754 (second wife); served in the Revolutionary war; was wounded for life by a bayonet "at the time of Lee's capture," and afterwards d. "in early manhood."
3341. GRINDALL [3384], b. Oct. 12, 1755.
3342. BENJAMIN, b. Nov. 17, 1757; moved to Norfolk, Va.; d. Dec. 5, 1842, aged 85, and there left numerous descendants.
3343. JOHN, b. Feb. 3, 1759; resided in Strafford, Vt., and d. Jan. 11, 1848, in his 89th year.
3344. EDWARD [3388], b. Mar. 28, 1761.
3345. WILLIAM, b. June 3, 1763; d. without children.
3346. THOMAS; d. young.

3347. GRINDALL[4] [3328] (Benjamin[3], Nathaniel[2], Robert[1]), moved from Bristol to Putney, Vt, about 1755 or 1760, where some of his descendants were still supposed to be, in 1869. Children: —

3348. BENJAMIN ("oldest"), b. about 1760; was deacon of the church in Putney, and there d. about 1848, aged 88.
3349. NATHANIEL; "raised a family, in or near Putney"
3350. SAMUEL; after the close of the Revolutionary war, migrated to Canada; lived and d. at Sutton, C. E., and left many descendants.
3351. SALLY; m. a Gilson; settled, lived and d. in Barnet, Vt., her children still occupying the homestead.
3352. GRINDALL [3395], b. about 1767 ("fourth son").
3353. CONSTANT [3406]; "other daughters probably younger."

3354. NATHANIEL[5] [3331] (Nathaniel[4], Nathaniel[3], Nathaniel[2], Robert[1]), is said in the History of North Bridgewater to have settled near his brother Thomas "at the West Shares, North Parish." Was known as "Nathaniel Reynolds, Esq." He m., 1st, Hannah, daughter of Samuel Hartwell, 1739, who d. Aug. 12, 1742; m., 2d, Mary Tolman, of Stoughton, Mass., June 14, 1744. He afterwards moved to Vassalboro', Me., with his five youngest children: —

3355. Philip [3410], b. Sept. 19, 1740.
3356. Jonas [3415], b. Jan. 28, 1742.
3357. Timothy, b. Oct. 29, 1746 (second wife); m. Rebecca ——. Has descendants in Sidney, Me.
3358. Hannah, b. Mar. 4, 1750; m. William Packard, June 8, 1769.
3359. Mary, b. Mar. 23, 1754; m. Dea. Ebenezer Packard, Mar. 31, 1774.
3360. Nathaniel [3423], b. Apr. 26, 1757.
3361. David [3437], b. Mar. 9, 1759.
3362. Silence, b. Oct. 30, 1760
3363. Jonathan [3443], b. May 17, 1764.
3364. Cynthia, b. Oct. 9, 1769. Her descendants are now found in Vassalboro', Me.

3365. Thomas[5] [3332] (Nathaniel[4], Nathaniel[3], Nathaniel[2], Robert[1]), m. Elizabeth Turner, Nov. 3, 1748, and probably raised up his family in North Bridgewater, — from the history of which town his family record is taken, — though there are now said to be descendants of his in Winslow, Me. He d. 1795, aged 77. Children: —

3366. Amy, b. Oct. 29, 1749; d. May 9, 1752, in her 3d year.
3367. Joseph [3447], b. June 22, 1751; m. Jemima Perkins, Sept. 17, 1772.
3368. Amy, b. Feb. 25, 1753; m. Silas Dunbar, July 2, 1772.
3369. Elizabeth, b. June 22, 1755.
3370. Susanna, b. Apr. 24, 1757; m. Oliver Howard, 1780.
3371. Martha (Patty), b. Mar. 23, 1759; m. Parmenas Packard, Apr. 9, 1798.
3372. Thomas, b. Jan. 27, 1762; m. Tabitha Thayer, 1785.
3373. Josiah, b. July 1, 1766; m. a Phillips, and removed to Vermont.

3374. Nathaniel[5] [3337] (John[4], Nathaniel[3], Nathaniel[2], Robert[1]). Whose son he was is not certainly known. His pedigree is thus given, on the supposition that he may have been a son of John[4] [3333], as before stated. He m. Lydia Raymond, and settled in Marblehead (or Beverly), Mass, as per birth of oldest son; moved to Amherst, N. S., in 1762. He had been a sea captain, but left his home in Nova Scotia, at the commencement of the Revolutionary war, to fight for the freedom of the colonies. He could not return till after peace was declared, when he found his wife dead, his children scattered, and his property confiscated. In the meantime, however (probably about 1780), he once vainly attempted to rescue his family from Amherst by a bold strategy. Single-handed, he captured a small vessel in the night, boarding it from a log canoe, securing the watch, demanding the cabin key of the captain, pistol in hand, and quietly locking him in! The captain supposed he had several men with him. This was in Cumberland Bay. He then attempted to work the vessel towards Amherst, but with slow progress, being really alone, so that the guns of Fort

Cumberland were turned upon him by daylight, and he was obliged to escape by his canoe, in the fog, and paddle his way to Machias, Me. The officers of the fort, suspecting he might be secreted near his home, sought to intimidate his wife to divulge his hiding-place, one of them firing his pistol, killing her lap-dog under her chair, and thus throwing her into a death-like swoon, as her youngest son well remembered.

He was a captain in the Revolutionary army, and had a township of land granted to him, on which Marietta, O., now stands, being sold soon after his death "for thirty pieces of silver." After the war, collecting his children, the oldest son now married, he made, with them, a pioneer settlement, in the then howling wilderness, at Lubec, District of Maine; revisited Marblehead, where he again married; returned to Lubec "to prepare for his bride," and was soon after drowned on his final passage to Marblehead, thus closing his eventful life. (Letter of Mrs. Clara J. Reynolds [3481], Pembroke, Me.) His children were: — 3375. Lydia; m. Elisha Freeman, and settled in the State of New York.

3376. Benjamin [3459], b. 1753, in Marblehead or Beverly.
3377. Mary; m. a Campbell.
3378. Sarah; m. a Pond.
3379. John; went with his brother Nathaniel to New York, soon after the close of the Revolutionary war, and their father's death; settled in or near Cherry Valley, and finally built a cotton factory of his own, in which he was burned to death, July 4, 1827(8).
3380. Nathaniel; settled in New York (see last number).
3381. Parker; lost at sea.

3776. JAMES; all three of the last "settled in some of the Western States."
3777. H. N. (Reynolds), now of St. Armand West, Missisquoi Co., P. Q., is the son of [3773].
3778. J. HENRY, undertaker in Lawrence, Mass. (1869), 155 Elm Street, formerly from Franklin, Vt., is also of this family.

3779. Benjamin, was a brother of James [3772], who also moved from Hancock, Mass., to Canada, in 1807. Children: —

3780. William; settled in Cambridge, Vt.
3781. John.
3782. Benjamin.
3783. Thomas; the three last all settled in St. Armand, P. Q.

3784. Benjamin, of still another family, moved from Pownal, Vt., about 1830, and settled in Durham, C. E. His son is the present —

3785. Benjamin (Rev.), a clergyman, now of St. Armand, P. Q.

The following family may be descended from one of Savage's original Reynolds ancestors in New England; or, possibly, from the Owen Runels family, see [3820].

3786. Lucius (Reynolds) is said to have moved from the vicinity of Manchester, N. H., to that of Plattsburg, N. Y., "in its early settlement, before 1800, bringing his sons with him," as here given: —

3787. Benjamin; d. without children.
3788. Henry [3791].

NOTICES OF CERTAIN REYNOLDS FAMILIES THAT SETTLED ORIGINALLY IN AMERICA, OUTSIDE OF NEW ENGLAND.

We have it on the authority of a descendant, Mrs. Thomas Reynolds, assistant P. M. at Reynoldsville, Jefferson Co., Pa., that — 3804. HENRY (Reynolds) came from Chichester, Eng., and settled at Burlington, N. J., after a twenty-two weeks' voyage in 1676. Mrs. R., above, has a brief record of his posterity, who are very numerous in that vicinity.

Another descendant, M J. Reynolds, a nephew of Mrs. Thomas, resides at Chateaugay Lake, northern New York, from whom we learn that this ancestor was of the Quaker persuasion, and came over with William Penn, having previously been a king's collector for Charles II; also, that the family, or a branch of it, settled in Chester Co., Pa. This would make his arrival six years later than the above, or 1682. In a later generation we have three brothers: —

3805. THOMAS [3808].
3806. ABRAHAM; resided in New York city, and had a family.
3807. SAMUEL; also of New York city; no children.

3808. THOMAS [3805] (—— Henry[1]), is said to have had six sons and daughters, of whom: —

3809. THOMAS, residing in Reynoldsville, Pa. (see above), is the only survivor (1868).
3810. ABRAHAM, b. in Wilmington, Del.; settled at Chateaugay Lake, or vicinity, in New York; is said to have been a very large man, six feet ten inches in height, and weighing 396 pounds. He was probably the father of — 3811. M. J. (Reynolds), mentioned above.

It is presumed that —

3812. JOHN F., a distinguished general in the late civil war, may have been a descendant of Henry [3804], as he was b. 1820, in Lancaster, Pa. He entered the U. S. army in 1846, and first served his country in Mexico and California. Early in the late war he commanded a brigade of the "Pennsylvania Reserves," with which he distinguished himself at the battle of Gaines' Mills, in 1862, though afterwards taken prisoner. Again in most daring and heroic service at the battle of Gainesville (or second Bull Run), in August of that year; a leader of two corps in "the main attack in front," at Fredericksburg, in the following December, and finally falling in defence of the soil of his native State, and almost in sight of his home, near the commencement of the great battle at Gettysburg, July 1, 1863. He had dismounted and gone forward to reconnoitre; and while observing the enemy through a fence, was struck in the neck by a sharp-shooter's bullet, and d. in a few moments. His age was 43.

We are furnished with the following items respecting another Reynolds family, traced from England to Nova Scotia: —

3813. WILLIAM (Reynolds), and his brother, two years younger, by the name of 3814. THOMAS, were b. and bred in Leicestershire, Eng., where they lived with their mother and one younger sister, owning a house and a small piece of land. The latter (Thomas) left England just before the first American war, and, being on the high sea when war was declared, he was "pressed" and put on board an English man-of-war. Was finally landed and discharged at Halifax, N. S.; went thence to Pictou, was m., and at last moved into the wilds of Musquodoboit, where he made him a home, lived, and d. at the age of 96. No tidings from friends or property in the old country were ever obtained. He had eight children, none of whom ever left Nova Scotia. Of these —

3815. WELLWOOD, b. 1783, now resides in Upper Musquodoboit, N. S. (1869), having reared a family of six sons and six daughters, "now alive," — of whom 3816. JAMES, was living in the same place, 1869.

NOTICES OF OTHER RUNNELS FAMILIES IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

We now propose to add a few notes on certain individuals and families of the Renels, Renals, or Runels name in southeastern New Hampshire, not connected with those of Parts II and III. These notes are taken from the earliest town and county records in Rockingham County, and may prove of some service or satisfaction, especially to the descendants of Owen [3820].

The earliest allusion to any of these, or similar names, is found on the Portsmouth town records, where we have —

3817. JOHN ("Renals") on a committee and among the town officers, in notice of a town meeting held "Aug. 15, 1646."

The next allusion is among the Rockingham deeds, to one

3818. JAMES ("Rennell") "of ye same Portsmouth carpenter," who received by deed, "July 21, 1668, from Joseph Mason of Portsmouth in ye river of Piscataquack in N. E., his dwelling house and lands (gardens, orchards, marishes, arable lands, floodings, etc.), for £270 7s. lawful money, lying and being in ye Little Harbor, within Piscataquack aforesaid."

This James may have been a grocer as well as carpenter, as he had conveyed to him, "Nov. 12," of the same year, "six and a half barrels of good molasses"! We have also

3819. SARAH (Rennels), "of Portsmouth, only heir of her father Stephen Craffit, deceased," in deed of "May 28, 1692, third year of William and Mary."

We can only conclude from the above that there were one or more families of this name very early in Portsmouth, from which may have been descended —

3820. OWEN[1] or "OWIN" ("Renalls"), first noticed as a "Planter in Exeter, May 29, 1706," and also "of Quamscott" (the same as Exeter), "July 6, 1715." His children were: —

3821. OWEN, who settled in Stratham; as he is called "Owen Runalls, Jun., of Stretham, May 21, 1720," and "Feb. 16, 1721-2." He appears, also, in twelve other deeds, with varied and sometimes grotesque orthographies ("Runnels, Renels, Runals, Renes," and even, in one or two cases, "Oen Renls"), but always "of Stretham or Stratham," till "May 10, 1749." From other allusions to his brothers, and especially from the "Report of committee appointed for the division of Owen Runnels' estate into four parts," and signed "Stratham, Jan. 28, 1755," by "Jona. Dearborn, Jona. Robinson, and Samuel Lane," we learn that he left no children, and was probably unmarried. The administration of his estate had been previously granted to Thomas Runnels, his brother, in said Stratham, "Sept. 30, 1752," — marking, nearly, the time of his death. The four divisions of his estate, just referred to, indicate the four additional children of Owen, Sen. [3820], as follows: —

3822. ROBERT [3826].

3823. "JOHN (Runnels), deceased, late brother of said Owen"; his "heirs and legal representatives" to receive "one fourth part of his land, 5 + acres, bounded," etc. He must therefore have d. prior to "Jan. 28, 1755," date of report.

3824. MARY; "sister of said Owen," one fourth part of land as above, "also lower room and cellar at westerly end of his house." She is elsewhere called "singel woman and spinner."

3825. THOMAS [3829].

3826. ROBERT[2] [3822] (Owen[1]), resided in Stratham till "Oct. 3, 1728, when he received from Thomas Packer, of Portsmouth, "all right to Lot No. 30 in ye new township commonly known by ye name of Chester or Chestnut country," "on condition of settlement and improvement." Accordingly he is afterwards reported in five other deeds prior to "Nov. 10, 1749," as being "of Chester," selling off parts of his land in C., buying one half a share in the town of Bow of his brother Owen, 1738, and selling the same to Samuel Emerson, of Chester, in 1740. He had d. like his brother John prior to "Jan. 28, 1755," as he is alluded to in the same terms in committee's report, and "his heirs and legal representatives" receive one fourth part of his brother Owen's estate in Stratham. His children were: —

3827. "JUDETH," alluded to in her aunt Mary's will, "Jan. 15, 1755," as "my kindswoman daughter to my brother Robert deceased," and made sole legatee. Probably, also, —

3828. ROBERT, as a "Robert Runnels and Susanna his wife" were living "in Chester, Feb. 16, 1795," and then deeded a parcel of land in C. to T. Webster.

3829. THOMAS[2] [3825] (Owen[1]), was probably occupying a part of his brother Owen's house in Stratham at the time of the latter's death, as by report of committee for division he receives, besides the remaining fourth part of the said Owen's land, the "East lower room and cellar and garret in said house to be his part of the buildings."

Thomas "Reanols" bought twenty acres of land in Chester from Samuel Rymes, of Portsmouth, in 1729, but sold it to his brother Robert, in 1741, for £45. He finally sold out in Stratham, "Feb. 13, 1761," as we have, under that date, Thomas Runnels, of S., and Elizabeth, his wife, conveying a lot of land to Satchell Clark, of S., "lying and being within the estate which was my brother Owen Runnels's, late of Stratham, yeoman, deceased; also some which fell to Mary, sister of deceased, to heirs of John, his brother, and also that which fell to Judith, daughter of Robert, brother of said deceased, twenty-one and one fourth acres in all"; thus confirming our previous records.

He moved to the "Parish of Deerfield, N. H.," and there under date "Jan. 27, 1766"; name "Thomas Runils," and condition "being very sick in body," he wills to Elizabeth, his dearly beloved wife, all his real and personal estate, and makes her his executrix. He d. between that time and "Feb. 17, 1769," when Elizabeth Runels, widow, of Deerfield, sold out to P. Simpson, thirty-five acres for £25. Their children were named in will with legacies as follow, each styled "my son": —

3830. Owen, "Five shillings."
3831. Thomas, "A yoke of white-faced steers."
3832. Samuel, "Five shillings."
3833. John, "Five shillings."

One of the four last mentioned children, — probably Samuel, — was the father of —

3834. Owen, b. Oct. 29, 1790; lived in Candia, perhaps, also in Raymond; d. Mar. 25, 1835, in his 45th year. He m. Susan L. Roberts, of Raymond, Nov. 7, 1811, who was b. Mar. 13, 1794, and d. Feb. 15, 1854, in her 60th year. Children: —

3835. Thomas F. [3846], b. Feb. 24, 1813, in Raymond.
3836. Charles W. [3851], b. Mar. 4, 1815.
3837. Henrietta P., b. Feb. 22, 1817; d. Apr. 9, 1835, aged 18.
3838. Owen, b. Mar. 15, 1819, in Candia; m. Betsy Keniston, of Barnstead; was a blacksmith in Pittsfield for many years, and was sent to the New Hampshire legislature for two years, probably from that town. He d. at P., Apr. 2, 1872, aged 53 years 18 days. His "Obituary" appeared in the "Morning Star."
3839. Susan C., b. June 15, 1821; m. David Lovejoy; d. Nov. 1, 1860, aged 39.
3840. Samuel R. [3856], b. Jan. 12, 1824.
3841. John [3859], b. June 2, 1828.
3842. Robert Crawford, b. May 29, 1830; d. Sept. 30, 1857, aged 27.
3843. Olive M. [3861], b. Jan. 9, 1826.
3844. Cyrus S., b. Apr. 10, 1833; was married; d. Oct. 18, 1861, aged 25 years 6 months.
3845. Henrietta M. [3866], b. June 10, 1835.

3846. Thomas F.[5] [3835] (Owen[4], Samuel (?)[3], Thomas[2], Owen[1]), was a Free Will Baptist clergyman; ordained about 1849, and pastor of the second Free Will Baptist church in Candia for fourteen years. He m., 1st, Hannah Currier, of Raymond, Feb. 21, 18[illegible]9, who d. one year later; m., 2d, Mary Currier, sister of first wife, Sept. 16, 1841. She was the mother of his children, and d. at Chester, of pneumonia, Apr. 8, 1860. He m., 3d, Nancy L. Dennett, of Pittsfield, Nov. 1, 1860, who survives him, and now lives in Deerfield. His will is found in the Rockingham Probate records, dated "Chester, Aug. 23, 1864"; "to each of my three sons," as below, "one dollar each"; "to my wife Nancy L. Reynolds all the rest of my estate, provided she adopt and educate as her own, my daughter, Mary Jane R., till eighteen years of age, but no longer." He d. Aug. 27, 1864, aged 51 years 6 months. Children: —

3847. Thomas O. [3869], b. Dec. 24, 1842.
3848. William O., b. Sept. 15, 1844.
3849. George F., b. Oct. 8, 1846.
3850. Mary Jane, b. Sept. 13, 1849.

3851. Charles W.[5] [3836] (Owen[4], Samuel[3], Thomas[2], Owen[1]), was twice married, — second wife, Nancy Clifford, — and d. July 18, 1850, aged 35. Children: —

3852. Henrietta P.; m. Benjamin Page.
3853. Laura A.; m. John K. Simpson.
3854. Charles W.
3855. Susan (second wife); was married, but husband's name unknown.

3856. Samuel R.[5] [3840] (Owen[4], Samuel[3], Thomas[2], Owen[1]), m. Sarah Dearborn; d. July 3, 1858, aged 34 years 6 months. Children: —

3857. George.
3858. Sarah Alice; m. D. Bean.

3859. John[5] [3841] (Owen[4], Samuel[3], Thomas[2], Owen[1]), m. Cynthia Buzzell, of Barnstead, and d. Feb. 8, 1855, in his 27th year. One child: —

3860. Mary H.

3861. Olive M.[5] [3843] (Owen[4], Samuel[3], Thomas[2], Owen[1]), has been twice married; once to Ed(ward) Rowell; the only one of her father's children still living (1873). Her children were: — 3862. Norris (Rowell (?)).

3863. Charles.
3864. Susan.
3865. Willie.

3866. Henrietta M.[5] [3845] (Owen[4], Samuel[3], Thomas[2], Owen[1]), m. Benjamin Sanborn, of Candia; d. Oct. 31, 1865, aged 30. Children: —

3867. Nellie M. (Sanborn).
3868. Martha.

3869. Thomas O.[6] [3847] (Thomas F.[5], Owen[4], Samuel[3], Thomas[2], Owen[1]), graduated at the Danville, Ky., Seminary, and in medicine at the Albany Medical College, Dec. 24, 1866. He first practised as a physician in Port Huron, Mich., but returned East, and commenced his professional labors at Kingston, N. H., Feb. 20, 1870, where he already enjoys an extensive and lucrative practice. He m. M. Fanny Smith, formerly of Raymond, preceptress of the Mystic Valley English and Classical Institute, at Mystic Bridge (Stonington), Conn., July 13, 1870. Child: —

3870. Mabel, b. May 5, 1871.

Still another Runnels family, which can neither be connected with any of the preceding, nor traced to any descendants of their own, appears in Barrington, N. H., as follows: —

3871. William, said to be "of Barrington, Jan. 4, 1766," and had previously m. Eleanor Cavenoe, as the last date is that of the deed by which "Arthur Cavenoe, of Durham," conveyed to him sixty acres of land in B., Lot 256, "for and in consideration of ye love and affection that I (Cavenoe) have and do bar towards my daughter Eleanor Runnells, wife of William R."

There is similar evidence from two or three other deeds, — in one called William Ronalls, — that he was still living in Barrington, "Apr. 1, 1772," and "Mar. 18" and "Apr. 14, 1775," in the last of which he conveyed "certain tracts of land to John Cavernoe." His children, as proved below, were: —

3872. Michael and

3873. Richard, to whom, jointly, John Caverno deeded "certain tracts of land in Barrington," "Sept. 14, 1781"; and Richard Runnels, of B., exchanged land with Michael R., of B, "Feb. 26 and 27, 1793," — "one half the land deeded by our father, William Runnels, to John Caverno, and by Caverno to ourselves," for "one half the land on which the said Michael" ("Runnalls") was then living. Michael again appears in deed of "Oct. 12, 1793," between which and "Dec. 12, 1793," he must have d.; as under last date, "administration of the estate of Michael Runnels, of Barrington, tayler, deceased, intestate, is granted to Sarah R., his wife." His brother also d. before "Dec. 14, 1795," as administration of the estate of "Richard Runnels, of Barrington, deceased," is then "granted to Jonathan Dame."

Another isolated personage is found, from the Strafford Records, in —

3874. Peleg ("Pelek") Runnels, of New Durham Gore (Alton), receiving from Daniel McDuffee "five acres of land, more or less, beginning on Merrymeeting river," etc., "July 2, 1796." He may have lived in that vicinity till near "Oct. 5, 1835," and thus have been identical with "Peleg Runnals, late of Alton," whose "Dower" at the last date "was appointed to his widow, Martha Runnals."

OTHER RUNNELS FAMILIES IN MAINE.

Passing over into the State of Maine, we find the following Runnels family, whose origin is unknown. Names of descendants, mostly without dates, as here given, were furnished by George E. Fogg [3922], of Saco. The earliest ancestor was —

3875. CHARLES (Runnels), said to have been b. in Scarboro', Me.; d. and was buried in Saco. His children were: —

3876. JOHN [3882].
3877. CHARLES [3893].
3878. GRACE.
3879. MARY.
3880. SARAH.
3881. HANNAH.

3882. JOHN[2] [3876] (Charles[1]), m. Rhoda Edgecomb, of Scarboro'; served in the Revolutionary war; d. and was buried in Saco. His widow was a pensioner till her death, Mar. 1864, aged 96. She was hence b. 1768. Children: —

3883. SALLY [3898].
3884. GRACE [3907], b. about 1796.
3885. ISAAC [3914].
3886. ELIZA [3919].
3887. MARY; d. of consumption, Dec. 1842.
3888. HANNAH; m. Jonathan Fogg, of Scarboro', where now living, his widow.
3889. CHARLES [3923], b. about 1805.

3892. WILLIAM; m. Deborah Wedgwood; was a tinman by trade; lived and d. in Portland. Had one child, now deceased.

3893. CHARLES[2] [3877] (Charles[1]), m. Abigail Cleaves, of Saco. Children: —

3894. ROBERT.
3895. SUSAN [3930].
3896. CHARLES.
3897. JANE.

3898. SALLY[3] [3883] (John[2], Charles[1]), m. Gibbins Edgcomb, of Saco, and soon after moved to Gardiner, Me., where still residing. Children: —

3899. RACHEL (Edgcomb)
3900. ELIZA.
3901. BURNHAM.
3902. RHODA.
3903. EMMA JANE.
3904. ENOS.
3905. WILLIAM.
3906. SARAH.

3907. GRACE[3] [3884] (John[2], Charles[1]), m. Rufus Coolbroth, of Scarboro'; there lived and d. at an interval of two or three weeks from each other, Feb. 1866, "at or near their 70th year." Children: —

3908. SAMUEL (Coolbroth).
3909. RHODA.
3910. FRANK.
3911. JOHN
3912. EUNICE.
3913. EDWARD.

3914. ISAAC[3] [3885] (John[2], Charles[1]), m. Sally Seavy, of Saco, and lived at the time of his death (Aug. 1866), at Union Falls (Buxton), Me. Children: —

3915. BETSEY.
3916. SALINDA.
3917. SARAH FRANCES.
3918. MAY ANNA.

3919. ELIZA[3] [3886] (John[2], Charles[1]), m. George Fogg, of Saco, "and are now both living." Children: —

3920. JOSEPH ARTHUR (Fogg), b. Mar. 12, 1835.
3921. EPHRAIM H., b. Nov. 26, 1837; d. of consumption, 1843, aged 6.
3922. GEORGE E., b. Mar. 1, 1839.

3923. CHARLES[3] [3889] (John[2], Charles[1]), m., 1st, Ann Dearborn, who d. in Buxton; m., 2d, Lucy Jose, of B., who d. Mar. 1862; m., 3d, Ruth E. Hungerford, of Saco, where he now resides. Children, first wife: —

3924. MARY ELIZABETH.
3925. LOUISA.
3926. WILLIAM; "enlisted, and served his time in the army" of the late war; now resides in Saco.
3927. LAWRISTAN; d. Jan. 21, 1861.
3928. HENRY B.; was also in the service of his country, and was shot mortally in battle.
3929. GEORGE; served the time of his enlistment in the army; "afterwards shipped to go a whaling voyage, and was drowned."

3930. SUSAN[3] [3895] (Charles[2], Charles[1]), m. Samuel Grace, of Saco, and d. Mar. 1870. Children, all deceased, except the youngest: —

3931. AARON (Grace).
3932. SUSAN.
3933. MOSES.
3934. CHARLES.
3935. ORIN.

Yet another unconnected Runnels family is reported from the vicinity of Dennysville, Me. The earliest of this family known, was another —

3936. SAMUEL [3938], said to have been "of Scotch descent"; first settled near Portland, Me., and migrated thence to Dennysville, in the east part of the State. "There was a brother of his by the name of"

3937. "JOHN."

3938. SAMUEL [3936] had the following children: —

3939. THOMAS [3944].
3940. SAMUEL.
3941. ROBERT.
3942. JOHN.
3943. SARAH.

3944. THOMAS[2] [3939] (Samuel[1]), was the father of 3945. SARAH (?), the "eldest daughter"; m. Capt. Rufus Ames, of Orland, Me.

3946. SAMUEL; was residing at Prospect, Me., till 1870, then went to Omaha, Neb.
3947. SUSAN F.; m. George E. Ordway, of the "Essex House," Lawrence, Mass., 1870; afterwards moved to Omaha.

A GENEALOGY OF THE FAMILY OF VALENTINE RUNNALLS, OR RUNNELS, IN MASSACHUSETTS.

This family is proved to be of independent origin, and entirely distinct from any other Runnels or Reynolds family in this country. Its earliest known ancestor was —

3948. VALENTINE[1] (Runnalls), b. as stated below; "cast away on his passage to America" (?); soon after settled in Marblehead, and m. Hannah Townshend. An old prayer-book, with version of the Psalms by Tate and Brady, Edinburg, 1772, — now in possession of his family, — tells its own story and his, in his handwriting, upon one of its fly-leaves, as follows: "This book I picked up in the wrack of the Argo, when I ware cast away, in the year of our Lord 178[illegible], Nov. 22d day." On the same leaf, "Valentine Runnall, his book, born Sept. 22, in the year of our Loard 1748, in Great Britain, in the county of Coarnwel (Cornwall), with in 19 miles of the Lands End, in the parrish of Golvail."

His immediate English origin is thus established, and we must concede this as a seeming exception to the general conclusion, arrived at in the Introduction, that Runnels or Runnals is invariably Scotch, though even in this case an earlier ancestor may have emigrated from Scotland into England.

If, as by one well authorized account, his daughter Hannah was the oldest child, he was perhaps m. and this child was b. in England, and both wife and child suffered shipwreck, and were saved with him on their passage hither. We give the following, therefore, as the only authenticated order of his children, the birth date of the second only being known; though it seems a little singular that the pronoun "we" should not have been used instead of "I" on the leaf of the prayer-book, if his wife and child were cast away with him. On the supposition that he was alone when cast away, he must have married at Marblehead soon after reaching that place from "the wrack of the Argo," and his son Valentine must have been his oldest child; or, he may previously have established his family at M., and was taking a subsequent cruise upon the "Argo," not being at that time on his passage to this country. Children: —

3949. HANNAH; m. William Jaffrey, of Salem, and lived in or near Worcester.
3950. VALENTINE [3952], b. Oct. 8, 1783.
3951. WILLIAM; d. young.

3952. VALENTINE[2] [3950] (Valentine[1]), was a painter in Salem; m. Nancy Perkins, of Wenham, and d. July, 1842, in his 59th year. She was b. 1786, and was found by the author on the eve before St. Valentine's day, 1873, residing at Beverly, at the age of 87, in the enjoyment of most remarkable health and vigor, both of body and mind. She naively remarked that she 'never had but one Valentine in her life, and that she kept till the death of her good husband.' Children: —

3953. GEORGE WASHINGTON [3960], b. Nov. 12, 1805, in Salem.
3954. JOHN PERKINS [3962], b. Sept. 22, 1807, in Salem.
3955. CATHARINE ALLEY, b. Nov. 29, 1809, in S.; d. at Boston, Feb. 15, 1825, in her 16th year.
3956. NANCY [3970], b. Oct. 22, 1812, in S.
3957. LYDIA [3973], b. Sept. 26, 1815, in Wenham, the family having moved thither on account of the war.
3958. THOMAS [3978], b. Apr. 7, 1818, in W.
3959. EDWARD PERKINS, b. Sept. 29, 1820, in W.; d. at Beverly, Aug. 24, 1840, in his 20th year.

3960. GEORGE WASHINGTON[3] [3953] (Valentine[2], Valentine[1]), m. Elizabeth Herrick, of Beverly; went to California in 1849, and there still resides. She d. Mar. 1850, leaving: —

3961. GEORGE, b. 1834, who joined his father in California, after his mother's death, and there continues.

3962. JOHN PERKINS[3] [3954] (Valentine[2], Valentine[1]), was a mason in Salem, residing at 13 Northey Street, where his son now lives. He m. Sarah Rebecca Roberts, Jan. 10, 1833, and d suddenly, by a casualty on the railroad track, near his home, May 4, 1865, in his 58th year. She was b. Oct. 3, 1808, and d. Aug. 28 (25), 1866, in her 58th year. Children, b in Salem: —

3963. SARAH ELIZABETH [3982], b. Nov. 2, 1833.
3964. JOHN PERKINS, b. June 25, 1836; d. Oct. 27, 1837, aged 1 yr. 4 ms.
3965. JOHN PERKINS [3984], b. June 4, 1840.
3966. MARY SAUNDERSON, b. Nov. 11, 1843; d. May 28, 1861, in her 18th yr.

3967. Edward Perkins, b. July 8, d. Oct. 17, 1846.
3968. Lucy Ellen, b. Oct. 14, 1849.
3969. Charlotte Alice, b. Apr. 24, 1853.

3970. Nancy[3] [3956] (Valentine[2], Valentine[1]), m. Joseph Porter, of Beverly, and there d. Apr. 8, 1836, in her 24th year, leaving: — 3971. Catharine (Porter); m. Adoniram Judson Hood; two children, both deceased.

3972. Joseph Valentine; is a painter in Beverly; m. Helen Wallace; three children.

3973. Lydia[3] [3957] (Valentine[2], Valentine[1]), m. John Lowe, a native of Essex, Apr. 19, 1835; now residing (1873) in Beverly. Children: —

3974. Abby (Lowe), b. Mar. 8, 1836; m. Benjamin Carrico; four children, three living.
3975. Nancy (Lowe), b. Apr. 27, 1837; m. George Wilson, of Danvers; four children.
3976. John (Lowe), b. Jan. 12, 1839.
3977. Rebecca, b. Nov. 15, 1840; d. of dropsy on the brain, 1853, aged 13.

3978. Thomas[3] [3958] (Valentine[2], Valentine[1]), was first a mariner, afterwards a shoemaker, in Beverly, and there d. of lung fever, Feb. 11, 1857, in his 39th year. He m. Abigail Mears, of Essex, 1847. Children: —

3979. Edward Warren, b. July 15, 1848.
3980. Mary Lizzie, b. May 19, 1851.
3981. Abby Butler, b. Aug. 18, 1853.

Thanks to Miss Abby for so kindly and promptly procuring the old prayer-book and large family Bible on the 13th of February, 1873!

3982. Sarah Elizabeth[4] [3963] (John P.[3], Valentine[2], Valentine[1]), m. Dennison P. Moore, Feb. 1, 1863, at Salem. He was a mariner; now a watchman, residing in Peabody, Mass. Child: —

3983. Mary Emma (Moore), b. July 25, d. Aug. 23, 1871.

3984. John Perkins[4] [3965] (John P.[3], Valentine[2], Valentine[1]), was a brave and able officer in the late civil war, first entering as a corporal in Co. I (Salem Light Infantry), Massachusetts 8th regiment. for three months, "May 18, 1861" (enlisted "Apr. 17, 1861"). Mustered out "Aug. 1, 1861." Was commissioned as a lieutenant in the 19th Massachusetts volunteers, "Aug. 28, 1861"; promoted to captain in the same regiment; shared in all its previous battles; was twice wounded at the battle of Antietam, "Sept. 17, 1862," and resigned on account of his wounds, "Nov. 13, 1863." He was afterwards on duty in the veteran reserved corps at Kalamazoo, Mich., and in command of the post at New Albany, Ind, from Aug. 1864 to Sept. 1865; was finally mustered out of the service, "June 30, 1866," and is now, as a militia captain, in command of the same company in Salem, with which he first enlisted. Since the war, Capt. Reynolds has been engaged in the very commendable occupation of "designer and emblazoner of military and naval coats of arms, for perpetuating the record of soldiers and sailors" in our country's service. He received a patent in this enterprise, "July 14, 1868," and his facilities for its prosecution are unrivalled. Judging from the rich beauty and appropriateness of his own coat of-arms, we feel inclined to commend the work and the patronage of Capt. R. to the living soldiers in our "Roll of Honor." Residence and head-quarters, 13 Northey Street, Salem, Mass. He m. Mary Ellen Henville, Nov. 5, 1863, who was b. in New York city, Nov. 5, 1843. Children: —

3985. Augustus Govea, b. July 30, 1865, in New Albany, Ind.
3986. Sarah May, b. June 29, 1867, in Salem; d. July 17, 1869, aged 2 years 18 days.
3987. John Perkins, b. Sept. 28, 1871.

NAMES OF INDIVIDUALS AND OF SMALL FAMILY GROUPS NOT AS YET CERTAINLY CONNECTED WITH ANY OF THE PRECEDING.

"Mere mention," in conclusion, may be made of other names, as follows: —

3988. Capt. Reinolds, of the "Speedwell" (Pilgrim fathers), 1620; may be the same as "Mr. Runolds, maker of the Speedwell" (see Vol. 1, N. E. Gen. Register).
3989. "Chr." (Christopher) (Reinolds), age 24, passenger for Virginia in the "Speedwell," May 28, 1635 (Vol. 2, N. E. Gen. Register).
3990. Benjamin (Reynolds); m. Elizabeth Bradford.
3991. "Nico." (Nicholas) Reinolds and
3992. "Th." (Thomas) Reynolds, "passengers for Virginia."
3993. Electiacus (Renolds), "son of the same, b. Feb. 2, 1706-7, at Middleboro'." (All four of the last from Vol. 4, N. E. Gen. Reg.)

3994. Harmon (Runnels), alluded to near the close of Introduction to Part I (see p. 4), is only known to have been a colonel in the Revolutionary war, but is supposed to have been descended, as there stated, from an older brother of Samuel [1] who "settled in the South." His son —

3995. Hiram G. was governor of the State of Mississippi, afterwards removed to Houston, Texas, and there d. Dec. 15, 1857. His widow signs her name "O. A. Runnels," in letter of Nov. 16, 1868, and states that he left an only son, who also has an only son; but their names, and further information respecting the family, we have sought in vain to obtain, seemingly through an unwillingness, on their part, to acknowledge a connection with aught pertaining to the North!

Another son of Col. Harmon may have been —

3996. HARDIN W.

Who may, in turn, have been the father of —

3997. HIRAM RICHARD; known to have been the nephew of Ex-Gov. Hiram G., to have resided in the north part of Texas, and to have been himself the governor of that State, about the years 1855–7.

3998. DEBORAH (Runnels) is alluded to in Sprague's Annals, Vol. II, p. 373, as m. to Abijah Wines, Sen., of L. I., and as being the mother of —

3999. ABIJAH (Wines), Rev., b. May 27, 1766, at Southold, L. I.; afterwards a resident and pastor of the Congregational church at Newport, N. H., 1796–1816; d. Feb. 11, 1833, at Charlestown, Mass., in his 67th year.

4000. JAMES (Runnels), "late of Newburyport, mariner, deceased, intestate; administration granted Feb. 4, 1806" (Essex Probate Records).

4001. WILLIAM HOOPER (Reynolds), administration granted "Apr. 20, 1809," said to be "of Marblehead"; hence probably descended from [3336]; as also 4002. MARY (Reynolds), "of Marblehead"; administration granted 1812.

4003. GIDEON (Reynolds) is an old man in Hartford, Ct., 1870; "family in Westchester Co., N. Y.; originally from Ireland to Connecticut, two or three generations back."

4004. WILLIAM (Runnels) [perhaps the same as 3750] was the father of —

4005. SAMUEL and
4006. WILLIAM, brothers in Westford, Vt., 1870.

4007. JOSHUA (Runnels), now of Hillsborough, N. H., is said to be descended from a family in Newburyport, Mass., of which, however, no traces can be obtained in the records of Newburyport or Newbury.

4008. WILLIAM (Reynolds), of Peoria, Ill., is well known through all the West, and especially in Illinois, as a most earnest and successful Christian and Sabbath-school worker.

4009. Daniel (Reynolds), b. about 1756; moved from Vermont to the town of Burnham, Me., and there d. 1831, aged 75. His son: —

4010. John, b. 1796; m. Betsy ——, and d. in Burnham, Sept. 1868, aged 72. Respecting his widow and family, we quote the following from the "New England Historical and Genealogical Register," for October, 1870: —

"A few months since a resolve was presented in the legislature of Maine, in favor of granting a pension to Mrs. Betsy Reynolds, widow of John Reynolds, of Burnham, and the following facts were stated in support of the resolve"; viz, that she "sent four sons, two sons-in-law, and one grandson to the war, neither of whom returned to tell their story. They all died defending our flag When the war closed, she was left with thirty-one orphan grandchildren, made so by the war. Her only surviving son, who is lame, volunteered, but was rejected on account of his lameness. Mrs. Reynolds is now depending on her own labor for her livelihood. Seven of her orphan grandchildren were taken into the Bath asylum."

We have made strenuous efforts, while waiting for the printers, to obtain the names of all the patriotic sons of this family, but can get only the following: —

4011. Christopher, "b. Sept. 1823; d. in the army, of consumption."
4012. Gilman H., "b. Oct. 23, 1825; d. in the army, of neuralgia."
4013. Jesse S., "b. Oct. 19, 1839; never enlisted, but was enrolled and stricken from the rolls on account of lameness." The names of the "two sons-in-law" who went to the war, were: —

1. Chandler K. Church; d. of disease in the service.
2. James T. Carr; still living, and a preacher, in the State of Maine.

The "grandson," who enlisted, was shot in battle, name not given.

This list (of Appendix G) might be indefinitely increased by adding soldiers of the Reynolds name, not previously noted in this genealogy, especially from the late adjutant generals' reports of Maine, New Hamsphire, Massachusetts, and other States; as also from the triennial catalogues of several colleges, — ten of the name having graduated at Yale College (prior to 1852), three at Harvard University, and two, besides those already mentioned in this work, at Dartmouth College.

I.

For the future genealogists of the Reynolds families, we re-enter and add the following citations, chiefly from Savage's Genealogical Dictionary, not previously noted: —

4014. James [3283], of Wickford, was doubtless the father of these four sons: —

4015. Francis [3296], of Kingstown.
4016. Henry [3297], of Kingstown; m. Sarah, daughter of James Greene.
4017. James, Jr., of Wickford; m. Mary, daughter of James Greene, Feb. 19, 1685.
4018. Joseph, of Wickford, 1687.

4019. John [3286], of Saybrook and Norwich; d. at N., 1702; had eleven children, of whom, — according to Caulkin's History of Norwich, —

4020. John, b. Aug. 1655, at Saybrook; was killed by the Indians, probably in King Philip's war, Jan. 28, 1676, in his 21st year.
4021. Sarah, b. Nov. 1656; m. John Post.
4022. Susanna, b. Oct. 1658.

4026. Stephen, b. Jan. 1669.
4027. Lydia, b. 1671; m. a Miller.

4028. John [3287], of Weymouth; sold his estate in W., 1664, and probably removed at the same time. His wife's name was Ann. Child: —

4029. Mary, b. Mar. 15, 1660.

4030. John[2] [3289] (John[1]), of Weathersfield; d. 1682; wife's name was Mary. Children: —

4031. Kezia, b. 1667.
4032. Ann (Anna), b. 1669.
4033. Rebina, b 1671.
4034. John, b. 1674.
4035. Jonathan, b. 1677.

4036. JONATHAN[2] [3290] (John[1]), of Stamford; representative in 1667; d. 1673. Children, at that time living, as by will: —

4037. REBECCA, b. 1656.
4038. JONATHAN, b. 1660.
4039. JOHN, b. 1662.
4040. SARAH, b. 1665.
4041. ELIZABETH, b. 1667.
4042. JOSEPH, b. 1669.

4043. ROBERT [3291], of Boston; wife's name Elizabeth. Children: —

4044. ELIZABETH, b. Jan. 2, 1669.
4045. ANN, b. Aug. 11, 1670.

II.

Just as the work of the printers was being completed, the author was favored with material for the following genealogy of Henry and Sarah (Bunker) Tebbetts, with the desire at least suggested, by some branches of the family, that it be herewith inserted. Having invariably complied with such suggestions hitherto, he is very happy to make this, as the latest possible addition to his work, especially as several of the families here traced are found living near his home, and are reckoned among his most valuable acquaintances. He only regrets that their records did not come to hand early enough to be incorporated in their proper place in the main body of the work, under [2179]. He also avails himself of the opportunity thus afforded of explaining more fully, as promised in the Preface (p. ix), how the "female lines," generally, through the book, are entered and carried out.

Re-entering, from p. 183, the name of 4046. SARAH (Bunker) [2179], she thus appears among the consecutive numbers as being of the second generation from (i. e. a child of) the common female ancestor, Sarah Runnels [2175]. She was b. Jan. 7, 1759, not 1756, as before given, and should therefore change places with her brother Joseph [2180]. She m., 2d, Henry Tebbetts, as before stated, the name being found upon the old Barnstead records as "Tibbetts" and "Tibbits." He was three years older than his wife, and d. May 19, 1818, in his 63d year. The additional facts have been gathered that this second husband was also in the Revolutionary service before marriage, that he stood beside her first husband, Bradbury Sinkler (or Sinclair), in his dying moments, and afterwards married her, as the widow of his deceased comrade. Their original location, on settling in Northfield, N. H., was near the present "Shaker road," a little north of the residence of her grandson,

George S. Tebbetts [4046, 1, (4)]. She there d. Dec. 22, 1836, in her 78th year. At least 5 of her descendants, in the Tebbetts name, have taken the degree of M. D. Children, — being of the third generation from the common ancestress [2175]; here entered with the cardinal numbers 1, 2, and 3, falling under each other on the left margins of the pages, and appearing in Index No. 2, with the same numbers following the consecutive number here employed [4046, 1, etc.]: —

1. BRADBURY (Tebbetts), b. Oct. 23, 1779; m. Polly Clough, who was b. Jan. 7, 1785. He was a farmer and storekeeper in Northfield; d. Nov. 22, 1833, aged 54. She d. Dec. 1, 1846, in her 62d year. Children, — entered like all others of the fourth generation from [2175], with cardinals in parentheses, (1), (2), (3), etc., and appearing in the Index with the same numbers directly after those previously given [4046, 1, (1), etc.]: —

(1.) NATHAN CLOUGH, b. Jan. 28, 1802; pursued preparatory studies at Gilmanton Academy, 1818-20; studied medicine with Drs. William Prescott and R. D. Muzzey, graduating at the Dartmouth Medical College, 1825; practised his profession in Gilmanton, and was the representative of that town in 1841 and 1842. He m. Hannah, daughter of Maj. Rufus Parish, Feb. 28, 1826; d. in Louisiana, Feb. 15, 1848, aged 46. Children, — entered like all others of the fifth generation from [2175], with Roman figures I, II, etc., and appearing in the Index with the same figures directly after those previously given [4046, 1, (1), I, etc.]: —I. GEORGE PARISH; resides in California; four children living. II. RUFUS BRADBURY; m. Mary Addie Shannon; present residence, Pittsfield, N. H. III. MARY BADGER; m. a Lake; now resides in California.

(2.) MELINDA, b. Aug. 18, 1803; m. Noah L. Merrill, a native of Deerfield, N. H.; resided in Manchester, and there d. Mar. 1847, in her 44th year, leaving: I. BRADBURY TEBBETTS (Merrill); d. in the U. S. naval service at Cairo, Ill., near the beginning of the war. II. NOAH L.; d. at Hartford, Ct., being a student at the Episcopal Theological Seminary. III. ARTHUR TEBBETTS; m. Arianna Elizabeth Dearborn, of Northfield, Sept. 16, 1862; was a Union soldier during the last year of the late civil war; afterwards engaged in the shoe business at the South, and d. near New Orleans, Mar. 7, 1868. She also had previously d. at Northfield, within thirty hours of the death of her husband. Children, — left doubly orphans, and now being brought up by their grandmother Dearborn; — here entered, like all others of the sixth generation from their great-great-great grandmother of the Runnels name before marriage [2175], with Roman figures in parentheses (I), (II,) etc.; appearing in the Index with same figures directly after those previously given [4046, 1, (1), I, (I), etc.]: — (I.) FANNIE LANE (Merrill), b. July 25 (?), 1863. (II.) WILLIE ARTHUR, b. Mar. 22, 1867. IV. DE WITT CLINTON; only surviving son; resides in Haverhill, Mass.; is m. and has two children.

ROLL OF HONOR.

The names of all persons referred to in the foregoing records, who are known to have been engaged for the American colonies, or the United States government, in their several wars against foreign or intestine foes, are here inserted in alphabetical order, with their respective consecutive numbers. At the same numbers in the main body of the work, more full and definite allusions to their military services may usually be found.

Many others, especially in the female lines, were, doubtless, engaged in a similar service, which has not come to the knowledge of the compiler.

Those marked with an asterisk (*) are known to have lost their lives in their country's defence, or as the speedy effect of their sufferings in the wars for which enlisted.

The whole number in this catalogue is 291. — Belonging to Part I, 100; belonging to Part II, 56; belonging to Part III, 95; belonging to the Appendix, 40.

INDEX I.

EXPLANATION AND SUMMARY.

THIS Index includes all the Christian names, in the foregoing records, with which the surnames Runnels or Reynolds, in some styles of their orthography, are to be supplied.

The figures before the names indicate years of birth, as found in the main body of the work.

Where these years were not known the spaces are usually left blank; though in several cases, mostly in the Appendix, the year of earliest mention is given instead, or the supposed year of birth, when any data were found from which to reckon it, approximately.

The figures after each name denote the consecutive number at which the birth is recorded, or the name first occurs. (See Preface, pp. VII and VIII).

The whole number of names in this Index is 2,081; of which 24, marked thus (†), are the names of females, "marrying into the family," whose maiden surnames were unknown, and who, therefore, could not be specified in Index II.

Deducting these, we have left, as original ancestors, and their descendants, bearing the same or similar patronymics, 2,057; distributed as follows: —

Ancestor and descendants of Part I,					747;	adding those marked with (†),					3;	total,		750
"	"	"	"	" II,	212;	"	"	"	"	"	3;	"		215

INDEX II.

EXPLANATION AND SUMMARIES.

This Index includes the names of all lineal descendants, male and female, of the original ancestors in the foregoing records, who bore other names; also, the names of all persons who became connected by marriage with the heads or any of the branches of the families traced.

The surnames are first alphabetically arranged, and under each the Christian names, also in alphabetical order, followed by the consecutive numbers at or under which each name is found with dates of births or marriages, if ascertained. When the Christian name of the person uniting in marriage is unknown, its place in the Index is supplied by the contractions "Mr.," "Mrs.," or "Miss."

The whole number of names in this Index is 4,835, distributed as follows:—

Descendants in Part I	1,294
" " II	995
" " III	668
" in the App.	116
Whole number of descendants		3,073
Connected by marriage in Part I	685
" " " " II	394
" " " " III	459
" " " in the App.	224
Whole number connected by marriage		1,762
Sum total, as above		4,835

Adding to these numbers those found in Index I, we have a final summary as follows:—

The ancestor and his descendants of every name in Part I . .	2,041
" " " " " " " II . .	1,207
" " " " " " " III . .	1,223
